LEGION :: MAY :: JAIL :: SLACKER.

Bergdoll Continues Sneers at America.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, Philadelphia slacker, continues to be a real kaiser in Eberbach, Germany, to which town he made his way after his sensational flight from the law here. He is under sentence of five years in the penitentiary for dodging the draft, but feels safe in Germany where he is a hero and his money rules. And in the meantime two Americans are prisoners in Germany for attempting to kidnap the noted draft evader, whom the American Legion figures is "the one Boche we want." The sneering remarks he utters to correspondents about the United States can well be imagined as genuine when the face is studied. The same also holds true for Stecher, a typical German, with self-importance showing in every feature.

The commander of the American Legion has been in Washington to discuss with President Harding and with some leaders of Congress legislation which the service men would like to have enacted at the extra session of Congress.

It seems to be the belief of the Legion leaders that at the next session provision will be made for the grouping of all government soldier relief agencies into one bureau and for a continuous hospital program especially for tubercular and neuropsychiatric patients. The Legion also will ask that veterans receiving vocational training be given adequate compensation.

MAY GET BERGDOLL.

It is the belief in Washington that the new administration will make an effort to lay hands on Bergdoll and bring him back to this country where things probably await him upon which he will not be able to look with any degree of comfort, and in the face of which he will not feel inclined to indulge in his usual sneering jocularity. The Legion wants this man and if the government wants him it will get him.

Of course, the proper care of the sick and wounded soldiers is the thing nearest to the hearts of the service men who are neither sick nor wounded. The sole fear now apparently is that government red tape and the delays which have become historic in American administration may prevent quick relief for the sufferers, but all that men can do to

Two Shot Dead; Wire Lines Cut by Irish Rebels.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, March 16.—Telephone and telegraph wires were cut on extensive scale during the last twenty-four hours. Linemen were held up as they left the central offices and their equipment taken.

A tailor of Keenagh, county Longford, was taken from his work today and shot dead. A card with the words, "Shot by the Irish Republican Army for Spying," was attached to the body.

A constable was shot dead in North Kerry, and a woman, into whose house the body was taken, died of shock.

FOUR TO ONE FOR STRIKE.

Packing-house Union Leaders Make Announcement; Other Trades to Join.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—Dennis Lane, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butcher Workmen's Union, and Redmond S. Brennan, general counsel of that organization, were today named as the two labor delegates to attend the arbitration council called Monday in Washington by Secretary of Labor Davis to consider the controversy on wages and working conditions between the packers and their employees.

Brennan and Lane will carry with them authority to call a strike of the membership of the ten international unions which were signatories to the Alschuler arbitration agreement. This authority was granted today at an executive session of the heads of the organizations involved.

Employees in the stockyards today voted at a ratio of about four to one in favor of the strike, it was announced. The same sentiment is reflected in dispatches from other cities.

The conference of the International Trades Union executives was held in the Federation of Labor Building. Thomas A. Richert, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, presided in the absence of President Gompers.

Among the unions represented were:

Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers; International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; machinists' union, plumbers' union, carpenters' and joiners' union, sheet metal workers, coopers' union, blacksmiths and the meat cutters' union.

OTHERS TO JOIN.

The meeting went on record that "we, the representatives of all the packing-house trades, indorse the position taken by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, and pledge our moral and financial support to the said organization in their course of dealing with the five big packers and their allies."

The main contention of the workers in the arbitration council will be that the recent repudiation by the packers of the Alschuler agreement was illegal, it was learned.

A statement issued by the packers tonight dealt with the possibility of a strike, but denied that any preparation were being made to "break" the walkout if it occurred.

CONFEDERATE LEADER DIES.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) March 16.—Col. Roger Preston Chew, 77 years old, commander of Chew's Battery during the Civil War, who had been a prominent figure at many Confederate reunions, died here today.

FLOODS CAUSE DAMAGE.

Bridges Washed Out; Landslide Buries Railway Tracks Under Tons of Earth.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) March 16.—Damage estimated at thousands of dollars was done in Walla Walla and vicinity by high water today and further damage is expected by officials. Streams are higher than at any time in fifteen years, the Weather Bureau reported, following an unusually heavy rainfall in the valley and mountains, which washed off the snow which fell earlier in the week.

Many farmers will have to re-seed land as a result of washouts. Property owners in the southern part of town are unable to get to their homes for the high water, and basements and cellars are flooded.

Some small bridges here have been washed out and others are menaced. At Waitsburg flood conditions were such that school was dismissed and children hurried home in automobiles.

Three and a half inches of water fell at the intake, thirteen miles from here, and creeks broke from their banks, doing thousands of dollars damage to farm and garden lands adjacent.

Most of the water in Mill Creek was diverted into other streams which flow from it and conditions south of the city are worse than here.

A large part of the southeastern part of the city was under water today. Twelve residences on Bryant avenue were surrounded. The city put large crews of men to work to keep the debris from lodging against the bridges.

TRACKS ARE BURIED.

ELGIN (Or.) March 16.—Another bad landslide, the third this year, has tied up the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation Company's line eighteen miles north and east of here. The track today was under tons of earth, rock and trees for a distance of several hundred feet and at a depth of thirty feet or more.

BAR TROOPS FROM IRISH DAY PARADE

BOSTON, March 16.—Secretary of the Navy Denby and Secretary of War Weeks today sustained the action of Army and Navy officers here in refusing to allow members of the regular forces of reserves to march in uniform tomorrow in the Evacuation Day parade. The refusal was based on the fact that societies active in movements to obtain recognition for the Irish republic and freedom for India, were also to be in the column.

Protests from Irish societies and parade officials went out today to President Harding, Secretary Denby and Secretary Weeks concerning refusal of Army and Navy officers here to allow regular troops to participate tomorrow in the parade in the South Boston district to celebrate Evacuation Day, the 145th anniversary of the departure from Boston of British troops and loyalists.

JURY AWARDS WIFE OF DR. MOHN BIG SUM FOR LOSS OF HIS AFFECTION

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—A verdict of $100,000 against Mme. Katherine Tingley, theosophical leader, was given in favor of Mrs. Irene M. Mohn in the Superior Court here tonight. Mrs. Mohn sued for $200,000, charging that the theosophist had alienated the affections of her husband, Dr. George F. Mohn.

The jury had been out a little more than four hours before the verdict was announced. It was reported later that the first formal ballot was taken fifteen minutes after the jury had retired for deliberation and it stood 10 to 2 for the plaintiff.

The case had been on trial for twenty-three days, four of which were devoted to arguments of attorneys, to which the jury did not listen.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohn came here from Los Angeles about fifteen years ago, and went to the Pt. Loma homestead, headquarters of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society, of which Mme. Tingley has been the head for many years. According to testimony given at the trial, Dr. and Mrs. Mohn became separated in February, 1918. Mrs. Mohn removed her belongings from their home at Pt. Loma and came to this city to reside.

The case has attracted wide attention and has been bitterly contested on two occasions, the first trial and ending, Jan. 13, 1919, when a motion by Mme. Tingley's attorneys for a nonsuit was granted. Immediately afterward an amended complaint was filed and a new suit commenced January 21. In this case the wording of the complaint was changed so as to make the cause of action dependent upon the charge that Mme. Tingley alienated the affections of Dr. Mohn from his wife by "means of subtle contrivance."

GERMANS IN DEEP GAME

Vast Credits Are Arranged Here.

"Germany Must Pay from Assets as Well as Profits," Briand States.

Resources Will Show up if Firm Stand of Allies is Maintained to End.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, March 16.—In the Chamber of Deputies today Premier Briand summarized the work of the London conference and the House, except Socialists and Communists, applauded enthusiastically.

The Deputies favored the Premier's vigorous declaration that "Germany must pay, not only from profits, but from her assets," and for his reference to the big German industries that no longer published their balance sheets because their profits were "scandalous."

"Our soldiers are at Duesseldorff, Duisberg and Ruhrort, with cannon trained on Essen to show them something," he exclaimed. His words were almost drowned by applause.

KEPT UNITED FRONT.

M. Briand said the Chamber had asked him to maintain a united front by the Allies, and he had done so. At this point a voice from the Socialist benches cried "Long live the United States."

Referring to Deputy Auriol's proposal of yesterday looking to the formation of an international economic office for reconstruction and economic revival, with financial backing from the United States, the Premier said that the only reply he had to make was that everything possible had been tried toward the solidarity of the Allies, and the efforts were continuing. He gave the British Prime Minister credit for being the first to reject the German proposals.

Regarding the duration of the occupation of the new territories, M. Briand declared the soldiers would remain where they were until the questions of reparations, disarma-

TURNS TRICK ON STATE.

Hamon Prosecutor Gets Hard Jolt.

Defense Declines to Argue Case and Attorney-General's Speech Grows Cold.

Court Instructs Jury; General Sentiment Stands for Acquittal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ARDMORE (Okla.) March 16.—Waiving its right to argument, the defense in the trial of Clara Smith Hamon, charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon, late today asked that the case be sent immediately to the jury. Court adjourned until tomorrow, when a ruling will be made.

R. H. Brown of Ardmore, special prosecutor, had just concluded a plea for the conviction of Clara Hamon when W. P. McLean of Fort Worth, Tex., arose and said:

"The State has opened argument of its case and it has closed it."

The State was unprepared for the move and S. P. Freeling, State Attorney-General, was not present.

The court withheld a ruling until Atty.-Gen. Freeling could reach the courtroom and after he had said that he wished time to examine the law on the question, the court ordered the adjournment until tomorrow.

Tonight Judge T. W. Champion said that heretofore it had been the practice to dispense with arguments when counsel so elected in minor cases.

The attorneys are not under a time limit, but it generally was said by the eight attorneys involved, only four of whom will speak if it is ruled that the argument must go on, that the case would be in the jury's hands by noon tomorrow.

NAMES THREE DEGREES.

In his charge to the jury Judge Champion pointed out the three degrees of murder under the Oklahoma code: Murder, with a sentence of life imprisonment or electrocution; first degree manslaughter, with a sentence of from four years to life imprisonment, and second degree manslaughter with a minimum fine of $1. He also made plain to the jury the matters of self-defense, excusable homicide and dying declarations.

Paving the way for Atty.-Gen. Freeling's closing argument and asking that the defendant be convicted, Mr. Brown spoke one hour and fifty minutes.

Frequently he pointed to Mrs. Jake L. Hamon as she sat weeping and the defendant, and asked that the jurors compare the two.

Mr. Brown asserted Clara Hamon's story of the shooting was "told from the witness stand yesterday in a schooled tragic voice."

His references to her as a woman who had crept into the Hamon home and who had "sold herself body and soul" brought from the defendant no sign of emotion. Her uncle, Ben Harrison of Spokane, Wash., who sat beside her for the first time, scowled at the attorney, and the faces of the other relatives also showed signs of marked disapproval as he referred to the Smith family as having profited by the relations of Clara Hamon with Hamon.

BROWN APOLOGIZES.

In opening his address, Mr. Brown made what was interpreted in some quarters as an apology for his remarks in which he referred to Mrs. J. L. Smith of El Paso, mother of Clara Hamon, as "the old woman."

He paid a tribute to his younger brother, Russell Brown, former County Attorney, who placed the information charging murder against Clara Hamon.

HURRIES TESTIMONY.

The State hurried through with its rebuttal testimony, offering testimony by five witnesses, three of whom previously had testified.

That of Sam Blair, a Chicago reporter, who obtained an interview with the defendant, while she was a fugitive in Chihuahua City, Mex., testified the interview as printed was "in substance" as was given to him. He said he wrote it twenty hours after he obtained it and after he re-

DRAG OUT SINN FEINERS.

Irish Disturbers Are Roughly Handled at Gibbs's Lecture in Chicago.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—Police reinforcements tonight were called to Orchestra Hall to quiet a tumultuous audience gathered to hear Sir Philip Gibbs, English author and war correspondent, who spoke on the Irish question. A dozen hecklers said to be Sinn Fein sympathizers were escorted from the gallery and allowed to go free.

The first heckler and the most violent had to be dragged from his seat by two policemen, one of whom wrenched his neck while the other twisted his arms behind him while he kicked and shrieked profanity at the speaker. This heckler wore an American Army uniform on which were foreign service stripes and two medals.

"You disgrace your uniform, you horrid man," shouted a fashionably gowned woman who had left her box and rushed to the lobby. The man started to answer, but a policeman muzzled his mouth with his hand. He was thrust through the entrance and told to stay away. A man who had interfered in the eviction also was put out. Then, on the advice of a judge who had quit his seat to instruct the policeman to their duty, the call for reinforcements went in.

SIR PHILIP COMPLACENT.

The heckling was from the gallery and the second balcony. Sir Philip took the disturbance complacently with his hands caressing the lapels of his dress coat, but became annoyed when occupants of the first floor and box seats, becoming indignant, shout "Drag 'em out," "Kick 'em out." Again derision came from the upper region.

"Please," finally said Sir Philip to his friendly auditors, most of whom could not hear him, "don't say anything. Don't shout at them. You're making it worse. They'll tire pretty soon. Let them go it, I beg of you."

The manager then ascended the stage and, placing his hand apologetically about the shoulders of Sir Philip, raised his voice to say, "I am the manager." That was as far as he got. Pretty soon he started smiling; so did the speaker. Then came a lull.

"These people," the manager shouted, "have come here to hear a lecture, have paid money to hear it. Why can't you be fair?" The last of this died away in the din of hurrahs roused by a shout: "Hurrah for De Valera."

"I AM YOUR FRIEND."

Sir Philip then seized the next lull, saying: "Don't you men up there know I'm your friend? I'm here to tell Ireland's side, too." More hisses and boos descended.

The reinforcements arrived, sprinkled about the gallery and second balcony. One fist fight resulted from the weeding out process between two men, one of whom was being evicted.

"We're sure giving this audience its money's worth," said the last man evicted. A roar of laughter followed this and the audience then settled down.

"Such a burst of enthusiasm!" exclaimed Sir Philip, preparing to resume his subject. "Really I am convinced there is much interest in my subject."

Australia Is Interested in Coming Cruise.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SYDNEY (Australia) March 16.—Great interest is evidenced here over the announcement that an American Pacific Fleet squadron will cruise to Australian, New Zealand and South Sea Island waters in July, August and September. The squadron will comprise eight battleships, twenty destroyers and nine supply ships and tenders.

It is declared that the officers and men will receive even a more cordial welcome than that given the American fleet in 1908.

SIGN ANGLO-RUSSIAN PACT.

Means Renewal of Trade Relations Between the Two Countries.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 16.—The trade agreement under which commercial relations will be resumed by Great Britain and Russia was signed here this morning by representatives of the governments of the two countries.

The agreement is essentially the same as the draft taken to Moscow by Leonid Krassin, soviet Minister of Trade and Commerce, in January, the most important terms of which follow:

PROPAGANDA BARRED.

Each party agrees to refrain from hostile action or propaganda outside its borders against the other's institutions or giving assistance or encouragement to any propaganda outside its own borders. The soviet government particularly agree to refrain from any encouragement of Asiatic peoples to action against British interests, especially in Asia Minor, Persia, Afghanistan and India.

Each agrees not to impose any form of blockade against the other or any discriminations against trade not imposed on other foreign countries. Ships in each other's harbors shall receive the treatment usually accorded foreign merchant ships by commercial nations.

A renewal of telegraphic and postal facilities, including parcels post, will be arranged.

With regard to Russian gold exported from Russia as payment for imports, the British government does not concede the soviet claim that such gold should be regarded as immune from seizure to pay British claims. The agreement leaves this as a mat-

SCHOONERS DAMAGED BY FIRES.

Suspect Incendiarism; Fishing Boats Property of Company in Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Two fishing schooners were damaged by fire and a third still was burning tonight at Redwood Slough, about twenty miles south of here. On one of the damaged boats, the City of Papeete, strong evidences of incendiarism were found, representatives of the owners said.

All three boats are the property of the Alaska Codfish Company of San Francisco, which recently has had some difficulties with employees. Company officials are averaging the damage of the fires, with this fact in view.

NUMBER OF IDLE MEN INCREASES.

Decrease of 16,295 in Men with Jobs, Report.

Denver Leads Cities in Growth of Unemployment.

Pacific Coast Expects to Start Public Work.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The number of persons employed in the United States continued to decrease during February, the Department of Labor's employment service announced tonight in its monthly survey. The decrease as compared with January was estimated at 1 per cent.

The employment service's figures showed that 1423 firms, located in the sixty-five principal industrial centers, had in their employ February 28, 1,626,958 workers as compared with 1,643,253, January 31. This was a net decrease of 16,295.

Reports to the service showed increases in the number employed in the manufacturing of automobiles and land vehicles, textiles, and leather products, amounting to 18.8, 8.5 and 7.5 per cent, respectively. These increases, however, were offset by decreases of 7.3 per cent in the iron and steel industries, 6.6 per cent in railroad repair shops; 5 per cent in chemical plants, and 5.7 in producers of liquor and beverages.

DENVER HAS MOST IDLE.

Denver, Colo., with a decrease of 24.9 per cent, led the thirty-six cities in which the number of employed was less at the end of February than at the close of the preceding month. Youngstown, O., Indianapolis, San Francisco and Grand Rapids, followed.

The percentage of employed showed the greatest increase in Chattanooga, Tenn., amounting to 67.6 over January. Detroit also was shown to be recovering from the general labor depression, the percentage of increased employed there amounting to 34.7 per cent over the end of January.

The reports from New York City, Boston and St. Louis showed an increase in the percentage of employed while figures for Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Pittsburg, gave a decrease in the number of workers able to maintain a hold on their jobs.

The number of idle workers was reported to have grown in the Pacific Coast States, but organized efforts toward semipublic and public works are expected to bear fruit possibly this month.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED.

New England reports showed improvement generally in business and labor conditions, unemployment and part-time employment being most prevalent in the textile, shoe, machinery, metal and building trade industries.

The Northwest central district, composed of Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas, also has reported an improvement, public works and building activities giving employment to many of those discharged in other activities.

Prospects for a bettering of conditions were reported from the Mountain States, although little change was experienced during February.

In Colorado the trend of employment was slightly downward and the number of jobless was slightly increased in Montana.

Reports from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania varied, in accordance with the wide range of industries in those States.

Labor conditions generally in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin indicated improvement, with prospects of further betterment the reports said.

MINES ARE IDLE.

About one-third of the mines in Southeastern Kentucky and Tennessee were said to be idle, due to the coal business, with about 5000 out of work. Memphis reports estimated the unemployed there at 7000.

Industrial depression was shown to have continued and perhaps grown worse in the South Atlantic States.

The housing shortage was accentuated in reports from Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

INDICTED TONG MEN ARE TO BE DEPORTED?

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Indictments against seven leaders of the Hop Sing and Bing Kong tongs, with the object of preventing future tong wars, have been voted by the grand jury, it was announced here tonight.

It was reported the authorities contemplate the deportation of those indicted, regarding this as the most effective way of suppressing tong outbreaks.

BOSTON MAYOR SLEEPS WITH CITY'S UNEMPLOYED AND DOES BIT ON MUNICIPAL WOOD PILE.

BOSTON, March 16.—It was a weary and a tattered executive of Boston who came to the City Hall today. Mayor Andrew J. Peters, seeking to learn at first hand unemployment conditions and how the city is meeting them, spent the night incognito at Wayfarers' Lodge, where the city shelters the homeless and feeds them in the morning.

In a room with forty unfortunates he lay on a municipal bed and said he slept fairly well. He was routed out at 5 o'clock and sent to the wood pile. After four hours there it was decided he had earned his breakfast and, with the oatmeal, bread and coffee eaten, he went to the City Hall. The figure with frayed coat and faded hat was halted at the door of the Mayor's office, and it was not until his secretary saw him that he was recognized and admitted.

Mussed-up raincoat, muddy boots, old brown suit and faded flannel shirt, with a faded handkerchief as a neckpiece, had effectually disguised the Mayor. He threw his weather-beaten hat on the table, dropped into an arm-chair and remarked that it was the first comfortable minute he had had since 10 o'clock last night.

"Chopping wood is certainly an excellent way to get up an appetite," he added. "It seemed a long time before we could stop work and go in for breakfast. The men I saw at the lodge were strong, able-bodied, able to work and, I assume, willing to work. I saw no signs of drink or dissipation. I am anxious to help get employment for these men. I asked the superintendent of the lodge if he didn't know a good many of the people who came there. He gave me a cold eye and said: 'I don't have to know anyone; I don't want to.'"

HARDING SEES M. JUSSERAND.

by his administration, which was officially revealed last Saturday and presumably was imparted to M. Jusserand by Secretary of State Hughes in their first talk a few days theretofore.

This policy is that the United States purposes to insist upon full recognition of all its rights flowing from participation in the defeat of Germany and does not intend to discuss matters brought forward by any nation which does not satisfy the administration on this score.

In pursuance of this policy, the President and Secretary Hughes would decline to entertain from the Allies proposals of action by the United States until they have caused the modification of the mandates for former territories of the Central Powers to the satisfaction of the American government.

The United States contends that the Mesopotamian and Pacific islands mandates fail to guarantee the open door for American enterprise and that the Allies disregarded President Wilson's reservation in including the island of Yap in the Japanese mandate.

These denials of inalienable American rights derived from American participation in the war can be retracted by the Allies acting, if necessary, through the League of Nations Council, which they control, and when they have done so the Harding administration, if it adheres to its enunciated policy, will be willing to discuss Allied proposals as to other matters, but not before.

As to the Versailles treaty, the Knox resolution declaring peace with Germany and the formation of an association of nations, these are questions on which the President does not expect to reach any definite decision until after conferences with his Cabinet and leaders in Congress.

CROKER IS SUSPECTED AS REBEL.

Home of Former Tammany Boss Outside Dublin is Thoroughly Searched.

LONDON, March 16.—Richard Croker, former boss of New York's Tammany Hall, is the latest to fall under the suspicion of Dublin Castle as being connected with the Irish revolutionary movement. Although Mr. Croker is away, his mansion, Glencairn, located outside Dublin, was raided by a large force of officers in a search for documents.

Dublin Castle, by some process of reasoning, became imbued with the idea that the former Tammany leader was the important link whereby the Irish volunteers obtained funds from America. The search was one of the most carefully conducted in Ireland and lasted for hours. Not a corner, from cellar to garret, escaped the most minute inspection. This also includes the stables where Mr. Croker's famous horses are kept.

The authorities placed so much interest in the search that, instead of trusting it to the usual subordinates, it was conducted by one of the highest commanding officers. No results of the raid, if any, were announced.

GET BERGDOLL, LEGION SLOGAN.

RECALL PRO-GERMAN MEET.

The American Legion has not forgotten the recent meeting at Madison Square Garden, New York City, where pro-Germans were allowed to preach doctrines that were more than semiseditious. Neither has the Legion forgotten the attempt of pro-Germans to break up the meeting in New York City, which was called for the purpose of disciplining a recreant Legion member. If anyone believes that the American Legion is going to let such matters as these drop, another thought should be coming to him quickly.

On Friday night of this week in Madison Square Garden, New York City, there will be held, under Legion auspices, "an all-American meeting for God and country."

It will not be necessary probably at this meeting to have 1500 policemen inside the hall to maintain order. When the lovers of Germany held their meeting they succeeded in securing the services of nearly 2000 policemen ready to club any American Legion man who should dare to say a word of protest against the proceedings, or who should show any too marked an affection for the American flag, or any too marked animosity toward the country across the Rhine, with which we still are at war.

CALL FOR MEETING.

Here is the call for Friday night's meeting, which the American Legion has sent out:

"An all-American meeting for God and country will be held in Madison Square Garden, Friday, March 18.

"For two years an insidious propaganda has been carried on throughout the nation. Forces identified with movements and causes unworthy of America, again appear to break the friendships born of the common struggle—human liberty.

"Propaganda in many forms, some of it of foreign origin, and in foreign interests, is being disseminated, entering the school, the home and the church.

"Appeals for causes which in themselves are worthy, namely, humanity, decency and charity, are being made the vehicle for the spread of hate, furnishing germs for future years.

"Meetings which are disgraceful examples of propaganda are being held throughout the nation for the purpose not only of disuniting the American people, but also of alienating us from those peoples who gave with us their life's blood on a common battlefield.

READY FOR COMMON FOE.

"There comes a time in the history of all peoples when they must prepare themselves to meet a common foe. Such a time has come to the American people. Our honor, our ideals and our future are imperiled. Shall they remain undefended? The noble dead and those who now lie in hospitals, living monuments of willing sacrifice, who gave their bodies for their hearts' desire, look to us to carry on—for God and country."

For the first time in the history of the American government men who fought for the flag on the battlefield are being compelled to continue to fight for it in the fields of the homeland. The enemy calls itself American, but it is American to a far less degree than the Germans who fought against the American flag in the Argonne, in the St. Mihiel salient and along the banks of the Meuse and Marne.

COXEY HAS A CURE-ALL FOR NATION.

To Tell Harding How Whole Economic Problem May be Fixed Up Sound.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16. — "Gen." Jacob G. Coxey of Coxey's army fame does not agree with the big business men of the country who have been telling President Harding that American business has passed the crisis in the recent depression and is now slowly progressing on the up grade.

When "Gen." Coxey read in the papers today that the President had been receiving optimistic reports about the business outlook, he hastened to the White House to tell him he "was all wrong."

Incidentally Coxey took a "cure-all" with him. He did not see the President, but he announced that when he did see him later, he proposed to tell him that if he would free all political prisoners, pass a bill permitting all States, counties, townships and municipalities to issue noninterest bearing twenty-five-year bonds up to 50 per cent of their assessed valuation for the purpose of public improvements; amend the constitution with an initiative and referendum proviso and pass the Borah bill permitting free assemblage and free speech, the whole economic problem of the country would be settled.

GERMANS HOLD UP RESOURCES.

ment and the trial of accused German officers, were settled.

Premier Briand said that if the Allies remain firm and united the Germans will discover that they (the Germans) have astonishing resources. Germany had been vanquished, he said, but, unfortunately, psychologically this was insufficiently apparent to the German people.

M. Briand told the chamber he went to the London conference bound to maintain the reparations figures arrived at in Paris, but ready to make concessions regarding the methods of payment.

"I frankly told our allies there was a wall against which we were backed," he declared.

A BEGGING NATION.

"It is a begging Germany, trying to arouse the neutral countries by bought newspapers. But the day we let ourselves be persuaded and seem to abandon our efforts, then that day will see another Germany, one all ready to attempt in the economic domain the imperialist conquests she failed to achieve in the military domain."

Speaking of Germany's ability to pay, he declared:

"Germany has no foreign debt. Her taxes are lighter than ours and her economic situation is better.

"Germany's position is that of a debtor and not of a merchant who pays only out of her profits. She owes her debt out of her entire assets."

The Allied reparations commission, in its note to Germany demanding fulfillment of Article CCXXXV of the peace treaty, notified the German government it must pay 1,000,000,000 gold marks before March 23, it was announced today. The money must be deposited in the Bank of France, Bank of England, or the Federal Reserve Bank in the United States, Germany was told. It must complete the payment of 20,000,000,000 gold marks by May 1.

The commission gave Germany until April 1 to submit a proposal to pay the balance of the 20,000,000,000 marks otherwise than in cash. Germany may submit a plan for a foreign loan, the proceeds of which shall be payable to the commission.

REFUSES TO PAY.

The commission announced that Germany had virtually refused to pay the balance, asserting the 20,000,000,000 marks had been fully paid.

Some time ago the commission announced that the Allied claims for reparations had been forwarded to Berlin. The exact total of these claims has not been stated, but is usually well-informed quarters it is said they probably amount to approximately 550,000,000,000 gold marks, or roughly, two and one-half times the figures fixed for indemnities by the Paris conference.

Computation of the total reparations was difficult, chiefly because of the widely fluctuating exchange rates, as well as the vast task of checking claims and computing the prewar values and transforming them into today's figures, on falling market.

CREDITS MASSED HERE.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Inclusion by the Allied reparations commission of the American Federal Reserve Banks as an optional depositary for German indemnity payments brought from treasury officials tonight the statement that the commission supposedly had two purposes in view:

To enable Germany to call upon "vast credits" which it is said to hold through private agents in the United States, and

To employ in favor of the Allied governments the tremendous difference in exchange rates.

Information gathered by the reserve banks was said to show that since the armistice Germany has been amassing credits in United States national banks, holding the funds in the names of individuals. Officials said the amount would run into many millions. This money, it was said, was presumed to be for use in Germany's future trade, much of which would center in the United States.

NEUTRAL TERRITORY.

There has been no intimation given the United States that its banking system might be employed as the reparations note forwarded to Berlin today suggested, officials stated. The mere fact that this government's banks would serve as practically neutral territory so far as reparations were concerned was not accepted as the full reason for the commission's proposal, although the reserve banks have acted as depositaries for several foreign governments.

Some $30,000,000 is held for foreign governments, the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Board shows, and to receive a deposit from Grmany, although a technical enemy, would mean only the placing of that additional credit to the nations designated by the commission.

In some quarters it was believed that Allied intelligence agents had discovered the existence of the German funds, and that the commission had acted on the feeling Germany would use the money in indemnity payments. The suggestion also was made that Germany might attempt to borrow in the United States, in which case the shipment of gold to Europe would react favorably on the exchange situation.

DELAY IS ALLOWED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 16. — The German reparations bill, providing that the levy of 50 per cent on German goods shall not be effective until March 31, passed the committee stage in the House of Commons early this morning without vital change.

CUSTOMS EXPLAINED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COBLENZ, March 16.—Principles to be followed in collecting customs in the new tariff zone established east of the Rhine by Entente forces have been outlined in a report sent to the Allies by the Rhineland commission.

The report also outlines the zone, which would begin at Muiheim, and run along the line of the extreme outposts of the newly occupied territory, and of the bridgeheads established by the Entente.

Gen. Allen, commander of American forces here, has participated unofficially in discussions of questions relative to the tariff and the limits of the new zone.

DUSSELDORF, March 16.—The Rhenish provincial Diet closed its sixteenth session today with a protest against the Allied penalties, asserting that, instead of safeguarding interests of the occupied territories, they would destroy them.

A resolution adopted states that no matter what happens, the Rhinelanders will remain united with the German state.

turned to El Paso, Tex., and had taken no notes.

In the interview Blair had quoted Clara Hamon as having referred to a will which he said she said she believed would be kept hidden until after her trial and then brought to light, as having told him of the details of a fight on the night of November 21, when Col. Hamon was shot and as having said she hated the dead man for the ten years' dominance he had held over her.

An effort to introduce as evidence a newspaper containing the interview was objected to by defense counsel, and the objection was sustained.

Erret Dunlap and Dr. Walter Hardin, respectively, a business assistant of Mr. Hamon and the surgeon who operated on him after he was shot, recalled, testified that Miss Rosa Cannon, a nurse, who had preceded them on the stand, had told them she had not seen nor heard what happened when Clara Hamon went to the hospital on the morning following the shooting.

Miss Cannon testified she saw Hamon hold out his arms, pull Clara Hamon to him and kiss her.

JUDGES CHANGE.

Judge Champion read the following charges to the jury.

"In this case, the defendant, Clara Smith Hamon, in support of her plea of not guilty, claims as a justification for said homicide that she acted in self-defense of her person; that is, that the defendant, Clara Smith Hamon, pleads that she did the killing, but that same was done to prevent the deceased from either killing her or doing her bodily harm. It is the right of every person to act in defense of her own person, where she is assailed in such a way to make it reasonably appear that her life at the time was in imminent danger, or that she was in imminent danger of serious personal injury. You are instructed that before a person can justify a killing upon the plea that she acted in self-defense, there must not only have existed at the time of the killing reasonable ground to apprehend a design on the part of the deceased to either take the life of the defendant or to do her some great personal injury, but in addition thereto, it must reasonably have appeared to the defendant that there was imminent danger of such design being carried out."

Continuing, the judge said:

DEATH PUNISHMENT.

"If you find the defendant guilty of the murder as charged, it is your duty to assess her punishment at death or by imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary for life.

"If you have reasonable doubt of the guilt of the defendant, then you will acquit her, but in the event you do not entertain a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt as to any one or more or all of the offenses herein submitted to you, then you will return your verdict of guilty as to such offense of which you do not entertain a reasonable doubt, yet whatever doubt may be entertained by you, such doubt must be resolved in favor of the defendant."

Should it be ruled tomorrow morning that arguments in the trial are not ended, the defense counsel will present three of its members before Atty.-Gen. Freeling makes the final argument.

The attorneys will not be limited in their debate.

The case made rapid progress today. The defense announced that it rested when Judge Champion ruled inadmissible letters purported to have been written by Col. Hamon to Clara Hamon.

PACKING EMPLOYEES IN DENVER STRIKE.

VOTE FOR WALKOUT AS PROTEST AGAINST ANNOUNCED WAGE REDUCTIONS.

DENVER, March 16. — Employees of the Denver packinghouses at a meeting tonight voted to strike in protest against the announced wage reduction, the Rocky Mountain News will say tomorrow. The vote was 551 to 18.

The wage cuts, ranging from 8 cents an hour for unskilled labor to 12½ per cent for skilled piece work, did not go into effect here Monday, as a State law prohibits the immediate enforcement of any wage change.

The Pneumonia Month.

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ-ladened mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.—[Advertisement.

ter to be settled by ordinary court procedure.

In the arrangement the soviet government is termed the "government of the Russian socialist federal soviet republic."

The governments agree that neither shall be prevented from regulating trade in arms and ammunition under the general provisions of law.

In lieu of the usual consular arrangements the agreement provides for the appointment of "official agents to reside and exercise their functions in the territories of the other."

These agents are to enjoy immunity from arrest and freedom of communication with their own governments.

A declaration of recognition of claims appended to the agreement contains a soviet declaration of its recognition in principle of liability to pay compensation to private persons who have supplied goods or given services to Russia for which they have not been rewarded.

The declaration concludes that it is understood that this does not imply that claims referred to will have preferential treatment in a general peace treaty which is to be negotiated.

Leon Trotzky, the soviet Minister of War, is reported in a London Times dispatch from Stockholm to be making new overtures for the capitulation of the Kronstadt fortress. Although it has been reported he purposed sending an ultimatum to Kronstadt that if the fortress remained obdurate, it would be razed, his new terms would not request capitulation, but the signing of an immediate armistice and assembling of a mixed commission to settle terms to an agreement. According to the dispatch those holding the fortress are decidedly against dealing with the Communists.

PARIS IS SKEPTICAL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, March 16.—The Anglo-Russian trade agreement signed in London is regarded here as impracticable, but a sort of future investment which will partly placate the British radical element and partly enable Great Britain to have the first opportunity for trade when Russia becomes stabilized.

No such negotiations with the Russians are contemplated by France, the government being opposed to any such arrangement until Russia's old debts are recognized and propaganda eliminated.

INVITED TO LEAD.

NEW YORK, March 16.— An invitation was received today by Ivan Narodny, Russian dancing master and author, to go immediately to Kronstadt to take charge of the anti-Bolshevist rebellion. He was a leader of the Kronstadt rebellion against the Czar in 1905 and later escaped to the United States with Maxim Gorky.

COPENHAGEN, March 16.—Fifty thousand men have been gathered at the Finnish fortress at Kronstadt and this number is increasing daily, says a Helsingfors dispatch quoting an American Red Cross worker just arrived there from Kronstadt. An organization of Russian emigrants in this city has been informed in a wireless dispatch that Kronstadt is receiving necessary provisions and sufficient ammunition for three years.

ances and schemes," instead of the usual charge of "undue influence."

In this case it was sought to be shown that after Dr. Mohn came under the influence of Mme. Tingley he displayed a tendency to disregard the wishes of his wife and others not members of the theosophical society, and that through the leader of the theosophical cult had disposed of large portions of his fortune to the detriment of his wife and to the advantage of the religious organization.

The present case revolved about the testimony of Mrs. Winifred Davidson, who told of being called as a stenographer by Mme. Tingely and writing a letter at her dictation to Mrs. Mohn in which the doctor outlined what he considered as his proper course of future action in regard to domestic relations and his property.

Mrs. Davidson said that when the letter was finished it was signed by Dr. Mohn and forwarded to his wife. It was on this evidence that Mrs. Mohn based her claim. The dictation of the letter was strongly denied by Mme. Tingley.

At the conclusion of the testimony A. J. Morganstern, attorney for Mme. Tingley, argued all day for a nonsuit, but was unable to gain his point with the court. Three days more were consumed by the attorneys in submitting the case to the jury.

Every day of the trial the courtroom was filled with interested spectators, who quite frequently voiced approval of points brought out by attorneys for Mrs. Mohn.

Most of yesterday was given over to the arguments for the plaintiff by Attorney C. C. Crouch. The lawyer read excerpts from letters from Mrs. Tingley to show that the same phraseology appeared in the letter said to have been written by Mrs. Davidson at the dictation of the defendant. Mr. Crouch referred to the testimony of Mrs. Mohn, who was on the witness stand for several days and who, he said, the defense could not lead into making false statements.

Judge Carey delivered a lengthy charge to the jury which consisted of eleven men and one woman.

"What'll We Name It?"

Some years ago an advertising man stopped one of his clients from advertising "second hand cars" and instead offered to the public a selection of "used cars."

The phrase was new, simple and obviously better. In this instance, every one in the trade grabbed the expression and robbed its progenitor of his little distinction.

The best toothbrush on the market has a name that is the hardest for the public to spell or to pronounce.

And yet the late Senator Tillman used to quote, "you might as well kill a dog as give him a bad name."

If you are contemplating advertising now or in the future, experience counsels that you secure the advice of a competent advertising agent before you name your package; even before you put your goods in a package or before you commit yourself to any method of presentation that you may ultimately regret.

State Administration Said Now to Change in Syndicalism Law

BY KYLE D. PALMER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The State administration and labor have formed an offensive and defensive alliance, and of this coalition, it was learned today, will be an amendment to the antisyndicalism law. Growing out of the situation over the "come-through" King tax bill, a working agreement have been reached whereby the administration will give its support to many of the labor measures now before the Legislature.

Particularly astonishing, in view of the equivacol utterances in the biennial message of Gov. Stephens relative to the necessity for keeping the antisyndicalism law intact is the announcement that labor has intended from the first to seek a modification of this vital law.

SKELETON BILL.

It now appears, through comments made by Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco, that he introduced a "skeleton" bill during the first half of the session at the instance of labor interests and that this "skeleton" now is to take on whatever is needed in the way of amendments for the statute covering acts of criminal syndicalism.

It is proposed to amend the act according to Hornblower, on the ground that "the present law is too severe with respect to curbing free speech," a modification being particularly sought in cases of a nature similar to the trial and conviction of Anita Whitney of Oakland, who is alleged to have addressed a meeting of the Communist party.

It is proposed to effect a change in Section one of the criminal syndicalism law. This section reads:

"The term 'criminal syndicalism,' as used in this act is hereby defined as any doctrine or precept advocating, teaching or aiding and abetting the commission of crime, sabotage, (which word is hereby defined as meaning wilful and malicious physical damage or injury to physical property) or unlawful acts of force and violence and unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing a change in industrial ownership or control, or affecting any political change."

Assemblyman Hornblower further announced that Ray Benjamin, who drew up the antisyndicalism law in 1919, has undertaken to draft the proposed amendment.

STOPS FREE SPEECH.

"The law now is such on the points involved in the Whitney case," said Hornblower, "that a person can be tried for speaking at a meeting held by an organization of which such person was not a member, and evidence can be introduced at the trial concerning the organization. It is felt that the law at present is an unjust one."

And while this attempt is being made to weaken the Syndicalism Act, various law enforcement officers of the State are endeavoring to strengthen the statute by providing that in cases where several persons are involved in a single complaint all may be tried together, thus preventing the expensive and long-drawn-out legal fights caused by the demand of each member of an accused group for a separate trial.

It is understood that union labor is to be further rewarded for its support of the administration's $13,000,000 revenue-producing tax program. Many labor measures of diverse import are awaiting action in both the Senate and the Assembly.

Interest in the budget-bedeviling arguments of State employees reached a new low level in the Assembly last night and it became necessary for the administration workers to issue a call of the House and Senate sergeants-at-arms out into the highways and by-ways to get a sufficient number of legislators to give the proceedings a semblance of materiality.

Max Thelen has listened to most of the arguments put forth in attempted refutation of his claims that Confession Obtained n Turner Boy.

Decker, Suspect, ged with Crime.

"Master Mind" ught by Police.

(Ind.) March 16.—
ional confession obtained
Decker, the 19-year-old ner who is the leading figure
ries in connection with the murder last Saturday of Leroy Lovett at Atwood, Ind., officials of Marshall and Kosciusko counties tonight were searching for another man, declared to be the "master mind" in a fraud plot unequalled in the annals of the State.

Decker, arrested in Marion, Ind., last night after a trip to a correspondent had disclosed his hiding place, was brought here today.

He has admitted he accompanied Lovett from his home in Elkhart to Goshen, Ind., thence here, and finally to the cabin on the banks of the Tippecanoe River, where the murder was committed.

DENIES MURDER.

He still denies having killed Lovett. He declares he "doesn't remember" who attacked Lovett, then took the unconscious boy to the railroad crossing and left him in a dilapidated buggy for a passing Pennsylvania train to strike.

Decker has named a third man in the affair — a mysterious "Guy," whose last name he says he doesn't know. "Guy" accompanied the party to the shack, Decker declares, and Lovett and "Guy" were alone there. Decker asserts that on the day of the slaying he drove from the Decker farm in a buggy and spent the greater part of the afternoon here. Witnesses, however, saw him at the river bank shack as late as 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

BROTHER IS HELD

Decker's brother, Arthur, 16 years old, was being held by the Kosciusko county authorities this afternoon. No charge was placed against him. The two brothers are the only members of the Decker family who have been under arrest in connection with the killing.

Actual details of the crime and its motive are still shrouded in mystery.

Virgil Decker is being grilled continuously. Officials present at the inquest declare that he has been caught in misstatements several times.

of a bank, as regards their relation- to community interests, are often misjudged by conclusion of figures alone. Of more importance than figures is the manner in which those resources are applied toward advancement of the community and its prosperity. Believing that to be true, the Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles has always maintained a policy of consistent fidelity to the development of the local, industrial and commercial resources of the great Southwest. It employs its resources, exceeding $11,000,000, to that end.

LEGISLATURE GETS ACTION.

First Bills Beside Emergency Ones Are Passed.

Senate Puts Through Red Light Abatement Measure.

Hospitals Continue to Fight for Appropriations.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The State Legislature today, for the first time in its thirty-three legislative days of labor, passed and sent to the Governor a series of bills other than emergency measures. The King tax bill, some deficiency appropriations, and a few urgent minor measures, had heretofore been made laws, but today the regular third reading file of seven Senate bills in the Assembly was taken up and the bills passed.

The list included a bill by Senator Breed to permit corporations to issue stock to employees, under certain conditions. It narrowly escaped defeat in the Senate, but went through the Assembly, after extended debate, by a vote of 53 to 16. The city of San Diego was given the right, by another Senate bill, to use and authorize the use of Balboa Park in that city for exposition purposes. The other measures passed by the Assembly, and having originated in the Senate, were validating bills for drainage, irrigation and water districts.

RED LIGHT ABATEMENT.

The Senate devoted its morning largely to the consideration of a bill by Senator Duncan, to strengthen and make more stringent the present red light abatement law. It was finally passed.

PLEA FOR EDUCATION.

The budget hearings which continued during the afternoon before the Senate shifted to the Assembly tonight. There Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Public Instruction, presented the case of education and endeavored to show why proposed cuts suggested by Max Thelen in those items would be unwise.

The outstanding features of Wood's presentation were statistical. The per capita cost of State government in California, he said, had increased but 8 per cent since 1915, while in Massachusetts it had gone up 55 per cent, and in a list of States in all parts of the nation the average increase was about 35 per cent.

The per cent of budget increase was 19 per cent in California, he said, and went through varying amounts up an increase of 58 per cent in Texas. The per capita cost of State government in California was $7.75 in 1920, against amounts elsewhere ranging from $7.75 to $12.50, the higher figure being for Arizona.

LIST OF EMPLOYEES

Wood submitted a typewritten list of all employees of his department, together with their assignments and salaries, and going through the list name by name, or department by department, he insisted that the best interests of education demanded more, rather than less, than he had requested from the budget board and the Legislature.

On the question of normal schools, which have shown a decrease of enrollment in the last two or three years, he took the position that better rates of pay for teachers, and lower wage levels in other work, would soon cause an upward trend in attendance. He said the schools would have to be continued, because Californians demanded trained teachers for their children, and there was no other way to get them than to train them.

Wood closed with a plea for liberal treatment of educational needs and took the position that economy should be shown in other lines, such as war preparations, rather than in decreased efficiency in schools and lowered educational standards.

Presidents of numerous State normals followed him on the stand, and discussed in detail the needs of their institutions.

A determined effort to get the Badaracco resolution, memorializing Congress to permit light wines and beer, before the Legislature tomorrow was forecast here tonight.

Supporters of the resolution were actively engaged in trying to pledge enough votes to secure its passage; they claimed a majority. While the wets were thus engaged, the dry forces held a caucus at which plans were outlined to resist stoutly every step to bring the Badaracco resolution to a vote.

Both sides admitted that a test was in prospect tomorrow and would surely come within a few days.

Two hard-fought bills were disposed of in the Assembly today, the chiropractors losing their attempt to get a law through granting them a licensing board and fixing their professional standards; and the bill forbidding foreign language schools except for limited hours under strict supervision passing by a substantial vote.

SHERIFFS WIN FIGHT

The sheriffs of California tonight won their fight to retain authority to transport insane persons to State asylums. A bill introduced to bring the transportation under the direction of the asylums was refused sanction by the Assembly Committee on Public Health and Quarantine. A large delegation of sheriffs and county clerks appeared against it.

The Assembly Committee on Elections worked for three hours today on a list of bills, including one to limit a candidate's place on the ballot to the party with which he affiliated by registration, and finally adjourned without action until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, when a further effort to formulate a report will be made.

Registrar Zemansky of San Francisco, presented a plan to pay election officers by the hundred names instead of by the day. He also offered some suggestions about selection of election officials. These were also held over until tomorrow.

HOSPITALS HEARD.

State hospital authorities today continued before the Senate statements intended to show that proposed reductions in their appropriations should not be made. Their claims were based chiefly on the contention that inadequate facilities and overcrowded conditions make proper treatment of patients impossible.

As the Senators, sitting in committee of the whole, plodded through the lists of budget items the proceedings were occasionally enlivened with exchanges among members of the House. The afternoon session, lasting nearly four hours, ended with a dispute over a proposal to continue the hearings on Saturday, making a six-day week. Absentees were brought in while the doors were locked and the proposition was defeated 14 to 13.

Dr. Fred W. Clark, medical superintendent, told the Senators many of the old buildings at the Stockton State Hospital have virtually been condemned and that a psychopathic hospital is needed where certain classes of patients might be cured quickly and money thus saved. Two hundred patients are sleeping in the halls, he said, and clothing is lacking.

He said there was something in the suggestion of Senator Burnett that a number of aged patients who might well be cared for at county hospitals are being sent to the State institutions. Two or 3 per cent, he estimated, are suffering from senility rather than insanity.

NORWALK OVERCROWDED.

Dr. C. F. Applegate characterized the Norwalk hospital as "simply an old-style custodial asylum" which is 50 per cent overcrowded, with forty-two patients sleeping on the floors.

The Agnew Hospital has been short of help since 1919, its medical superintendent, Dr. Leonard Stocking, said. Proper treatment of patients made more money necessary, he added.

During today's hearing the sergeant-at-arms was sent out, at the suggestion of Senator Scott, to bring in absent members. One of these, Senator Shearer, made a sharp statement, comparing his own interest in legislative proceedings with that of Scott and later called attention of the Senate that Scott was asleep.

Senator Irwin also clashed with Scott over a $5400 item for fence for the Napa Hospital. Irwin said it was excessive, in that it was based on an estimate of $1000 a mile for barbed wire construction. Scott asked Irwin what right he had to "pose as a fence expert." Slater suggested that political fences were more in the line of the members.

"You want to make a farce out of everything," Irwin told Scott. "I have no quarrel with this gentleman," he continued, referring to Owen Duffy, manager of the Napa Hospital, "but this bird, Scott—"

He was interrupted by Scott, who objected to Irwin's "rude and violent manner."

King, Inman and McDonald led the movement for holding Saturday sessions on the budget, the former stating they were necessary "if we get through with this procedure this summer."

Proposed taxation of freight and passenger automobile lines, outlined in bills by Senators Irwin and Shearer, will be discussed at a public hearing before the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday evening, March 23, Senator King announced today.

STOP UTILITY BILLS.

The Assembly Committee on Public Utilities again refused today, after an extended hearing, to report out three bills designed to class petroleum production or refining companies as public utilities and place them under the control of the Railroad Commission. The committee, which tabled the bills several days ago and then gave them a further hearing because some of the sponsors said they had not known of the first hearing, again tabled all three measures.

Mark L. Requa, formerly in charge of the petroleum division of the United States Fuel Administration, spoke for more than an hour in opposition to the three bills which were presented by Assemblymen Lyons, Morrison and Heisinger, respectively.

The Assemblymen made an effort to bring the bills out by getting a two-thirds vote of the Assembly after the committee first tabled them, and dropped the move when a further hearing already arranged was drawn to their attention. Committee members said tonight they assumed the authors would try again to get direct action from the Assembly.

DR. ALFONSE NAMED PRESIDENT OF CUBA.

CONSERVATIVE POPULAR COALITION CANDIDATE MAKES CLEAN SWEEP.

HAVANA, March 16.—Dr. Alfredo Zayas y Alfonse, former Vice-President and candidate of the Conservative Popular Coalition (National League) party, made practically a clean sweep of the partial elections held yesterday in several hundred precincts of various provinces in Cuba.

Incomplete figures given out by the Department of Communications today show that in the four provinces outside of Havana where elections were held, the Liberal party obeyed the order of its executive committee to remain away from the polls, only forty-two voting. A total of 12,419 votes were cast for Dr. Zayas.

Although the Liberals carried Havana province in the regular November elections and partial elections are set for Oriente province on March 26, yesterday's election was considered final as regards the Presidency.

Gen. Crowder, special American representative, personally made a tour of inspection last week into several provinces.

Reports received by the central electoral board state there were no serious clashes anywhere during the day.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—[Advertisement.

I am nearly 51 years of age and have suffered a great deal from indigestion. I can eat almost anything I want to now," writes George W. Emory, Rock Mills, Ala. These tablets contain no pepsin, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to digest the food naturally.—[Advertisement.

The Cement Age

The world has seen great epochal ages—The Stone Age—The Iron Age, and with the 20th Century was ushered in the Age of Cement.

Among the Companies who manufacture cement for the titanic building operations of the West, the Riverside Portland Cement Co. is a most important factor. Its plant at Crestmore is the largest west of Chicago.

This Company requires an entire floor in the Corporation Building for executive and administrative offices. Maximum efficiency is aided materially by the standardized equipment supplied by Pacific Desk Company.

The new interpretation of Service which the Pacific Desk Company puts into all its transactions has been a potent factor in winning for this institution the patronage of such great organizations as the Riverside Portland Cement Co.

DISPUTE OVER WATER RIGHTS IN NORTHERN PART OF STATE HEARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—A long-contended controversy between the mining industry and agricultural and hydroelectric interests over the possession of water rights in the northern part of the State was brought before the State Railroad Commission today when an application was filed to force the Western States Gas and Electric Company and the El Dorado Water Company to furnish water to operate the Pacific Channel Mine at Pacific, El Dorado county.

The application states the defendant companies refused to sell the applicant the water controlled by them, but diverted it for agricultural and hydroelectric uses. No decision was rendered in the case.

FLEET EXPECTS TO VISIT AUSTRALASIA.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

AUCKLAND (N. Z.) March 16.—A. A. Winslof, American consul-general here, has received a letter from the American flagship New Mexico saying that the American Pacific Fleet, including eight battleships, probably will visit Australia in July.

Admiral Rodman, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, refused to comment last night on the probable fleet cruise to Australasia. It is known, however, that such a cruise is contemplated, the plans of which are being held in abeyance pending necessary appropriations for naval activties.

BOLSHEVIKI IN MEXICO BOLDER.

Activities Increasing, State Department Learns.

Whole Government Honeycombed with Radicals.

Obregon Said to be Helpless to Stem Tide.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Bolshevist activities are increasing daily in the Republic of Mexico according to confidential advices received by officials of the State Department here. Influence of the radicals has honey-combed nearly every office, bureau and department of the Federal government in the City of Mexico and has infested points of importance outside of the Federal district.

Agitators of Spanish, Italian, French and Russian nationality are becoming bolder all the time and are carrying on a campaign by correspondence and personal agitation which has for its double object the dissolution of the Obregon government and the elevation to power of radicals, who encourage the Bolshevik ideas promulgated by Lenine and Trotzky.

DOMINATE SITUATION.

At least four accredited representatives of the Russian soviet leaders are now dominating the situation in the Mexican capital and their growing power is manifested in the reluctance of the Obregon government to function aggressively. It may be stated baldly that these people have more or less paralyzed the Obregon regime and have intimidated many of the men who were expected to rapidly and effectively restore normal conditions in the various operations of the Mexican government.

Some of the men high in power in the Obregon government are known to have encouraged these radicals and it is believed that there is a general understanding and sympathy between the Bolshevik agitators and those opposed to the policies Gen. Obregon was pledged to inject into the government upon his elevation to the Presidency.

MAY DAY CRISIS.

From correspondence and other information it is indicated that some sort of a showdown or crisis is planned for May Day, which has on the continent been the signal for labor and industrial disturbance and demonstration for many years. Just how far the program has been developed in detail is not known here, but it is known that the State Department is checking all the information carefully and exerting itself to be fully advised as to the developments south of the Rio Grande so far as they affect the present regime and especially as far as the moves disclosed affect the United States and the relations of the two countries.

If all the statements are verified and borne out by developments promised there may be some serious and history-making changes in the Federal government in Mexico City and it may be that the propaganda that has been turned loose all through the republic has taken root to a greater extent than dreamed of by the United States authorities heretofore.

WIDENING INFLUENCE.

From some of the information available it would seem that the Bolshevik leaders in Mexico have been operating there with branch propaganda headquarters in some of the other South and Central American States and that some of their tentacles have reached into some of the eastern cities of the United States. So far as can be learned the policy of the department will be simply to investigate the activity of these elements wherever possible and be advised of such changes in the program as may be made from time to time.

ADMIRALITY LORD WELCOMES A HINT.

SAYS ENGLAND WILL NOT STAND ON CEREMONY IN DISARMAMENT QUESTION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 16.—Baron Lee of Fareham, first Lord of the Admiralty, discussing naval matters at a meeting of naval architects today, referred to the question of disarmament. He said the only question was who would initiate the discussion, but the British government would not stand on ceremony. The government, he declared, welcomed the hint thrown out by President Harding in his inaugural address and the suggestion would meet with cordial and helpful response here.

"I can only say," he added, "that if an invitation comes from Washington, I am prepared to put aside all other business to take part in a business than which there can be nothing more pressing."

Baron Lee said he agreed with Mr. Denby, American Secretary of the Navy, that Great Britain and America could control the seas.

"But," he added, "the question is whether we have the right of action with regard to our navies when consulting each other. In that respect I think this government has a clear record. In the present estimates we have set an example of reduction and taken risks and are prepared to go far in a mutual agreement.

"It is not enough to talk about blood being thicker than water. What we want is the plain horse sense characteristic of both countries. From my long knowledge of America, I have a profound belief in the business of talking and appealing to the square deal. I hold strongly that we are not engaged in a game of bluff but that we ought to lay all our cards on the table."

PROVINCIAL TREASURER INTRODUCES LEVY BILL IN LEGISLATURE.

QUEBEC, March 16.—A new tax bill affecting horse racing and the motion-picture industry was proposed to the Quebec Legislature today by Provincial Treasurer Mitchell. The bill provides a tax of $200 on all film exchanges, $10 a day for any race meeting within a radius of thirty miles of Montreal and $8 a day in Quebec.

If there is betting carried on, the bill proposes a daily license fee of $1200 on one-mile tracks, $600 on half-mile tracks, and $300 on other tracks. The fees will be doubled in case the parimutuel system of betting is not used.

STUDY PROBLEM OF FAR EAST.

Harding Sees Importance to United States.

Diplomats Will Act as Advisers to President.

Gen. Wood's Report to be Preliminary Survey.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Problems in the Far East are of such compelling importance to the United States that there is to be an American committee on affairs created by the Harding administration for the advice and guidance of Washington. The interlocking members of this committee will be the United States Minister to China, the United States Ambassador to Japan and the Governor-General of the Philippines.

These three men are to be carefully chosen not only for their ability and experience in the problems of the Far East and the Pacific, but also for their ability to work together and to form a close-knit organization which will carefully acquire, analyze and appraise in value and import all important information of value to the United States arising in the Far East and they will jointly advise the President of the United States of their conclusions and the peculiar conditions surrounding the situation.

WOOD MAKING SURVEY.

One of the reasons for the sending of Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood to the Philippines is for him to make just such a preliminary survey for the President, as if he could go himself and see the whole situation himself. He will not confine his activities to the Philippines, but will bring back a birdseye of the diplomatic outposts in that part of the world which are to be remanned by the United States and to indicate how best they can function together for the advice and benefit of the government at Washington. None of the posts mentioned above will be filled until Gen. Wood makes his report.

There has been mention of comparatively few men for any of these three posts, but Jacob Schurman, president of Cornell University for many years, is one of those most prominently mentioned for the Chinese post, and Cameron Forbes, who has long been officially identified with the government of the Philippines in the formative days, will accompany Gen. Wood as a sort of chief of staff and may be named for permanent duty either in the Philippines or at Tokio. There is nothing definite about these appointments, but they fix the type of men who are to be appointed and indicate that the three men who are chosen will work together for the common good by the harmonious handling of all the great problems of the United States in the Pacific in the coming months and years.

ACT AS CLEARINGHOUSE.

When Gen. Wood has made his report and the three places are filled with the men of caliber and attainments desired by President Harding it is probable that this committee or commission of three will be a clearinghouse for the United States of all military, naval and diplomatic information for the entire Pacific. This would give these officials of the United States a sort of supervision over Guam, Yap and American Samoa.

It is no secret that this situation in the Pacific has been given a great deal of study by the President and the officials of the State Department and that great expectations are placed upon the satisfactory functioning of this outpost combination which is a distinct departure from any past appointment of the United States to similar positions and should do much to clarify the situation both in the Philippines and the Far East.

PROTECTION SOUGHT BY TOBACCO GROWERS.

CALIFORNIANS PRESENT CASE BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE; SHORTRIDGE TO AID.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Now California comes before the country for protection of its crop of Turkish tobacco from the blight of foreign competition. Until Alfred A. Ram of Fresno arrived in front of the Ways and Means Committee of the House not a single Congressman knew that California raised Turkish tobacco and wanted a protection of $1.85 per pound.

In 1919 the California crop amounted to 1,000,000 pounds, but in 1920 the crop dropped to 200,000 pounds because of foreign competition, due largely to the fact there was insufficient protection.

Importations from Japan in 1918 amounted to 3,000,000 pounds and 6,000,000 came from China, due to the action of the American manufacturers, forced by the closing of the Turkish markets, due to the war, who went to the Orient and secured large supplies of Turkish leaf at low prices with the use of cheap coolie labor.

The largest acreage of Turkish leaf in California aggregated 2500 acres, but it is claimed there are 400,000 acres suitable for such crops and 300,000 acres are idle as the tobacco grows best on slopes and other places which cannot be irrigated.

The counties of Fresno, Los Angeles, San Diego, Tulare, Yolo, Santa Clara, Kings and Sacramento have all produced good leaf and the statement is made to the Ways and Means Committee that California can produce under proper protection enough high-grade Turkish leaf to supply the entire country's need and have a large exportable surplus besides.

Senator Shortridge will assist the tobacco growers when the tariff bill reaches the Senate.

LINEBERGER WILL TALK TO HARDING.

LONG BEACH CONGRESSMAN TO TAKE UP CITRUS TARIFF, OTHER QUESTIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Congressman Lineberger of Long Beach expects to see President Harding tomorrow in connection with some of the features of the tariff legislation proposed for the extra session. Some of the phases of the citrus tariff and the economic need of some other California products Congressman Lineberger wants brought to the attention of the Executive, and this opportunity may be afforded tomorrow when tentative plans have been made for a conference between the President and several western Congressmen.

Congressman Lineberger has arranged living quarters at Congress Hall and has secured offices in the Pizes Office Building. His secretary, Miss Barker of Pomona, also has arrived, and the new Congressman is thoroughly organized to take up his work for the Ninth District. In response to a request from the Committee on Committees he indicated that he would be glad to serve on the committees where his civilian experience had best fitted him.

As an engineer he believes that his service might be of greater value on the Rivers and Harbors Committee, and his experience in Mexico would be of use on the Committee on Foreign Relations. His service in the Army fits him to be of use on the Military Committee, but, he said, that as a good Republican he would serve wherever placed and try to get results.

FINANCE EXPORT OF COTTON TO GERMANY.

WAR CORPORATION HAS COMPLETELY REVERSED POLICY HOUSTON FOLLOWED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Announcement of its approval of an application of two American banking institutions for an advance to assist in financing the exportation of about 15,000 bales of cotton to Germany and Czecho-Slovakia was made today by the War Finance Corporation. The amount of the advance has not yet been determined.

Approval of an application for financing exports to Germany is a complete reversal of the treasury's policy under former Secretary Houston.

Only a small part of the cotton would go to Germany, Managing Director McLean explained, and the advance could not be regarded as a loan to Germany. The advance is made, he said, to American bankers on adequate security to enable them to finance the exports. The corporation, he said, considers all applications made to it but creates no precedent by its action.

TWO CENTS EACH TO SHIP ORANGES EAST.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION ADMITS FREIGHT RATE IS BURDEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—"Under present freight rates it costs 2 cents an orange to ship them in boxes of eighty from California to Chicago," William D. Tidwell, secretary of the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association, said at a meeting of the organization here today.

Reporting the result of his conferences with the Interstate Commerce Commission, he said:

"The commission grants that present freight rates are excessive and a burden on producer, shipper and consumer, but the Transportation Act as passed by Congress compels the commission to establish a rate that will yield a return of 5½ per cent to the railroad."

FINANCIERS IN DIVORCE MILLS.

One Accuses Wife, While Other is the Accused.

Mrs. Harris Asserts She Was "Love Starved."

Wall-Street Type of Man Poor Husband.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 16.—Linked together in big business as president and vice-president of the National City Bank, James A. Stillman and Beverly D. Harris are having troubles of a somewhat similar nature.

Mr. Stillman accuses his wife, "Fifi," the pretty daughter of a southern beauty, of prancing away to the Canadian wilds and prancing about with a Canadian-Indian guide, a veritable "Apollo Belvedere." Mr. Harris, about a year ago, was denounced by his pretty wife, also a southern beauty, as "that Wall street type of man who had steel in his eyes and copper in his soul, and no love in his heart." She announced her fondness for "cave man" types and said:

"I just adore the primitive mode of living."

Mrs. Harris a year ago was quite fluent in telling reporters that her Wall-street husband was "love-starving" her and making her life unhappy.

PROFESSIONS RECALLED.

She has not been revealed in any life role of the wilds, but her loud professions are recalled by newspaper readers. Mrs. Harris was Miss Elaine Lee of Greenville, Miss. She was married to Mr. Harris on July 29, 1915, in St. Louis, after a quick change in their wedding plans.

They met there by appointment, and after the ceremony continued to California for their honeymoon. Only a few months previously Mr. Harris had become vice-president of the National City Bank of New York. He formerly was vice-president of the Southern Texas Commercial National Bank of Houston, and prior to that cashier of the City National Bank of Dallas.

It was not until five years later, on May 14, 1920, that the public learned that the marriage of the busy Wall-street banker and the affectionate girl from the South was not working out very well.

On that day Mrs. Harris summoned reporters to her individual apartments at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

"I WANT LOVE MOST."

Then Mrs. Harris moved right into her discussion of her husband.

"I have everything in the world," she said. "I have all the luxuries, all the comforts; everything—except what I want most—love."

"It matters not," she continued, "whether a woman has all luxuries. She wants the companionship of her husband. But my husband is twenty years older than I and perhaps he doesn't understand. I love to ride horseback, to go to the theater, but whenever I asked for these simple pleasures, my husband would always say: 'Tomorrow, baby.'

"I know my husband didn't understand, but I wanted to be loved. Sometimes I would walk the floor all night, thinking and thinking. At times I have to take a sedative to get to sleep.

"On one occasion my husband even forgot his birthday, he was so engrossed in big business. He didn't even notice the flowers I had used to decorate the house.

"I can't tell just when the breaking point came, but finally we decided to live apart. We took up separate abodes and signed an agreement of separation.

"I hate the artificial things of life," she said. "I like the wild, natural things. I adore the primitive mode of living. My greatest delight is to dance on the sands in the cool moonlight wearing nothing but draperies. What do I want with clothes? It is the wild, abandoned freedom of nature that I crave. It is that freedom that I must have. That is one of the reasons I have separated from my husband. He is the Wall-street type of man and does not understand.

"I want a cave man."

OPERATING LOSS IS SHOWN BY RAILROADS.

JANUARY POOREST MONTH IN FIVE FROM STANDPOINT OF EARNINGS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—January, the fifth month in which the advanced freight rates and passenger fares ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission have been in effect, proved to be the poorest month of the five from the standpoint of net earnings. Complete reports have not yet been filed by all the railroads, but those that have reached the commission indicate that not more than half of the principal railroads in the United States earned a net railway operating income in that month and that the other half will show deficits.

The final figures will show a deficit in net railway operating income for the large railroads of the United States as a whole. It is estimated that this deficit will exceed $1,000,000, whereas, the same railroads in 1920 had a net railway operating income in excess of $50,000,000 in January.

Many of the railways which had a net railway operating income in January did not earn a sufficient sum to enable them to cover final charges. Final figures on the January earnings probably will be available within the next few days.

COLLISION SHIPS DOCK FOR REPAIRS.

BOTH TRANSPORT AND INVINCIBLE RETURN TO NEW YORK UNDER TOW.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The Army transport, Madawaska, badly damaged last night in a collision with the cargo ship Invincible, twenty miles northeast of Atlantic City, docked at Hoboken tonight. The Madawaska was accompanied by a tug and a coast guard cutter. The Invincible, bound for Norfolk in ballast, also returned here to undergo repairs.

A large hole in No. 1 hold beneath the water line of the Madawaska and damage to scores of steel plates will necessitate her being laid up for repairs several weeks. The transport left Manila January 11, picking up forty-six passengers, including twelve soldiers at San Francisco and in the Panama Canal Zone. Both passengers and crew escaped injury.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

High Freight Rates Serious Menace to the Citrus Industry; Business Review.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

J. A. Graves, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank in the monthly financial letter of that institution, out yesterday, claims that his prediction made several months ago that the orange growers of California would have difficulty in marketing their goods at a profit has already come true.

The country has not yet fully absorbed the idea that peace-time conditions will not support war-time labor prices. It is also perceived that the shippers of vegetables and of deciduous fruits will be in the same boat with the orange growers. There is failure, however, to put a finger on the three sore spots: the prohibitive cost of production; the prohibitive freight rates; the prohibitive prices being paid for labor.

The local business situation is summed up in this wise:

The business world has but little to complain of. There is continued activity in many lines. The building trades are busy. There has been a recession in the cost of some building materials and slight cuts in the wages of people engaged in construction work. These things will stimulate business. Wages paid by some local corporations, in hastening construction work they were engaged in, had a demoralizing effect on all classes of local labor. Some of these companies went into the market and offered enormous wages to secure men to rush their work. This bidding against the other builders of the city raised the level of all wages to undue proportions.

With some unemployment occurring, the less efficient artisans are finding it impossible to maintain the scale of wages heretofore inaugurated.

Pacific Coast products are moving more freely. Salmon, which has been a drug in the market, is being called for. There is some life in the bean trade. Canned and dried fruits and vegetables are also going out in increased quantities. Rice is yet a serious problem. The rice growers refused to sell when they could have moved their crops. Now, they have competition in Eastern American-grown rice and foreign importations. Freight rates on rice to points east of the Mississippi River seriously handicap the California growers. Cotton is also a heavy liability to its growers.

The market, while showing some improvements, is without life and the prices are low. The cotton growers of the United States overlooked the fact that, when the war ceased, the unprecedented demand for cotton for ammunition purposes and for clothing for the millions of soldiers in the field, ceased. The same rule applies to wool, as far as clothing is concerned, the market for which has been much depressed.

The general outlook is considerably better than it has been. Caution, however, still controls business movements.

PRACTICAL THRIFT.

Small savings accounts in Los Angeles banks are growing. There are more depositors today than there have ever been before. This happy condition speaks for itself because we are in the midst of a period of readjustment from the greatest spendthrift nation the world has ever known to something like a business basis. This readjustment is a difficult one for many. So difficult that in most cities deposits have been drawn upon heavily to tide it over, and total deposits generally show a decline over a year ago.

Los Angeles has met the situation admirably. She has saved her money and paid her taxes in larger volume than any other city of the first class. She is learning the lesson of thrift. While she hasn't reached the parsimonious attitude suggested by the familiar jingle of another generation she is apparently grasping the idea:

"Said one old codger,
'Will yer give me a chew?'
Said t'other old codger,
'I'll be damned if I do.
If you would save your money,
And be cunning as a fox,
You would always have terbacker
In yer old terbacker box.'"

A very encouraging thrift report has just been made to the American Bankers' Association by the school savings banking systems which shows that pupils either deposited in regular bank accounts directly or through the purchase of stamps a total of $1,691,856.55 between the opening of the present school year and February 1. The total reported for the entire school year of 1919-20 was $2,806,801.13 and owing to the failure of many operating savings banks to segregate such accounts this amount is estimated to be less than 50 per cent of the balance to the credit of pupils in the operating banks.

APPROVE SALES TAX.

Now that it has been definitely decided that tax revision is to be made a part of President Harding's call for a special session of Congress, every other man in the street has a specific for the ills of the present system, which were grievously emphasized by the morning after the night before feeling with which the taxpayer awoke yesterday after the brain-racking job of getting his report to the collector within the time limit.

Some form of sales tax seems likely to be adopted, but just how far it shall go or just what it should include is providing more varieties of argument than the relative merits of a long-term or short-term bond.

More than a dozen different trades have approved, through their association officials, a sales-tax law to replace the excess profits, surtax and luxury tax as at present imposed. There is a gradual meeting of minds between manufacturer, middlemen and retailer on the subject, and something like a concerted action on a definite program is taking form.

SEATTLE'S LEMON.

The Superior Court at Seattle has handed down a decision in a suit brought by taxpayers, which in effect again establishes the obligation of the city of Seattle to pay both the principal amount and interest of the bonds issued to acquire the street railway lines out of gross earnings of the municipal railway system and the traction lines acquired from the Puget Sound Traction Light and Power Company, and also to maintain such rates for transportation as will provide a sufficient amount to pay all operating costs and retire the bonds at maturity.

A MORNING THOUGHT.

Be it resolved by everyone: That in order to have prosperity the high cost of living must be cut, and be it further

Resolved: That the price of grain must be kept up so that the farmer can make money. That the price of cotton must be kept up so the planter will make money. That the price of wool must be kept up so the sheep raiser can make money. That rail rates and steel prices must be kept up so that the workers will not be obliged to take a wage cut. And it is further and finally

Resolved: That we will cut our cake so that all may have a large slice thereof, and that after eating the said cake, it will remain in our possession as large and lifelike as before distribution and consumption.

GAS RATE RISE.

About 400 of the more than 25,000 consumers who are customers of the Southern Counties Gas Company will be required to pay 5 cents a 1000 feet more for gas used for industrial purposes, beginning next Sunday, under an order handed down by the Railroad Commission.

The territory affected is known as the eastern district, and comprises Orange county and that part of Los Angeles county adjacent to Pomona, Whittier and Monrovia. The rates now being charged were fixed by the commission in 1918, since which time the cost of gas is said to have materially increased.

NEW RIVERSIDE INDUSTRY?

The Pope China Company has been organized and is said to be negotiating for a site at Riverside. William Pope, formerly of the Pope-Gosser China Company, but who withdrew from that organization some years ago, is the leading spirit in the enterprise.

SPRING HOLIDAYS.

FEW PRICE CHANGES ON PRODUCE MARKET.

IDAHO POTATOES AGAIN ADVANCE UNDER ACTIVE DEMAND; PEAS WEAKER.

Prices were firm and practically unchanged for most lines of fruits and vegetables on the local grain exchange yesterday, despite the fact that arrivals from the country were heavy, and the demand was limited on the part of retailers and peddlers. A slight advance was made by Idaho Russet potatoes, which were bringing from $2.85 to $3.30 per sack, a gain of about 10 cents per hundred over the prices of the preceding day. The California stock was again in slow demand, owing principally to the poor quality of the offerings. Green peas also developed a slightly weaker undertone, sales of small lots ranging from 13 to 13 cents per pound, while the poorer grades were moving at 6 cents. Mexican tomatoes continue to arrive in heavy quantities, but the quality of the offerings is poor, and considerable sorting is required.

There was practically no change in the carlot potato market. Receipts from the Shelton district were again liberal, but the movement was very dull, with prices ranging from $1.60 to $1.90 per sack. Idaho Russets were firm at $2.85 to $3.10 per hundredweight. Reports from shipping centers are likewise that the Western field condition still prevails, but prices are mostly unchanged, and shipments to Southern California continue light.

Lettuce again declined in the shipping market, the Imperial Valley stock bringing from $1.75 to $2.00 per crate, according to the quality and condition of the offerings. Large sizes are in good demand, although the inquiry from the Eastern markets was less active yesterday. Prices slumped sharply in the Eastern markets for California cauliflower, a condition attributed to the heavy shipments and to the inferior quality of the offerings.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 16.—For the first time since early this month the stock market today displayed consistent strength and breadth, many popular issues registering gross gains of 1 to 4 points.

Passing of the Federal income tax payment period without disturbance to the money market and a clearer perspective of conditions bearing on the industrial situation accounted chiefly for the more confident feeling.

Call money opened at 7 per cent on the exchange, but dropped to 6 in the last half of the session.

Another factor in the recovery was the small supply of certain speculative favorites recently under severe depression. Steels, equipments, oils, rails, shippings, motors and local tractions were conspicuous features, holding most of their advances. Sales, $25,000 shares.

Further large gold imports reported today, with others in immediate prospect, effected no perceptible alteration of the foreign exchange rates. British and French remittances were irregular on fairly large operations.

Bonds participated in the general advance of stocks, although much of the moderate activity was limited to Liberty issues, all of which were higher. Local tractions also benefited on favorable legislation at Albany. Total sales, par value, $9,875,000.

Get a Line On RICHFIELD'S Marvelous Profit Opportunities

When I first started operations in Richfield I had explicit confidence in the Outcome.

As operations progressed, my confidence grew.

When the Big Strike came, SOME people were surprised. That's because they didn't know the facts. I wasn't surprised because I did know them.

You'll have just as much confidence in Richfield's profit opportunities as I have the minute you GET A LINE on that section.

And THEN—you will realize that is

RICHFIELD EASTERN Oil Company

there is every chance in the world for your taking OUT a good MANY dollars for every one you put in.

I am offering a limited number of Richfield Eastern shares at par—$1.00. Those who followed my advice and bought Harrington-Dumas will be among the first to get in this NEW opportunity. They'll be followed closely by those who were too late for Harrington-Dumas and by those who TODAY appreciate the fact that Richfield is "California's Most Consistent Gusher Field."

Regardless of which class YOU are in, I advise getting in touch with me before the present limited allotment of shares is exhausted.

Call at my office, use the phone, or write.

Rule No. 1

You must put money INTO oil before you can take profits OUT.

No matter WHAT the merits of a proposition—regardless of how GREAT the profit opportunity—unless you PUT INTO IT, it'll be selling on and you'll get left.

It's the opportunities that are taken advantage of that bring results.

Carson Oil

Controls over 1000 acres in the center of activities on the Redondo - Hawthorne - Signal Hill Field.

Carson Oil operations are on the jump getting results, and every day getting closer and closer to the producing sands.

At least four wells are expected to be brought in before the week is over. You know what THAT means.

50 cents a Share

is a remarkably low price for Carson Oil Company stock, considering the fact that the Big Boom is expected to break any minute.

Get Carson Facts—then Buy Carson stock. Our colored map and folder sent on request. But I advise your sending check TODAY that you may be IN when the big thing comes off.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

three-day Easter vacation to the hard-worked toilers of the "street."

REPUBLIC PETROLEUM.

Republic Petroleum's Huntington Beach well will be finished with a rotary instead of a standard drill, the change having been completed and drilling resumed yesterday. Officials of the company say that the work will be facilitated in every way. The well is in 2900 feet, and should reach the sand soon. The bringing in of this well is watched with unusual interest, as adjacent territory has recently been proved up.

BETTER BUSINESS.

D. T. Babcock, resident partner of Blyth, Witter & Co., has been elected a director of the Better Business League and will represent the investment interests on the board. Mr. Babcock is much interested in the work of the organization, especially as it relates to a suppression of fake advertising and proposes to devote considerable time to this phase of the reform movement.

LOS ANGELES STOCKS.

It was a long, hard pull this year for a good many companies and individuals to make the tax return grade, and there was a feeling on the exchange yesterday that the top of the hill having been passed there should be an early reflection of easier conditions in the market itself.

Indeed there was some evidence of this for several of the leaders showed a disposition towards a higher level and trading was more brisk than it has been for some time.

Oils were especially active, both of the Unions showing an upward tendency. The Delaware company was in good demand, many feeling that the price of the past few days represented a genuine bargain. The opening yesterday was at 19.25. After a slight reaction in the morning, during which the 19.00 mark was touched, there was a sharp rally and a lively trading during the afternoon session which sent the price up to 20.00. Union of California was also stronger and sold up to 164.25.

Mt. Diablo was a good trader, selling off a point from an opening at 1.62. Mines were comparatively inactive, United Eastern at 2.47; Tom Reed at 1.25 and Virginia Louise at 22½ cents being the prime movers. Industrials were quiet and firm and bonds showed little change.

HUNTER-DULIN NOW.

The name of the Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin Company has been changed by action of the board of directors, and in accordance with previously announced determination to the Hunter-Dulin Company. The new company will retain its suite in the Van Nuys Building. The change follows Mr. Blankenhorn's retirement.

The following officers were elected: R. H. Hunter, president; Garretson Dulin and E. S. Dulin, vice-presidents; G. H. Schellenbach, secretary; P. W. Brooks, assistant secretary; R. E. Stimson, treasurer, and C. S. Greeley, manager of San Francisco office.

TICKER TICKS.

President Harding, informed by leading business men that conditions in the immediate future will see a slow improvement and revival of trade and industry.

Now $400,000,000 issue of Treasury certificates heavily oversubscribed.

Small New Jersey branch railroad employees agreed to accept reduction in wage scale thus establishing a precedent.

Studebaker earned 15.18 on $60,000,000 common stock in 1920, against 25.54 on $30,000,000 in 1919.

American Smelting and Refining earned 4.02 in common in 1920, against 2.22 in 1919. American International earned 3.56 in 1920, against 9.43 in 1919.

Average price of twenty industrials 73.87, an advance of .85 per cent. Twenty rails, 79.16, an advance of .98 per cent.

Daylight saving in New York City begins the last Sunday in April and ends the last Sunday in September.

The Trend of the Stock Market After Presidential Inaugurals

As the past in this connection has invariably served as an index for the future, it is interesting to note what the present year promises for the stock market, as is depicted by a graphic chart contained in a circular we have compiled on the outlook, which will be sent to anyone free of charge and without obligation.

Cotton Markets Open at Decline of 4 to 9 Points.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 16.—The cotton market opened at a decline of 4 to 9 points today under liquidation promoted by disappointing Liverpool cables.

There was also some Liverpool selling here, but Wall Street bought at the opening decline, while there was scattered covering on reports that the trade agreement between Russia and Great Britain had been signed and a firmer tone in the stock market. May soon sold up from 11.70 to 11.85, or one point net higher.

There was Southern selling on the early bulge, while the later cables from Liverpool were evidently a disappointment to buyers here and prices soon turned easier. Before midday May sold off to 11.55 and July to 12.15, or 10 points net lower. General business was quiet and the market was correspondingly sensitive to small orders.

Small Price Dip Followed by Advance.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—A lessening of the selling pressure, a hardening in cash wheat premiums and a small increase in the buying of all grains combined with the advance in stocks in Wall Street and in cotton all contributed to make a better feeling in grains today. There was less gloom and more real sunshine. A small dip in prices early was followed by an advance, with the close around the high point. Wheat was up 2½@3½c, corn and oats ½@¾, and rye 1½@2c. Wheat values are now on a basis to induce countries to buy wheat in this country and in Argentina. Cash premiums at the gulf have advanced 2 cents this week, and it is hard to buy wheat affecting prices. The farmers in the Southwest are not selling, although their cash sales here at Kansas City have sold a lot of wheat for export and are said to be in the market for it. Cash premiums here were ½@1c higher and all markets report hardening premiums with the exception of Minneapolis. The latter is keeping the basis for a better tone in the market and created improved buying.

Export business is still positions aggregated around one million bushels, including 500,000 bushels Manitobas and 500,000 bushels of Argentine. Then there is the 2,700,000 bushels said to have been bought in Argentina by Great Britain, Germany and Portugal at 8@8½c per bushel, cash. Great is expected to be in the market next week, having arranged credits for 1,500,000 bushels.

A removal of the selling of March by Omaha houses and by houses with New York connections was on as March over May, at which time it is was much reduced. Eastern and Minneapolis houses were liberal buyers.

Corn was absorbed by local traders and commission houses and sold by a few operators who were the best buyers the previous day. On the bulge there was selling for the leading elevator interests. In all, the market showed steadiness with the range on May 69@69½c, the nearest to intermediate figures. Export bids were the same as of late, with sellers asking ½c more.

Oats are moving with more freedom, both on Southern demand, and cash prices held well with ½c advance. Trading was not heavy and mainly in changing from May to July, at around 1¼ difference. Shipping sales were 102,000 bushels and arrivals 75 cars, an increase over a week ago and last year.

Rye advanced with other grains and decile selling by seaboard houses. No offers by exporters were noticeable.

STRONG TONE RULES ON GRAIN EXCHANGE.

The local grain market was again dull and featureless yesterday, but a firm feeling prevailed for all shipments. Support was lacking, and there were few transactions recorded during the day. The cash market, however, was 1 cent higher, as did also the transit and fifteen-day deliveries, while other near-by shipments ruled firm and unchanged at the quotations of the preceding day. A sale of ten-day barley was made at $1.32½, while the twenty-day delivery changed hands at $1.31¾. The later months were more active, with all deferred shipments ruling firm or higher. May barley was unchanged at Tuesday's level, while the August shipment showed an advance of $1.30 per ton.

PENCIL DAY CAMPAIGN YIELDS SIX THOUSAND.

THIS IS ESTIMATE MADE BY DAY NURSERY OFFICIALS WHO HEADED DRIVE.

Tough not all the returns were in from the various stations throughout this city, Long Beach, Venice and Santa Monica, it was estimated that more than $4000 was collected on the streets and more than $2000 in the banks and hotels during the "Buy a Pencil Campaign" for the St. Elizabeth Day Nursery yesterday.

During the two-day drive for the 100 or so tots that are cared for in the nursery, 500 prominent society women worked hard until 7 o'clock last night.

"The campaign was a great success," said Mrs. C. G. Bullis, assistant secretary of the organization," and we are deeply indebted to the public for its co-operation. With the money taken in, the kiddies who are left at the nursery by mothers who have to work all day will be able to get the care they need.

The nursery is at 135 North Anderson street and provides hot meals daily for the little tots at two for 15 cents or three for 25 cents. This small income helps, but is not sufficient for the maintenance of the nursery. Mrs. J. F. Farrell is president and Miss Marie Rose Mullen is vice-president.

Many mail orders for pencils have been received by the nursery officials, said Mrs. Bullis, which will take more than a week to fill.

COUNTRY PROPTY—For Sale.

FOR SALE—

CARLSBAD-BY-THE-SEA.

Land with water for irrigating and domestic use, in the most even climate in the State.

When buying land it is well to buy where the land is actually producing crops; where other ranchers, who are there ahead of you, have already demonstrated and proven what the soil will do.

At Carlsbad you have no trouble in finding out just what an acre will produce in tons, neither is it difficult to learn what prices such products were sold for. All chance of non-production is eliminated. No guesswork. What others have done you also can do. This land is selling rapidly. Better arrange to look it over soon.

HANK A TRUE SON OF TOIL.

Agricultural Secretary Dislikes Dressing Up.

Innumerable Colored Men Won't Let Him Be.

Says He is Going to Try and Try to Do His Best.

BY EYEWITNESS.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—You will like Henry Wallace, and the better you get to know him the more you are going to like him.

He speaks in clean, honest informing sentences and has a heavy, rich voice and freckles on the back of his neck.

It is a neck that has known the Iowa sun in midsummer.

His manner is thoughtful, deliberate and friendly, and his motto is:

"In Hoc Signo Vinces."

It is graven on a steel shield emblazoned with Henry seated on a reaper drawn by a Republican elephant. The neighbors in Des Moines wished the shield on him the night of the banquet given just before Neighbor Wallace started away to Washington and now it hangs to the right of his desk in the big red brick building of the Department of Agriculture at the foot of Eleventh street and beneath the long shadow of "the monument."

When Hery gets homesick—as he does—he likes to look at that shield It makes him smile.

WEARS WOOL SOX.

He wears a blue sack suit and a blue tie and a white shirt, with a narrow blue stripe in it, and gray sox that look woolen and he would be happy, busy and comfortable in that get-up from 7:30 in the morning until 10 at night (his working hours) if only colored gen'men would not pick on him.

I saw them close in on the new Secretary of Agriculture at a quarter to 1 this afternoon and rope, throw and harness him.

It was all done so swiftly and vigorously that he did not know what was the matter with him until they had him all trussed up in a black cutaway coat and striped trousers and a high hat and on his way behind jingling silver harness to a diplomatic luncheon at the Metropolitan Club.

He was just saying to me, anent immediate problems, "My job is, first to try to relieve this present situation of agricultural depression and, second, develop—if possible—a national agricultural policy to make us agriculturally a self-sustaining nation. This means—"

He got that far when a colored man, suave, but obviously with something hefty on his mind, tiptoed down the long room and bending proprietorially over the minister, said:

"Scuse me, Mister Sec'ata'y, but your frock coat—I think you'll wear your frock coat."

"Heh?" said the Secretary.

"Yes, Mister Sec'ata'y, the frock coat—luncheon, Metropolitan Club at half after one. I will bring the frock coat."

"Oh, I think not," said the Secretary. "Let 'em take me as I am."

The colored man did swift and eloquent pantomime indicative, I should say, of anguish, disfavor, solicitude and profound dejection, and I caught a moaning sound in which the words "frock coat" were audible.

The Secretary caught it all and a smile came into his kind gray eyes.

"Well, go ahead," he said.

The colored man flew.

Soon he was back with all the Cabinet regalia.

SHIRT IS CHANGED.

"Have I got to change my shirt?" faltered the chief of the department, comprising sixteen bureaus and five commissions.

"Yes, Mr. Sec'ata'y, you simply gottah—I think"—this last with the solicitude of a doting parent.

Then they deftly manhandled him. The colored man summoned handsome help and they helped Henry off his sixteen-ply throne and into a bathroom and one boy knelt at one shoe and brushed it and another boy the other foot in his lap and the Secretary's secretary—the courtly Mr. Pitts—came with a folded piece of typewritten paper and, said with solemnity, "You will wish to study that on the way." So it will be seen that the minister was getting fits from more quarters than one.

The result was that more of the subsequent review came from the bathroom.

Between gasps I heard him say, "I suppose you better bring my derby hat," and the colored man, with a heartful of guile and fashion, answered, "Yes, Mr. Sec'ata'y, I'll bring your silk hat. Jest a minute. Mr. Sec'ata'y."

Then they escorted their secretary down corridors that were sentineled by other colored men, all smiling (I guess they like him already) and there was a cry in the courtyard of "Mistah Mason."

Mr. Mason, colored and venerable, appeared grandly on the high seat of an open carriage such as Napoleon the Third attended the battle of Sedan in, and there was much prancing and stateliness directed by "Mistah Mason," and everything was getting proudly under way when Henry Wallace wrecked all the pomp and dignity by calling out "Oh, Eye, don't you want a lift?"

Mister Mason just naturally nearly died of mortification, but the Secretary—he only leaned back in the imperial go-cart and sighed.

IF THEY COULD SEE HANK.

"I guess each of these boys wants his particular secretary to be just as fancy as any other secretary."

And my thought was "Gosh, if Adair county, Southwestern Iowa, could only see Hank Wallace now."

He opened the typewritten paper and began studying the list of "His Excellencies" he was to meet at the luncheon.

There was less preliminary bluff about getting to Henry Wallace than there has been about getting to anybody else in this series, and about Henry Wallace himself there was no fluff at all.

He did not talk big about the big things to be done but he did, as he mused along in his deep, rich, steady tones, disclose an unthetarical sense of duty and responsibility. He was going to try and try his best and if that best was not good, well he had never forgotten a thing his father once said concerning a certain boy's school report and that was "My son, if that's the best you can do that's very well, but if you could have done better and didn't then you haven't measured up."

I have the notion that this stocky, red-haired, freckled man, with the busy red eyebrows and the two thoughtful wrinkles in his forehead and the comfortable, double chin and his father's old gold watch in his pocket, is going to measure up, if only they don't devil him by dressing him up more than once a day.

WOMAN SEEKS ESTATE OF ERNEST DESCAMPS.

THOUGH TOLD MARRIAGE WAS FRAUD, HOLDS SHE WAS HIS LAWFUL WIFE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, March 16.—Based on six years of life with the late Ernest Descamps in the belief that she was his lawful wife, Jeanne Descamps filed claim in the Circuit Court yesterday as sole heir to the $70,000 estate of Descamps. Descamps's mysterious disappearance Feb. 5, 1920, has never been explained, though quarters of a human body, partially identified as his, were discovered the week following, wrapped in newspapers, in different sections of the city.

Though she admits that Descamps told her in November, 1916, that his purported marriage to her May 3, 1910, was a fraud, Mrs. Descamps avers that under the law she was his wife and as such is the lawful claimant to his estate.

"DREAM HUSBAND" IS IN HANDS OF OFFICERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AURORA (Ill.) March 16.—The Rev. Maurice Bodine of Chicago, the "dream husband" of Ida Ghasshagel Bodine, an Aurora dressmaker, has been arrested at Rosston, Okla., after a long search. He was conducting a revival meeting. His wife, who says she was led to become his bride by a dream that her future husband would come to her door and ask to be taken in as a roomer, signed the complaint against him.

The two were married September 1, last, a few weeks after Bodine first appeared at the mistress's door. Three months later he drove away in her new automobile and disappeared. Advices do not say whether the automobile has been recovered. Bodine will be brought back to Aurora.

SEARCH FOR PEDDLERS OF SOVIET LITERATURE.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Police and agents of the Department of Justice today began a search for distributors of pamphlets found last night along the Brooklyn water front reading, "Stand by Soviet Russia."

The pamphlets, purporting to be issued by "The Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party of America," declared that "success of soviet Russia meant social revolution in America."

PREDICTS ANOTHER WAR.

Sir Philip Gibbs Asserts Europe is Repeating Her Mistakes.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—Sir Philip Gibbs, lounging casually in a Blackstone Hotel chair today, talked casually of the world and its troubles. Sir Philip is an English journalist whom the war made famous. But more than that, he is English sanity with a refillable fountain pen in its waistcoat pocket. His words are the symbols of a cool disillusionment. An emotionless pessimism, with its eyebrows slightly raised, a detached shrug of the shoulders give an outline to his manner.

Thus, smiling mildly, Sir Philip, who has been through the war, who has had his journalistic eye at the keyhole of world events for many turbulent years, answers a question saying: "There will be another great European war rather soon, you see! The world has not moved forward as a result of the recent war.

NO PROGRESS MADE.

"It's exactly where it was before the war. Europe is repeating rather faithfully all its old mistakes. The balance of power notion is once more predominant in the minds of European statesmen despite the fact that the balance of power idea of order plunged the continent into the last debacle. The Franco-Polish alliance and all the other alliances which are being formed secretly or openly merely mean that the continent is choosing sides again for another tussle."

After this Sir Philip discussed Germany.

"Don't, for heaven's sake, make me out pro-German," he explained, "because I'm not. I'm no more than a journalist who tries to acquire facts coolly.

"Your present trouble here in America is due to the collapse of your European market—Germany, Austria, Russia and the other countries that are down. It is the same with us in England. The French idea of utterly obliterating Germany is in defiance of every-day economic science. If Germany is wiped out economically—and it may be wiped out as a result of the reparations tactics of the Allies—it will mean that the rest of Europe also will sink into a state of social and economic decay. Because if the war taught one thing it taught that no one nation can go it alone but every nation is dependent upon every other nation for its existence."

On America, Sir Philip was not so outspoken, his two months' sojourn in the country having not been sufficient, evidently, for detailed impressions. He thought President Harding would enter European politics and that the world congress of nations to be called by the President was merely the League of Nations under another name. He thought also that America would have to play its part in the readjustment of Europe and the nationalistic isolation was something of a political catchword which world events would prove farcical.

BOY CONFESSES DOUBLE MURDER

Seventeen-Year-Old Gunman Breaks Down in Jail.

Refuses Names of Partners in Cleveland Killings.

Says Never Got His "Split" of Looted Pay Rool.

Confronted by Chief of Detectives Charles N. Sterling of the Cleveland police and County Prosecuting Attorney E. C. Stanton of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, Sam Purpera, 17-year-old gangster, automobile thief, burglar, gunman and murderer, yesterday broke down in his cell in the City Jail and confessed his part in the killing of George Fanner and W. W. Sly in Cleveland on December 31. The youth refused to name other members of the gang and stated that he had never received his "split" of the $4200 taken from the automobile of the murdered men.

"Yes, I did some of the shooting," stated young Purpera in his confession. "We drove Sly's automobile into the railing of a bridge and wrecked it. Sly drew his revolver and pointed it at me and I talked him out of shooting, telling him the whole thing was just an accident. When he put the weapon away we opened fire and Sly and Fanner both fell. We grabbed the money and made our get-away. I came to Los Angeles. I never got my split of the loot. Don't ask me the names of the rest of the gang because I won't tell you. I don't know where they are now anyway. There were seven of us altogether."

Purpera was taken into custody last Friday by Detectives Raymond, Erven and Hickok of the theft bureau of the Automobile Club, at Fourth and Main streets. At the time the youth was in possession of a stolen automobile and had with him John Reynolds, a friend. After the arrest the officers recognized Purpera from a circular issued by the Cleveland police, as wanted for murder. Up to yesterday Purpera denied any part in the double killing in Ohio.

According to the Cleveland officers Purpera, as the leader of a gang of gunmen, held up an automobile driven by W. W. Sly of the Sly Foundry Company of Cleveland and after shooting Sly and the foundry manager, George Fanner, escaped with the pay roll amounting to $4200. The shooting and robbery took place at 11 a.m. December 31 on a bridge near the outskirts of the city after Sly's automobile had been crowded into the curbing of the bridge.

Purpera will be returned to Cleveland as soon as the necessary extradition papers arrive from Sacramento. The three local officers who arrested the youth will receive $8500 in rewards, offered by various associations in Cleveland.

MANY REPRISALS PILE UP FOR BLOW ON NOSE.

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine Haled to Court Twice; Slander and Disbarment Actions Planned as Well.

A blow planted by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine upon the nose of Attorney Paul Schenck in Superior Judge Willis's court yesterday morning during the trial of E. A. ("Big Hutch") Hutchings on a $50,000 grand larceny charge, is to echo in the form of a recall, resound in formal charges to be filed with the Bar Association, and reverberate in the various and sundry court actions already started and planned.

This statement was made last night by Mr. Schenck after a series of spectacular episodes in which fists, words, statements and threats of gunplay mingled fast and thick with complaints, warrants, escapes and citations, all growing out of the personal encounter between Mr. Woolwine and Mr. Schenck, which temporarily brought the Hutchings trial to and end and caused a sensation seldom equaled in the Los Angeles courts.

When the last puff of legal smoke cleared and the final words from the opposing sides died away, the net results showed that the Hutchings trial was continued until tomorrow, Mr. Woolwine was cited for contempt, had been arrested on one charge and placed under technical arrest on another, and was threatened by Mr. Schenck, the complainant on the other charges, with a suit for slander, and with proceedings before the Bar Association.

He was released on his own recognizance on both charges, and will have to appear before Police Judge Chesebro today on the disturbing-the-peace charge, before Judge Willis Friday on the contempt proceedings, and before Judge Chesebro again Saturday on the battery charge.

The slander suit, Mr. Schenck said, will be for $100,000 and will be based on the remarks made by Mr. Woolwine in the courtroom immediately preceding the blow, and also upon other remarks made by Mr. Woolwine during the afternoon.

QUESTIONS CAUSE IT.

The affray which led to a complaint being issued against Mr. Woolwine, accusing him of assault and battery, happened just after Judge Willis had left the bench and retired to his chambers in the Hutchings case. The jurors had left their box and were grouped about the door to the jury-room.

Prior to the adjournment of court Mr. Woolwine had taken his seat and leaning towards Mr. Schenck, at his right, with several attorneys intervening, said, "You ——— ———."

This remark was brought about by a question asked of John B. Norris, who charges he was bunkoed out of $51,000 by Everett A. ("Big Hutch") Hutchings and Hugh Trainor, in an asserted fake stock deal.

Mr. Schenck asked if one of Mr. Woolwine's investigators had been staying at his home. Mr. Norris said they had not, but admitted one had slept there the night before.

"As a matter of fact," asked Mr. Schenck, "Mr. Woolwine told you day before yesterday at noon, did he not, that, if you would come up here and testify against this man, he would assure you that you would get your money back?"

"No, sir," replied the witness.

"Didn't he say that to you and your wife?"

Mr. Woolwine objected, saying, "I want an objection here, your honor. This creature here who is accusing me of any such an infamy as that ought to be reprimanded."

Mr. Schenck: "Yes, I will ask the question."

"Mr. Schenck," said the court, "unless you have witnesses to prove that, why, it is a very improper question."

A discussion arose as to who had informed Mr. Schenck, and he stated he had been reliably informed.

"Well, you prove that, or you will account to me for it," said Mr. Woolwine.

"Yes, any time," said Mr. Schenck.

"Yes, right now."

"All right," replied the defense attorney.

The court then ordered an adjournment. Mr. Woolwine got up and walking to the side of Mr. Schenck, who was seated with his legs crossed, said, "What do you mean by asking a question like that?"

"I have been credibly informed that the conversation I referred to took place at the District Attorney's office," said Mr. Schenck.

"Show me the infamous liar who told you," asserted the District Attorney.

"I will put him on the witness stand at the proper time," replied the attorney.

"Now, tell me what you think. How do you feel about it?" demanded Mr. Woolwine.

"My personal opinion has nothing to do with it at all. That has nothing to do with it at all, Tom."

Mr. Woolwine then drew back and struck Mr. Schenck a blow between the eyes with his fist. A rush followed. Hubert Kittle rushed to Mr. Schenck's side, as did the attorney's associate, Richard Kittrelle. A number of men held back Mr. Schenck, while Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Investigator James Smith restrained Mr. Woolwine. During this altercation, as in a later one, Judge Willis was not in the courtroom.

"You are a dirty coward to strike me while I am sitting down with my glasses on," shouted Mr. Schenck, as he struggled with the men restraining him.

Judge Willis later resumed the bench and declared a recess until afternoon, but took no cognisance of the altercation at that time.

The swearing out of the warrants by Mr. Schenck before the City Prosecutor followed immediately.

TRIES "ESCAPE."

Mr. Woolwine's appearance in Police Judge Chesebro's court on Mr. Schenck's battery charge, where he entered a plea of not guilty and was told that his case will be set for trial Saturday morning at 10 a.m., came after an "escape" from the arresting officers, by means of a clever ruse executed by Dist.-Atty. Woolwine and his chief deputy, W. C. Doran.

After his arrest by Sergt. Phillips and Patrolman Ferguson in Judge Willis's courtroom, Mr. Woolwine asked the courtesy of being permitted to go to his office on the eleventh floor of the Hall of Records for a few minutes before going to the Police Court to be arraigned. This was granted and the party went to the District Attorney's office.

Mr. Woolwine retired to his private office, leaving the officers waiting outside in the long hall on which the office faces. Mr. Doran was called into consultation and after a few minutes, Detective Phillips was asked to enter. Presently he came out, remarking to Officer Ferguson that Mr. Woolwine wished to have someone else go to court in his place. The warrant for arrest, however, left no alternative for the officer except to bring "him," referring to Mr. Woolwine, into court.

Another period of waiting for Phillips and Ferguson. Then Mr. Doran appeared at a door opening into an anteroom adjoining Mr. Woolwine's private office and called to the officers, inviting them inside.

POISON FOUND IN BODY OF WOMAN; QUIZ ORDERED.

Chemical Analysis Discloses Presence of Cyanide in Viscera; No Mystery in Matter, Widower Declares.

An inquest over the body of Mrs. Mary Edna Smith, 25 years old, an employee of a local department store, and a full investigation into the circumstances surrounding her death were ordered by Acting Coroner Williams yesterday. This action was taken after a chemical analysis had disclosed the presence of cyanide in the viscera of the young woman.

While the official inquiry will not begin until some time today, it was admitted by those in charge of the case that the investigation had been ordered when the post-mortem failed to disclose the cause of death. The post-mortem, according to Mr. Williams, was held in view of the fact that the Coroner was informed that Mrs. Smith's life was insured.

Prof. Arthur R. Maas, chemical expert for the Coroner's office, admitted last night that he made the analysis, but refused to discuss any of the details of the case, other than state that his examination disclosed the presence of cyanide.

Raymond W. Smith, the widower, denied by telephone last night that there had been any mystery in the death of his wife, or that poison was found in her viscera. He said that he talked with Coroner Williams on this subject. Mr. Williams stated that he had not said there was no poison found in the body, and added that he desired to hear the stories of all persons connected with the case, and that these stories will be told before the Coroner's jury.

Other relatives of the woman stated last night that they desired the investigation for the purpose of clearing up the circumstances of Mrs. Smith's death. They said the young couple had been married about two years. They declared they did not believe that Mrs. Smith had voluntarily swallowed any poison.

According to the records at the W. A. Brown undertaking establishment, where the body now is, Mrs. Smith died last Monday. The body was sent to Los Angeles from the Huntington Park Undertaking Parlors, where it was taken from the woman's home at 190 South California street. Bell.

R. E. Wheat, of the Huntington Park undertaking company, who took the body out of the house, said last night that he was called there by Mr. Smith; that the body was in a chair some distance from the breakfast table. Mrs. Smith, to all appearances, was stricken while eating breakfast, Mr. Wheat said. There were an egg, toast and coffee on the table. The young woman apparently rose from the table and just had time to drag herself to the chair, where Mr. Wheat found the body.

According to Mr. Wheat, he was told that Mr. Smith rose about 6 o'clock that morning, as was his habit, prepared his own breakfast and then called Mrs. Smith. He left the house and Mrs. Smith is believed to have cooked her own meal. She was to go to work later, but failed to appear at the store. When she did not call her mother, Mr. Smith was notified and he went to their home and found the body, Mr. Wheat was told.

PHONE TOLL REMOVAL IS REQUESTED.

Glendale Wants War Extra Taken off; Company Closes Case for Increase.

Seeking relief from a phase of government wire control established during the World War, attorneys for the city of Glendale will appear before the State Railroad Commission this forenoon and ask that collection of telephone tolls between Glendale and this city be discontinued.

Glendale will set up the assertion that the 10-cent toll was added under government control of telephones and telegraph lines during the war, after the State Railroad Commission had refused to grant permission for it.

Residents of Glendale contend that under the present system it not infrequently costs them upwards of $25 per month to transact their urgent business by telephone, because so many calls go through the Los Angeles exchange.

In the closing session on the Southern California Telephone Company's application for an increase in rates yesterday, company officials established the fact that business [illegible] $51,707 short of an even break in January, and that the month's revenue was $12,000 less than actual operating expenses.

In submitting their case to the commission, officials of the telephone company said that industrial disaster would overtake the rapidly-growing city of Los Angeles unless the company could secure a rate which would make its business self-sustaining.

BURNED AS FIRE EATS MORTGAGE.

Three Elks Are Injured by Explosion During Antlered Herd's Ceremony.

Three members of the local Elks' Lodge were seriously burned last night by an explosion when the antlered herd gathered at the site of their new clubhouse at Eighth and Flower streets to burn the mortgage. They are Oscar L. Bailey, an electrician, of 1260 West Third street, Lieut. E. M. Hague-wood of the fire department, who resides at 6332 Denver avenue, and Edward L. Mensiick, a clerk, of 1348 Wright street.

They were taken to the Receiving Hospital by brother Elks in private machines. Police Surgeon Carlin found that they all had first degree burns on the face, necks, hands and forearms, and administered first aid to them. Later Mr. Bailey was taken to the Clara Barton Hospital and the others were removed to their homes.

Before the paper evidence of the former debt was destroyed there was an entertainment. Classic dancers glided about the pit wherein the fire was to be built, indicating indecision and worry over the debt on the lot; then the members of the lodge began marching across the site, headed by the Elks' Band drill team, and as each man passed the pit he cast a fagot on the fire.

The dancers once more made their appearance, again registering indecision, but as the mortgage was thrown on the fire the band broke into a happy air and the dance became one of joy.

Several prominent members of the lodge made short talks, telling of the ambition of the Elks as an organization, what the association has done in the past and what it purposes to do for the continuance of Americanism.

With the destruction of the mortgage the Elks are now free of all indebtedness on their new home site and will proceed with the erection of a building which is to cost approximately $1,500,000.

ADOPT "TIMES" SLOGAN.

The Associated Secretaries of Southern California, for their regular meeting to be held at noon today at the City Club, have chosen the slogan, "Greater Southern California, Straight Ahead!" as the theme of the program. Carl Rosenberg, efficiency expert, will be the principal speaker.

Feeder Line to Cut Rates for Coast Farmers.

A local coastwise feeder line touching at Santa Barbara, Ventura and Hueneme and picking up freight at these points designed for eastern and foreign ports, has just been started by the Vaquero Line, a subsidiary of the Vail Company here. Regular sailings will be made and connections will be provided with all steamer lines making the local port.

According to C. P. Visel, general manager of the line, great savings in freight will result in the operation of the steamer. The coast region between this city and Santa Barbara is one of the richest agricultural sections in America and it is to handle the products of the ranches that the service has been inaugurated.

A saving of approximately $3 a ton over rail rates for beans, lemons, dried fruits, sugar beet pulp, fertilizers and lubricating oil is promised by the service, as the ship will deliver the products direct to the dock of the outbound line. The Vaquero, one of the first large ships built at the local port, will be used.

SHIPS FOR SAN DIEGO.

Isthmian Line Resumes Service With "Harbor of the Sun."

Norton, Lilly & Co., general agents for the Isthmian Line steamships, announce that their line has resumed service with San Diego and will give that port regular calls.

H. W. Deas, formerly with the American-Hawaiian Line and the Pacific Motorship Company, has been appointed agent at San Diego, with offices in the Spreckels Building.

Since the war, San Diego has been without regular steamship service and the Isthmian is the first of the interoceanic transportation companies to extend schedules to include the southern city.

LEGION MAN IS HELD.

Must Answer to Charge of Taking Funds of Post Here.

Sidney F. Schumacher, formerly adjutant of Los Angeles American Legion Post, No. 8, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Baird on five charges of defrauding the post out of $370. Upon motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts, who is also commander of the Department of California of the American Legion, the defendant's bail was reduced from $3000 to $1500. The defendant made a statement saying he was satisfied that in the prosecution against him no animus was shown.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT IN SMASH.

Lancaster Doctor Crushed as Car Turn Turtle; Man and Wife are Injured.

Dr. F. J. O'Reilly of Lancaster was killed and Mr. Gray, proprietor of the Elizabeth Lake Hotel, and his wife were seriously injured at about 9:30 last night, when the automobile in which they were riding turned over on the new highway, one and one-half miles north of Acton. There were no witnesses to the accident and information regarding it is meager. Dr. O'Reilly was driving.

Sam Johnson, in charge of construction work on the new highway, was the first to learn of the wreck. He succeeded in getting Mr. and Mrs. Gray from beneath the car. Dr. O'Reilly, however, was pinned so tightly that Mr. Johnson had to go to Acton for assistance. When he returned the doctor was dead.

The tire marks in the roadway indicate the car skidded several feet before it turned over. The general opinion is that the brakes of the machine locked and as the driver attempted to turn a corner the rear wheel slid and the car then upset. The injured persons were removed to Acton, where their condition is reported to be critical.

RENT STRIKERS HOLD "PROTEST MEETING."

The days may come and the days may go but the rent strike will go on forever, or at least until the landlords of Los Angeles who have increased their charges comply with the ordinance passed by the City Council whereby they can realize a profit of only 11 per cent on their land investments and 17 per cent on furnishings.

Though several specific charges were made against landlords by several rentpayers, such was the general sentiment of a "protest meeting" of the Temple district of the Tenants' Protective Association last night in the Alpine-street school.

Walter Gould Lincoln, attorney for the association; W. C. Steele, president; William Mervis, manager for the Temple district, and Edward Roberts, editor of It, addressed the meeting.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

THE MISERLY HUSBAND.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

The question that I am asked oftener than any other is this:

"What can I do with a tight-wad husband?"

Heaven only knows. I give up the conundrum. If I could solve it I would not only be a female Solomon, but the greatest benefactor that my sex has ever known, for there is no other one thing that wrecks the matrimonial happiness of woman more than parsimony.

The first time that many a romantic bride discovers that her idol has feet of clay is when she has to reach for his pocketbook and finds out that it has a Yale lock on it that it takes an expert burglar with a jimmy to pry open wide enough to get a few pennies out of it.

Most men, thank God, are generous to their wives. Some are even too lavish and give their wives more than they can afford to give them, but there is no denying that there are a large number of men who support their families grudgingly and who make their wives' lives a torment to them through their stinginess.

These men never give their wives an allowance. They have everything charged on bills on which they keep an eagle eye, and when the first of the month arrives and the bills come in, there are scenes, and storms and abuse and vituperation that frighten the poor wives half to death. These men act as if their wives had eaten every particle of food on the grocery bill, and monopolized all the light and heat represented on the gas bill, and that they are responsible for the children wearing out their shoes, and getting sick and having to have the doctor.

Why men, who are not willing to pay for the upkeep of a home and the necessary expenses of a family ever get married, is a mystery. They do, however, and their unfortunate wives are expected to work miracles and set a good table and present a good appearance without money and without cost, and when they fail to achieve the impossible, they have to bear the brunt of their lord and master's agony at parting with what is dearer to him than his heart's blood.

In the end, a man has to pay the absolutely necessary household expenses for his family. The law compels that, but it is amazing the number of men who never give their wives a cent to spend as they please, and for which they do not have to give an account.

I get hundreds of letters a year from women who tell me that they have never had a dollar of their own since they were married. Some of them say that their husbands are rich, and they have old mothers or sick sisters that they would like to help, but cannot. Others say that their husbands dress finely, but they have to make their own clothes, and look so shabby that their husbands are ashamed to be seen out with them, and all testify to the humiliating and degrading scenes they have to go through when they ask for money.

Yet these women all work in their homes. They cook, and clean, and scrub, and sew, patch, and darn, and hunt bargains, and raise families, and perform services so varied and great, that it would cost a man hundreds of dollars a month to have done by substitutes. It doesn't take long to run up a bill for household labor these days when competent cooks get from $20 a week up, and wash-ladies demand $4.50 a day, and trained nurses and baby specialists are worth their weight in gold, and seamstresses are pearls of price.

This makes all the more unjust the attitude of the man who in common parlance, holds out on his wife, and refuses to give her the money that she has earned in his own kitchen and nursery, to say nothing of the higher obligations he has towards her as her husband.

But, as Mr. Cleveland airily observed, "It is the condition and not the theory that confronts us." Here is the miserly husband, and here is his defrauded wife, and she wants to know how she can go about collecting what is owed her.

The best way to deal with a tight-wad husband is not to marry him at all. In picking out a husband, one of the things a girl should be surest about is to see that she isn't getting a stingy one. Observe how a young man reacts toward money.

If he carries his pennies in a change purse, if he haggles over every cent on a bill, if he lets you pay your car fare when he meets you on the street car, if he is always so slow in getting out his pocketbook that he lets somebody else in the crowd pay, if he carries a little book and puts down in it every cent he spends, pass him up. He will make one of the kind of husbands you have to chloroform before you part him from the price of a hat.

Then, a girl is a fool who deserves all she gets, if she does not have a definite money understanding with the man she marries before she marries him. Don't ask a man if he is sure he will always love you and if he will never marry if you die. Ask him how much of his salary he thinks a man should give his wife to keep house on, and what are his views in regard to a wife's having her own individual purse.

But many a man who is a lavish spender during his courtship is a miserly husband. Many a man makes his wife pay in pinching economies after marriage for the gifts and good times he gave her before marriage. How is such a woman to deal with her close-fisted spouse?

Generally such a man's pride is his weak spot. He trusts to his wife's being ashamed to let other people know how niggardly he is, and nine times out of ten his wife could make him come across beautifully by assuring him that she would go out and get a job, even if she had to cook in somebody else's kitchen, rather than haggle with him over every penny. Instead of getting appropriate clothes, at the price of her husband's abuse, let her shame him by her shabbiness and tell their friends that he refuses to give her any dress money, and he will save his face by handing over a decent allowance, for no man wants to endure the withering contempt we all feel for the stingy.

If these tactics fail, a woman is justified in leaving a tight-wad husband, and going to work for those who will reward her services with a pay envelope. She has everything to gain and nothing to lose by so doing, for the hardest work, and the worst paid in the world, is working a tight-wad husband.

Making More Money

Knowledge of Amateur Photography Proves Life-Saver for Widow and Her Flock.

JUST about six years ago, when Mrs. Charlotte Fairchild was up against the blank wall of financial disaster—the sudden death of her husband having left her with three small children to care for—her friends began to advise her about ways in which she could support herself, as friends have a habit of doing.

"You have an eye for the artistic," one of them reminded her. "Why not go in for interior decorating? Elsie De Wolfe has made a fortune out of it, you know."

"Yes," countered Mrs. Fairchild, "and Elsie De Wolfe is one woman in a million. No, thank you. Interior decorators are becoming so common that they are saying that whenever a husband dies another interior decorator is born, in the person of his widow."

"Why not try writing, then?" hazarded another.

"That's too precarious and it takes too long to get adequate returns. I must have immediate money—and I think I know how I can make it. I'm going to open a photographic studio."

"A woman photographer!" All the members of the advisory council held up their hands in horror at the thought. But, almost from the beginning, Mrs. Fairchild proved that she was as right as they were wrong. She knew photography. She had had a camera when she was twelve years old and had never been without one since that time—experimenting, studying, working always toward the goal of pictures that were not only beautiful but filled with character. So, when the first Fairchild studio was opened in a room on Boyston street, in Boston, Mrs. Fairchild was not long in proving that people were willing to pay well for beautiful and characterful photographs.

Three years later she had accumulated sufficient capital to move to New York and rent a much more pretentious studio just off "the avenue," and now one has to make an appointment well in advance, for Mrs. Fairchild's idea has worked out even better than she had hoped—and planned—that it should. There is no longer the slightest doubt of her success.

GASOLINE ALLEY—TREATING HIM ROUGH

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

About Spiritual Healing.

HOLLYWOOD, March 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The report in today's Times of some remarks of Rev. Henry Stauffer on the subject of "Faith as a healer" presents some statements which are interesting and amusing. It is sad to find a preacher of the gospel so utterly to fail to present any light on the subject of true healing. Mr. Stauffer says: "Unfortunately, the church in too large a degree has surrendered its original function of healing to the medical profession" and "the present crisis demands on the part of the church a frank restatement of the full message of Jesus to the body and soul," and then he says, "The sensible ministers will continue to advise people to employ the trained medical expert."

Now if preachers are not healing the sick through their sermons it is because they are not voicing the truth, and this is because their theology is false, as St. Paul says, referring to this class, "having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof." Any minister who is really acquainted with God will never turn the sick over to a matter physician.

To say that the alert physician will advise his patients to take advantage of the stimulating atmosphere of any church that offers the public a positive, optimistic message" is hardly true; that would exclude most churches and the one that is doing it is opposed by both the preachers and the doctors and the one that is doing it is opposed by both the preachers and the doctors who have divided the seamless robe between themselves, the preachers doing the talking and the doctors doing the dosing. Mr. Stauffer having admitted that "faith, hope and love alone can heal a sick individual," then why not administer these instead of drugs.

Our preachers are sadly lacking in consistency and logic.

R. NIMMO.

About Local "Eats."

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your article of some days ago, relative to the high prices of food in the restaurants in Chicago, upon investigation, would find a prettly loud echo in Los Angeles. The cafeterias have always had the credit of giving more for the money invested, yet a close analysis of their apparent profits should encourage the Chicago man to change his location.

On some of the signs outside the doors you may see "roast beef, 35 cents." This means one slice weighing not over three ounces, which you can readily see means no less than a $1.75 for a pound. This same slice of meat could be had at the best cafeteria in this city before the war for 10 cents. The large amount of fish costs the customer 25 cents, which enables Mr. Cafeteria to get $1.25 for a pound of fish that is caught almost at the back door of the city. (The fish is not the only one that's hooked in the transaction.)

A head of lettuce that costs 5 cents at retail, is made into three orders by adding a little tomato to give it color and a little dressing to moisten it, and sold for 15 cents an order; grand total, 45 cents.

The Jap that raises it, is certainly not the only one that is robbing the people. If you will take the trouble to figure it out, you will find that Mr. Consumer is paying something like $24 a bushel for his mashed potatoes, and $40 a bushel, if he wants to get reckless, by taking an order of sweet potatoes.

It is difficult to make an estimate on deserts, and because of that, there is where you get it under the fifth rib.

But it doesn't require much of a mathemetician to know that a pie cut to bring $0 or 90 cents, with apples, pumpkins, flour and sugar at the present prices, "is going some."

The entire menu, from "soup to nuts," could bear the same inspection (?,) but I am taking more space already than I intended.

I do not want to leave the impression that I am a "knocker" on things pertaining to California, on the contrary I am called the "booster" by my friends. But if there is not a radical change in the rents and other necessities by next winter, those who have been here this year will have scattered the glad news (?) so thoroughly that the principle topic of conversation in Los Angeles the coming season will be the

She told the court her husband never supported her. She lived either with her mother or with her husband's family, she declared.

CITY WINS NEW FACTORY.

A new industry has selected Los Angeles for its seat of operations, expecting to begin manufacture of its product by July 1. This is the All-In-One Company, makers of enameled metal and porcelain sanitary fixtures, bath tubs, lavatories and toilets, with special emphasis on newly invented all-in-one features, which combine hidden piping and valves with the fixtures themselves.

The All-In-One Company is capitalized for $1,000,000, has bought ten acres at the corner of Slauson avenue and Downey Road and will begin at once the erection of a plant covering nearly all the ground space. Half of the capitalization has been paid in and will cover operation of the first unit of the plant which will be rushed to completion.

It is expected that this new industry will employ in the neighborhood of 400 hands, many of them skilled, and will be an important addition to the city's growing industrial community. Temporary local offices have been established on the fifth floor of the Marsh-Strong Building, pending erection of the plant, when general offices will be maintained in connection with the works.

Edgar E. Wiker, secretary-treasurer of the company, is in charge of offices and construction. The realty transactions were negotiated through the offices of the Roy C. Seely Company.

The donations telegraphed yesterday were divided as follows: First National Bank of Ontario, $400; First National Bank of Los Angeles, $316; Security Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles, $50; Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, $157; Bank of Italy, $1, and individual donations, $367.

His two little daughters, he asserts, are pleading for her return. Mr. Langham says that he thinks his wife started either for Phoenix, Ariz., or for Canada.

Ashley of the present Board of Education will be candidates for re-election, a bank petition for these members having been taken out yesterday for the necessary 500 signatures to secure for them places on the ballot at the May 3 primaries. Filled petitions were filed yesterday for checking by R. S. ("Cupid") Sparks for City Council and M. C. Bettinger for Board of Education. Checking of filed petitions up to last night showed that Mayor Snyder will have a place on the ballot as candidate for re-election and City Attorney Stephens's petition was also certified as containing the necessary number of signatures of qualified voters.

CAN DO.

A Hindoo farmer in Imperial Valley has gone into bankruptcy owing $20,000. No matter how much a Hindoo kin do he could hardly do this in his native land.

A DROP IN THE BUCKET.

Back in Wisconsin milk has gone down to the old price of seven cents a quart and the cows are still contented. They make a lot of butter and cheese in Wisconsin, but there seems to be milk enough to go around. At any rate, here is a 50 per cent drop in the price at one swoop. It's a drop in the milk bucket worth while.

ON THE ROCKS.

The Chief of Police promises a return of the rock pile as a part of the curriculum for the enforced guests of the city. The good old rock pile had many things to commend it. Its very existence had its effect on the gentry who toil not, neither spin. Rather than work on the rock pile some of them avoided the city—much to the city's advantage. On the other hand, to those who are supposed to be under actual confinement the rock pile will furnish healthful outdoor occupation and exercise. Working on a rock pile in Southern California is better than tending bar in Vermont.

SPEAKING FOR IRELAND.

The English Premier says that his government has been ready to make almost any kind of an agreement with any man who could be recognized as officially representing a majority of the Irish people. But there is no such animal, nor does it seem possible to find him. The minute a man is put forth as a spokesman for Erin he is promptly repudiated by the other half of the island. Why not have a free Ireland on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and have her under the empire the rest of the week? That would be at least more satisfactory and representative than the present situation.

THE MIND OF A MAN.

The well-beloved Elihu Root is with us; but he is in the Southland for rest and not for conversation. When he has anything to say he says it well and it carries the impulse of authority. But having no especial message at this time he seeks a bit of that ease to which his years and services have made him entitled. The writer was once present at a round-up of President McKinley and his Cabinet as they were swinging around the circle. All were heard from—from the chieftain to the humblest Postmaster-General; but of all that goodly company Elihu Root stood forth like a lighthouse on a hill. He was not only the alert apostle of commerce and industry, but he was the statesman of far-seeing vision. He spoke with a sincerity and charm that was delightful and he became convincing through the splendor and purity of his diction. His mind was unmistakably that of one of the great ones of earth. May grace and peace be his!

KNOCKS OF THE JAZZ.

A Brooklyn jury has decided that a jazz band, playing "Black and White Blues" at 1 o'clock on Sunday morning, is a public nuisance and must be suppressed. Possibly the hour and the day had much to do with shaping the verdict, but the result is at least indicative of progress. We shall presently find a jury that will have courage enough to declare a jazz band a nuisance at any time. Thus the world will be gradually made safe for delicate ears. At the same time a lot of boilermakers who have been seeking a temporary prosperity by writing music that can be mooned through a saxophone will go back to the foundry. When a jazz band plays at the zoo all the animals show signs of anger or distress. The man on the trombone says that is the reason why we call them brutes. They haven't been educated up to the jazz standard. The hyena comes nearer to interpreting jazz than any other creature of the jungle. That is why the hyena has been suggested as the proper emblem for the jazz babies.

COLLAPSIBLE WOMEN.

Why is it that the press dispatches have to tell so much about women "collapsing" in courtrooms? The fair murderess is shown a blue necktie worn at the county fair by the step-brother of her victim and is at once led in a hysterical collapse from the temple of justice. A breath of air and a fresh wad of gum instantly revive her, however, and she is back in her seat awaiting the next "dramatic moment." More women collapse in an hour of Monday morning bargain hunting in a department store than they do in a year of court trials, but they do not get into the press dispatches. A collapse doesn't count except in a lawsuit. Then it goes double. Where there are two women on opposite sides in a murder case the one that collapses oftenest gets the verdict of the jury. A woman who can carve a man to shreds with a cavalry saber or shoot him as full of holes as a porous plaster becomes a shrinking violet in the courtroom and collapses in the presence of her victim's shaving mug. What would the sob sisters do if our lovely murderesses did not "collapse" when the prosecuting attorney offered the family album in evidence?

NAVAL MOVING DAY.

Diplomatic tongues have been set wagging in many capitals by the unofficial announcement that the entire fleet of the United States is about to be concentrated in Pacific waters. It is natural for diplomats to suspect ulterior motives in every change of policy of the government of a great power. The credulous regard the movement of our fleet from the Atlantic to the Pacific as an intimation that the American protest against the disposal, without her consent, of the former German islands in the Pacific is to be supported by a display of force.

Roosevelt recounted in his memoirs that the visit of the American fleet to the Orient during his administration was made for the purpose of giving to Japan a visible reminder that this country was prepared to resist aggression, either in Pacific Coast waters or in the Philippines. There was much inside talk at that time about a revolution in the Philippine Archipelago, to be supported by Japan, following a policy with a surface similarity to our intervention in behalf of the rebels in Cuba. Diplomats, trained to see a cause for war in hiding behind every bush, are inclined to consider the transfer of the fleet as a hostile demonstration, although they grant that no enemy is in sight.

Those who are not inclined to attach an evil motive to a change of base for our battle squadron, however, will discover, with little difficulty, that the new trend of world development is the reason for the transfer. The Times has asserted repeatedly that the future of our country lies in the Pacific. The great undeveloped territories of the earth's surface lie adjacent to Pacific shores. The control of the European coast of the Atlantic is now held jointly by Great Britain and France; and we have no more to fear from an attack from that source than an invasion from Canada. There is no more necessity for a battle fleet in the Atlantic than for fortifications along the Canadian border.

In the Pacific, however, our coasts are not so secure. Japan and Russia can neither be termed exactly peaceful neighbors; and the Philippines are far away, more than 15,000 miles by Cape Horn from the Atlantic coast. It is true that the distance is cut almost in half by the canal; but in this age of secret service and high explosives that waterway could easily be blocked.

To argue that it is beyond the range of probability that this country will have any trouble with her neighbors in the Pacific is to argue that there is no necessity for a fighting fleet at all. If we are to maintain a national navy it follows as a natural corollary that the navy should be kept in the waters where it is most likely to be needed.

Protest has already been made in the East that there are not sufficient docking facilities for the fleet on the Pacific Coast. If that be true, the surest way to prove it is to bring the fleet here while no war threatens and get first-hand information as to what the requirements would be in time of conflict. Harbor development has been rapid along the coast in the last ten years; but we have not been as zealous in providing suitable bases for our fleet as we might have been.

HER CORSETS.

A rather intimate subject, this; but the hour of parting has dawned and it is our duty to record the vital events of the times. Paris has decreed that the corset must go, after centuries of tyrannizing over the female form divine. Paris says it will be diviner without them. And so with one wave of her wand Dame Fashion achieves wherein the doctors through ages have urged but failed.

The Egyptologists tell us that corsets were de rigueur in ancient Egypt. Catherine de Medici favored them of iron; later eras ran to steel and whalebone. But for, lo, these many centuries lovely woman has been doomed to a strait-jacket. The idea seemed to be that any outward and visible indication of a feminine stomach was unlovely and therefore unfeminine. It positively must never pouch. And "il faut souffrir pour etre belle" was a dictum that every strictly civilized lady subscribed to heartily. Time was when eighteen inches round the middle was the prescribed measurement and to attain it by firm lacing husbands and bedposts were frequently called into requisition. After a couple of centuries or so of this Dame Fashion made concessions. She let them out inch by inch. Latterly a discreet twenty-seven inches, with Venus de Milo as the authority, has been permitted. Anything over the prescribed measurement at the time found the lady distrait and chagrined, explanatory and distinctly tight. No, we don't mean what you mean. But rounded plumptitude has ever been at a discount—only a Boer frau could claim superlative charms on the multitudinousness of her folds and creases.

Not that folds and creases are now comme il faut. Perish the thought! As Paris Puckishly let out and diminished the corset she never vouchsafed any amelioration for the plump with a decree for unrestricted avoirdupois. All Paris has done is to allow the ladies to show they have no stomach to show. If they have one, so much the worse for them.

It was the beginning of the end when Paris turned the stockings down below the knees. That was a blow to the corset, which had hitherto depended upon a series of mechanical elastic pulleys to maintain its poise and equilibrium and prevent it concluding the day round the neck. These pulleys, firmly attached to the stocking above the knee, formed the most dependable scaffolding. With the stocking receding from this urgent duty plump madams had an anxious time keeping the darned things down. But, even if they had to maintain one pose all day, courageous woman remained undaunted.

But now, ah, now Paris, like the Bolsheviki, has inaugurated an era of dreadful "liberty," appalling "freedom." Madam is now entirely, gloriously, hopelessly "free." Not a shackle left—beyond her own artistic conscience. It is all very well for the skinny ones, this new freedom means nothing to them. But for the plump ones—even as with the comfortable bourgeoisie class under Bolsheviki rule—they are but the suffering victims of a freedom they cannot appreciate. They may be free, but any visible possession of excess personal property reflects unpleasantly against them. And the means to conceal it with dignity and reserve has been gracelessly taken from them.

What, then, is the plump madam's fate under this new and dreadful freedom? Like the antisuffragist, it is her duty to vote. She may not approve, but she must follow. She is even now looking grimly into the immediate future and making vows of sacrificial "reducing." Nothing over 125 pounds, stomachless, foldless, bulgeless, can be tolerated under the new freedom. Never fear, she will shed every superfluous ounce, no matter what the anguish entailed. "A rag and a bone and a bank of hair" is the new standard towards which she will strive with appalling perseverance. She will exercise and jump and roll, starve, thirst, renounce to the last superfluous ounce. She will be svelte, lean, hungry, gaunt—and corsetless—a passionate conqueror of her too-generous flesh.

"Freedom, what sins are committed in thy name!"

And yet we could find it in our hearts to pay that obstructive plumptitude the tribute of a parting sigh. "Let us have dames about us that are fat—sleek, dimpled women, such as sleep o' nights. Dame Fashion has a lean and hungry look," to misquote Shakespeare for our fond and foolish tastes.

But, oh, if the parting corset must also mean the passing of curves and dimples, of the enchanting generosity, of amiable, rounded, undulating plumptitude—if it must mean the fear of laughter, pies and candied sweetness, feminine emancipation will be almost too much to bear.

NATIONAL CAPITALS AND THEIR SIGNIFICANCE.

The changes of the past decade have specially affected national and imperial capitals both in Asia and in Europe. With the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in China ten years ago, and the founding of a republic, Peking has ceased to be the center of China as it was formerly. From Peking came the edict that nearly three centuries ago made every Chinaman wear a pigtail. Today the pigtails have gone. The officials who formerly ruled things in the last instance were Manchus from the north, and so this northern city was in truth the pivot from which things in the empire moved. But today it has become rather the center of the scheming men of the north who differ in many ways from the men of the south. Inheritors of the traditions of graft and smooth rhetoric that marked imperial China, these republican leaders have played a game that exactly suits the astute Japanese diplomats, and have virtually been handing over the newly-created republic to the island intruders for their own little mess of pottage. Hence, Peking is a name that does not please patriotic Chinamen, especially in the south; and for the unification of the republic it will probably be necessary to have a capital appealing to both sections, before national unity is accomplished. Nanking was the old capital in the days when China flourished and was respected; it may again become the capital.

Such a change of capital occurred recently in the second most populous country of Asia and of the world. When Disraeli, in 1877, proclaimed Queen Victoria Empress of India, she assumed the title as the successor of the Mogul emperors, Baber, Akbar and the others, who had ruled the peninsula with might and magnanimity. The British, who became the heirs of their effete successors, largely through their control of the ocean, had made the port of Calcutta their base, from which they controlled the whole Ganges basin. But Calcutta had no traditions of empire or imperial glory; and with the opening of the Suez Canal it ceased to be the main channel of British official entrance and departure and of British prestige, Bombay—Kipling's city—taking its place in important ways. And Simla, in the Himalayas, for half the year was the seat of imperial government. And so in 1911, when George V held the first Coronation Durbar where an English Raj was present in person, he officially proclaimed Delhi, with its imperial traditions, the new capital of the Hindustan.

Another Asiatic country, in which we as American citizens are immediately interested, owes its unity and development to the wise choice of a capital. When the Spaniards from Mexico, after unsuccessful attempts to conquer the Island of the Setting Sun, as the Philippines were then called—Islas del Poniente—finally subjugated them in the Legaspi expedition of 1563, it was the wise choice of Manila as the capital of the islands that gave them their prosperity; for during Spanish occupation and rule the population grew from a scant half-million to over six millions. It is the capital of the most advanced race in the islands, the Tagalogs, who were a cultured people when the Spaniards arrived, with a written language of great merit and a literature of their own. The national hero, Jose Rizal, was a Tagalog; and if the other races unite in choosing a national language of native origin, the Tagalog tongue will be their choice. Already there are signs of such a decision; for Spanish is a back number, and English has manifest drawbacks. But the Tagalogs number no more than about 20 per cent of the population of the islands, and have not yet the power or the prestige to run things. The Bisayans of the central islands are twice as numerous and nearly as progressive; and if we were to grant complete independence at this time—which the islanders seem to desire in a sentimental and somewhat lukewarm way—anarchy might follow. It was the Spanish flag, and then the Stars and Stripes, that made Manila in every way the capital of the Philippines. Real Filipino patriots recognize this limitation; hence their lukewarmness in the demand for immediate independence.

Two imperial capitals in Europe have fallen on evil days. Perhaps the two most miserable spots on the face of that continent today are Petrograd, known for so long as St. Petersburg, and Vienna. Chosen arbitrarily by Peter the Great to be the capital of a new Russia with an officialdom that was to manage things in a modern way, the city on the Neva did not realize the main object of the choice, command of the sea. The destruction of the ill-fated fleet that sailed for the East nearly twenty years ago to whip the Japanese, was the death knell of Petrograd. Russian imperial prestige was doomed thenceforth; and today the city of the Romanoffs, associated with corrupt and inefficient officials, is slowly dying, and without seeming hope of revival.

Vienna, a brilliant imperial city, which contributed its quota to modern civilization, is also struck in a deadly way; but the nations should give her a chance of recovery. Here before the great war was perhaps the finest medical school in the world; during the last century Edinburgh looked upon Vienna as its most worthy rival. Here Beethoven was appreciated and stimulated and humored; so that from the city on the Danube came the musical strains that are dearest to the world. Nor was Beethoven alone; Haydn and Mozart also made Vienna their home. The Turkish peril that threatened to engulf Europe centuries ago when Constantinople was lost to Christendom, was turned back before the walls of Vienna. It is a great and noble city, worthy to be the capital of a new nation. As an imperial city its days are over; as a national city it should be commencing a new era. One of the great calamities that have resulted from the recent hurried carving up of Europe, is the economic starving of the Austrian capital. The arteries that gave it its life blood have been severed; and statesmen are unanimous in demanding that the patient shall not be allowed to die. Vienna is worth saving and can be saved.

THE WORLD'S QUEER WAYS.

If the world loves a lover it has a queer way of showing it. When a man and a woman begin making eyes at each other the world smiles; when they are seen in public walking closely together, holding hands or exchanging caresses, the world is convulsed, and finally when the woman walks up the church aisle and meets the frightened, haggard-looking man at the marriage altar the world bursts out laughing.—[Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

AN ARAB PROVERB.

He that knows not, and knows not that he knows not, he is a fool; avoid him.

He that knows not, and knows that he knows not, he is ignorant; instruct him.

He that knows, and knows not that he knows, he is asleep; awake him.

He that knows and knows that he knows, he is a leader! Follow him.

The Beautiful Bolshevik.

WHAT DOES MR. CHESTERTON MEAN?

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The cave man is a myth in the opinion of Mr. Chesterton.

You, of course, know all about the cave man. You know that he is your prehistoric ancestor, that he lived in a cave and carried a big club. His method of getting married was to approach the woman of his choice quietly from behind, tap her on the head with his club, and drag her by the hair to his cave.

The matrimonial method of the cave man seems to have made an immense impression on the imaginations of all who are educated enough to have heard of the cave man at all. If you have a habit of kissing girls in the face of such opposition as they may offer, you are immediately denominated a cave man. Even the gladsome flapper knows all about the cave man. It is quite common to hear her say that she likes the cave man methods.

Probably the popularity of the cave man as a historical character is due to that free-and-easy slapdash way of his, which most of us secretly admire, but are unable to practice by reason of conventions, the police and little things like that.

Be that as it may, Mr. Chesterton simply makes the point that there may never have been any cave man at all. You know all about the cave man, but how do you know that any such creature actually existed? Have you studied the evidence of his existence as carefully, for example, as you would study a bill which you suspected of being padded? You have not. You have taken the existence of the cave man on trust. You have seen him cartooned in the comic papers, you have even read novels about him. And he appeals to your imagination. Therefore you assume that he did exist. But if you looked into the actual evidence of his existence, you would find that it consisted of a few scattered bones and a great many rather speculative conclusions which the professors have deduced therefrom. As for his habit of hitting ladies over the head with a club, it is based on practically nothing, except, perhaps, your own secret yearning to do likewise. Mr. Chesterton thinks it inherently improbable that the cave man ever batted ladies over the head. And the reason he thinks it improbable is that he cannot believe the ladies have changed that much since the Stone Age. He doubts that they were ever so reluctant as to require such treatment.

THE INFLUX OF GENIUS.

At this point it might be well to pause and explain who Mr. Gilbert Keith Chesterton is. He is a famous English journalist and author who has recently been touring this country and giving lectures, as have so many other more or less eminent Englishmen of late.

Since the war it has become quite the custom for English authors to make a pilgrimage to America and recruit their finances by a lecture tour. As Mr. Chesterton remarked, the American people have a positively heroic capacity for giving and receiving lectures. He might have added that they have an insatiable curiosity as to what celebrities look like and sound like, for it is that curiosity, rather than a real interest in ideas, which recruits the audiences of British lecturers. In this respect, Mr. Chesterton gives an especially large money's worth. For he is one of the largest and most picturesque men that the race has ever produced. This statement may be an advertisement for him, but it does not make any difference, because his audiences are as large as his auditorium will hold anyway. A native lecturer in this country may sometimes have to address a good many empty seats, but let one come from abroad, let him but wear the label "European," or still better, the label "British," and he will immediately rival the movies and the Follies.

MR. CHESTERTON'S MESSAGE.

Mr. Chesterton speaks in a tone of gentle irony, and makes his points in a somewhat roundabout fashion, so that most of his readers, while mildly enjoying his witty illustrations, never catch the main idea at all. The main idea seems to be that most of us, who consider ourselves educated, really know nothing at all. It would add greatly to our dignity and sincerity if we could grasp the one simple fact that in spite of all our education we are abysmally ignorant.

You have gone to school, you have gone to college, you are called an educated man. Therefore you consider yourself competent to pass upon almost any subject that comes up. You express final and definite views on literature and art and Bolsheviki and New Thought and the League of Nations. Occasionally you will admit a sort of ignorance.

"I don't know anything about music," you will say, "but I know what I like." But you say it in a way that implies that what you like must be the last word in taste and judgment.

Now Mr. Chesterton challenges you to pause and consider how much you really know about anything. You have definite opinions about fiction. Have you ever studied it? Do you really read anything but the magazines and the best sellers? Is there actually any reason to believe that your opinion of a book is worth a whoop to anyone?

And so of politics, art, music and science. What are these glib opinions of yours actually based upon? What books have you read on these subjects? If called upon to write down all that you know about one of them, how much could you write, and what would the screed be worth?

Mr. Chesterton speaks politely, ironically, somewhat obscurely. But if his lecture was boiled down to a few direct and applicable words, we think it would be about this:

"My dear friends: You think you are knowing but you are not. Most of the things you discuss you know nothing about. And more than half of the things you know aren't so. Your wisdom is merely a collection of empty phrases and few of those are your own. The first thing for you to learn is that you don't know anything. When you have fully grasped that fact, you may begin to get the rudiments of a real education."

We went home from Mr. Chesterton's lecture feeling humble and chastened.

A Double-Acting Joke.

It was Christmas Eve, and Dinny O'Toole was just stopping work when his master approached. Anticipating a Christmas gift, Dinny rubbed his hands and said:

"I've always done me duty, sir, and I always mane to do it."

"I quite believe you, Dinny," said the boss, "and, therefore, I shall make you a present of all you have stolen from me during the year."

"Thank you, sir," replied Dinny, "and may all your business acquaintances trate ye as liberally."—[Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

Knut Hamsun's Ship Has Come Home.

"Why, sure I knew him. He was such an out-at-the-elbows lad. He was terribly poor. That was many years ago, when he came to Chicago after working as a plowboy on the North Dakota prairies.

"He got a job as conductor on one of the old horse-car lines. My, it was cold on the back platform! I still remember his chapped red wrists where his coat sleeves forgot to meet his mittens.

"And he carried books in his tattered pockets. Always books. Such a dreamer! The passengers used to get mad. He would forget to pull the rope, and they missed their corners."

Such are some of the recollections by a prominent Norwegian of Knut Hamsun, who was recently awarded the Nobel prize for literature—$50,000.

It took the world almost a third of a century to "discover" Knut Hamsun, and it took him almost as long to "discover" himself.

When fate desires a great success she sends her chosen one repeated failure. She deems it dangerous to let him ripen too fast, and she has good reason. She has seen so many who got their reward too quickly get entangled in ease's silken mesh. Realization must not come swiftly, else we cannot endure it, fall victims to fatty degeneration and ambition, and die of an acute attack of self-complacency aggravated by egotism and inertia.

Early in his teens Hamsun was apprenticed to a shoemaker, in whose shop, from morning till night, he hammered out his thoughts rather than his leather.

The boss's customers couldn't wear thoughts, so Hamsun "got the gate."

Then began Knut Hamsun's rigorous training in the University of Hard Knocks. He worked on heavy schedule, and he also took many post-graduate courses. But not because he loved his alma mater.

By the time he reached the age when most college students are sending home for remittances for a cap and gown Hamsun had been a coal heaver, school-teacher, road mender, farm hand, sailor, fisherman, lecturer and free-lance journalist.

All of which excellently qualified him to write his masterpiece, "Hunger," an autobiographical record of struggle, starvation, passion, compassion, the pawnbroker, occasional fleeting comparative success, laughter, tears and love—a fairly full sum total of an average human life and depicted with the art of genius and a soul aflame.

We are going to hear a good deal more of Knut Hamsun—we should have heard of him twenty years ago, at which time he seemed to have been securely ditched by Dame Destiny—a trick the old jade is notoriously fond of playing, especially with her future favorites. She wields a wicked stuffed club.

But Knut Hamsun has what has been called "the unconquerable soul." He had made his decision to follow the gleam, and he could but "sail on, sail on and on." No seas of disappointment could make him founder. No waves of discouragement or disillusionment could keep him under. No storms of defeat and deprivation would warp his timber.

And so Knut Hamsun's ship has come home.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

HOME BREW.

My neighbor Blitzen took some hops and herbs and roots and barks and brewed a pail of sparkling slops to banish care that carks; and then he sipped some forty drops, with eloquent remarks. "There is no reason why a hick should suffer and be dry; this brew of mine is pretty slick, it beats the stuff you buy; it has the pep, it has the kick, the potency of rye." He took another forty drops, directly from the pail, then uttered sundry warlike yawps that made me shrink and quail, and tried to whip the village cops, who bore him off to jail. The home-brew artists have no luck, this mad and merry year; through straws or garden hose they suck their nectar, amber clear, and then they're loaded on a truck and jailed for half a year. They never seem to put across the graft they've framed so well; a bowl or two they blithely toss and arch their necks and yell, and then they're seen, a total loss, in some punk prison cell. And, having seen what ills befall the home-brew sports this year, I do not fill my flagons tall with stuff that looks like beer, but to the hydrant by the wall my steps I sanely steer.

WALT MASON.

A PRESCRIPTION.

A woman went to her doctor, complained to him of her husband breaking out into violent tempers and asked if he could recommend a cure.

"The remedy," replied the doctor, "is simple. I have here an excellent water which I give to most of my patients who suffer from the same complaint. Should your husband become violent again you need only take half a cupful of the water in your mouth and hold it there for a few minutes; the warmer the water becomes in the mouth the more visibly will your husband's wrath melt away. Repeat the dose in very severe cases."

The water was ordinary well water. The result was domestic happiness. — [Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Best of News.

A Memphis lawyer entered his condemned client's cell: "Well," he said, "good news at last."

"A reprieve?" exclaimed the prisoner eagerly.

"No, but your uncle has died leaving you $5000 and you can go to your fate with the satisfying feeling that the noble efforts of your lawyer in your behalf will not go unrewarded."—[Lawyer and Banker.

Sales, Novel Modes and Shop Windows Show Spring Has Arrived.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-Datest:

Lacet sweaters—in shapes long or short, in modish colors and sometimes enhanced by ornate borders formed from hand-carved beads of wood, in a matching color or in contrast, these sweaters are among the most luxurious shown for the new season. The material—a sort of ribmosene—comes in both pure silk and in an English fiber closely resembling silk.

Quilted satin for entire coats or for the collars, cuffs and skirt bandings on plain silk or satin. The same effective treatment is sometimes used on sports hats, forming either brim or crown.

Now is the Time to Buy:

Housewares. Sales of table china, of utensils, of those many appliances for help in housework, cry out that spring is here.

From among the new ruchings, lace plisse crepe or gathered ruffles, the especial neck adornment which is most becoming. One of those dainty accessories adds inexpressible chic to the dark suit or dress.

As in a Garden.

Refreshing as the first peep of grasses in the California spring time is that window wherein are set forth the new garden frocks, of cretonne. The setting is in fact a garden, and the figures posing there are wearing the gayly colored frocks, sometimes with garden hats to match. There are also garden aprons, bags and parasols. All set for the healthful work of delving in the not too soilful soil—all set, too, for romance, as any one can see with "half an eye."

Frocks for Tiny Tots.

Never, never, how many times have we said it in seasons past? But, nevertheless, never before were frocks for little girls so adorably dainty as at present!

Those of organdy in white with pipings, folds or frills in contrasting color and with wee embroidered wreaths or bouquets to match—oh, they are to conjure fairies with.

The short, full skirts, the pantalettes peeping underneath, the hats, sometimes to match the costume, any little girl wearing these could conquer the whole world of hearts.

Novel Sports Cape.

One of the smartest of the knitted sports capes seen this season is in tan and brown. The cape is double and the upper is edged with ball fringe, the balls crocheted from the darker yarn. The brown forms a band around each cape and down the fronts.

Savory Luncheon Dish.

For a "dress-up" luncheon there is nothing more appetizing or more delicate than sweetbreads prepared as follows: Blanch and parboil the sweetbreads, have ready thin "threads" of bacon and the same of cold boiled tongue. Alternately "lard" the sweetbreads with these, season with a sauce of fine herbs and pour over the mixture in a casserole a beef or chicken stock. Place in the oven and bake until tender.

Smart Yarn Suits.

Clever little suits are those shown in a store on Broadway, the knitted skirts forming accordeon and the jackets on the order of middies. There is a cap to match. Bright tones of blue, red, etc., are combined with white in each suit. The prices are extremely reasonable.

Brown Invades.

The fact that brown has become an evening color is rather interesting to one who studies the progress of the mode. There was a time, not long since, when brown was at best regarded as a cloak or suit color. Then, finding it becoming, women tried brown in silk or satin for afternoon. The experiment being successful, brown invaded the realm of evening dress and now, either of itself or in combination with other hues, brown has come boldly forth in the most lovely of materials and is discovered to be a fascinating and delightful innovation. It is believed by some that the mode of brown furs was responsible for enlightening women as to the possibilities of the color.

Elaboration of Fringe.

First it was tassels. Tassels upon every possible tip and corner of every possible garment. Then it was fringe. Now it is a conspiracy of both. The new spring wraps, many of them, are builded about as much of fringe as of fabric and frequently that fringe is a series of rich, heavy tassels set in a brave row along the lower edge of the garment and falling below the dress skirt. Borrowed, perhaps, from the Spanish shawl; this mode for fringe has become one of the most conspicuous features of handsome wraps, especially of those for evening and for afternoon visiting.

Gladys Writes.

Gladys writes from Paris about a new wrap she has achieved. The salient feature of the sketch which she inclosed in her letter shows a revival of the "hobble" in a band gathering the fullness of the cloak at a line just below the knee. This band is fastened under a huge rose of the silken fabric of the cloak. The effect is unique and interesting. Is the mode a "straw" telling of the revival of the one-time hobble which infested the world of mode.

Modes of Spring.

A knitted kimono dress is very smart and charming for the kiddie.

Spring frocks show contrasting colors and combinations of material.

Afternoon gowns have short or long sleeves of transparent fabrics.

Narrow bands of jet trim a gown of black satin and black Chantilly lace.

For coats and suits canna lily and fiery red woolens are particularly good.

REJOICES OVER GOOD FORTUNE

Los Angeles Woman Is Restored to Health.

Goes All Over Neighborhood Praising Tanlac.

Change Is Wonderful, She Says.

"I just feel so happy over what Tanlac has done for me that I am going about all through the neighborhood telling my friends about it," declared Mrs. May Sauertieg, 1149 Mission Road, Los Angeles, recently.

"I had the flu more than a year ago," she said, "and it broke my health down so that I am just now getting over the effects of it. My stomach was left badly upset and I lost my appetite. Finally I quit even going to the breakfast table and the little I ate at other times caused me no end of distress. My nerves collapsed and I would have dreadful nervous chills. I lost weight and became so weak I just had to give up trying to do my housework altogether. I kept going from bad to worse and felt worried all the time.

"That was my condition just a month ago but Tanlac has helped me so wonderfully it doesn't seem that I am the same person. I feel altogether different, have a splendid appetite and have gained ten pounds in weight. My nerves are better and I sleep soundly. The housework is easy now and I seem to get through with it quicker than ever. I certainly am happy to get my health back and I give Tanlac all the credit for it."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores.—[Advertisement.

TO HURRY WORK ON NEW HARBOR

Hope to Complete Dredging by Midsummer.

Death Calls Wife of Orange County Sheriff.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, March 16.—The extension and repair of the main entrance jetty at Newport Harbor, below Balboa, work on which has been delayed several months, will go forward immediately under an agreement reached at the Harbor Commission's meeting today in conference with Contractor Ledbetter and a delegation from the Newport Beach City Council.

The city of Newport Beach will spend $50,000, voted six months ago, in repairing the existing jetty, while the county will build a 200-foot extension carrying the rock structure to a depth of twenty-two feet of water. This work and the dredging of the harbor channel to a sixteen-foot depth is expected to be completed by midsummer.

SHERIFF'S WIFE DIES.

Death came today to Mrs. Ida Jackson, 49, wife of Sheriff C. E. Jackson of Orange county, after an illness of several months. Her condition became critical two weeks ago and she passed away at 9 o'clock this morning. Besides a husband she leaves two daughters, Miss Lela Jackson of Santa Ana and Mrs. W. M. Wilson of Long Beach, a brother, W. E. Cox, and a sister, Mrs. D. F. Butterfield, both of Nuevo. Mrs. Jackson was a native of Orange county, having been born near Wintersburg, a few miles west of Santa Ana.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

Four Los Angeles people were injured today when an automobile driven by Dr. D. C. Tarnutzen of Los Angeles collided with a machine driven by Frank Madera of Anaheim. The accident happened between Anaheim and Fullerton at the Orangethorpe intersection.

Dr. Tarnutzen's car overturned and caught fire. He suffered a broken rib, his wife's shoulder was injured, his sister suffered cuts and bruises about the face, and his brother, H. A. Tarnutzen, sustained a sprained knee.

Porterville is Excited Over Oil Shale Discovery.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTERVILLE, March 16.—Oil shale has been discovered in the twenty-three-foot pit of a water well on the ranch of C. E. Umbarger, of the Welcome district near Porterville. For some time Mr. Umbarger has noticed a scum of oil on the top of the water but thought it came from the pumping plant. While doing work on the pit today the workmen found a piece of oil shale. Convinced of its genuiness Mr. Umbarger went to the home of a neighbor where a twenty-foot pit has been dug but the pump not yet installed. Oil shale was discovered there, too, and a piece placed in water showed presence of oil clearly. It is probable that scientific examination of both wells will be made.

Reports of geologists investigating different sections of Tulare county last year for several of the larger oil companies were that prospects in a number of locations indicated presence of oil in large quantities. Options have been taken on thousands of acres in the past year and one test well is now being driven in Round Valley, near Lindsay.

GIRLS DISCARD AGE-OLD CUSTOM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, March 16.—The girls of the senior class of Venice High School will give the old and time-honored custom of graduating in white a telling blow this June when they appear on commencement night in colors of pastel shades. Instead of the heretofore-beloved white organdy of the sweet girl graduate of their mothers' and grandmothers' time, frocks of fluffy blues, pinks and yellows will be the important factor of graduation day.

The girls deny that the departure from the sacred white will detract from the dignity of the occasion. It is much more esthetic, they declare, to represent a rainbow of happiness than to give the lifeless impression of a sea of uninteresting white on the most important night of their school career.

Transfer of Prosperity Recalls Early History.

REDLANDS, March 16.—A San Bernardino Valley ranch that had been in one family for sixty years passed out of the family today when Miss Mary Bartin sold to E. B. McCormick of Chicago the old Barton Villa, west of Redlands, and forty acres of orange trees.

Sixty years ago Dr. Ben Barton, father of Miss Barton, bought the ranch from the Mormon elders. Lyman and Rich, who had purchased it from the mission fathers and the Indians. There were more than 1000 acres of the land on the hills of Politana and it included the mission outpost in the San Bernardino Valley of San Gabriel mission.

Dr. Barton within five years built there a large brick home with eighteen-inch walls. He lived there for twenty years, planting vineyards and orange trees and selling parcels of the big ranch and buying more. Then his health broke and he moved to San Bernardino. The family retained the house and forty acres of land through all the years because of associations.

ROBS GARAGE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, March 16. — The Theodore Crossley Garage at Eleventh and Main streets was entered at an early hour this morning and tires and oils valued at nearly $1000 were hauled away in a car belonging to Mrs. Nellie Densmore.

The loss was not discovered until 6:45 o'clock this morning, when employees found a side door open, the lock having been twisted off by the marauders.

A suspicious-looking stranger visited the garage yesterday, the management says, and paid particular attention to the stock of tires and tubes.

FINAL TEST AT BRAWLEY IS DELAYED.

Defect in Tubing Holds Up Oil Well Opening in Imperial Field.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BRAWLEY, March 16.—The stage was set today for the final testing of the Brawley well but a defect in the tubing at the bottom of the well added another to the long series of delays.

The hole was cleared yesterday and this morning several of the officers of the Brawley Syndicate were on the ground expecting to see the well come in and justify the expenditure of $150,000 and two years of time in making the test. H. H. Clark, vice-president; Howard Shores, treasurer, and Directors W. B. Coberly and Patrick Cooney were among them.

Failure to bring in the well today was attributed to a coating of cement inside the tubing at the bottom of the well. This trouble will be overcome in a few days, it is believed and pumping is expected to begin within a week.

Mr. Clark stated that when the tubing was sent through into the sands last night gas pushed itself upward strongly. This, together with previous showings of gas and the fact that nine recent bailings showed increasing quantities of oil has strengthened the belief of the syndicate that oil in commercial quantities has been found. The preparation for bringing in the well today has intensified the interest in the well throughout Imperial Valley and there is general disappointment that the test has again been deferred.

An interesting feature of the Brawley well episode was the speed with which photographs taken there were rushed to the office of The Times in this city in a Cleveland six taken from the local salesrooms of the W. P. Herbert Company.

Plowing through sandy ruts, roaring over wash-board sections of dirt road at the Brawley end of the highway, The Times' car covered the 191 miles between the well and the corner of First street and Broadway in five hours and twenty minutes. This time does not allow for stopovers, one made at Indio of ten minutes for gas and oil, another at Beaumont of five minutes for gas and oil, and a third just east of Colton, where an officer took twelve minutes to explain the speed laws to the party.

In the car were George R. Watson, Times photographer; Frank S. Brady, demonstrator for the Herbert company, driver, and two passengers, Al Close and Harold Lauren.

The party left the oil well at noon sharp and arrived at The Times office at 5:20 o'clock. The route taken was by Westmoreland, Indio, Beaumont and Colton. Between Westmoreland and Indio there are approximately sixty-five miles of unpaved highway, about forty miles of which are under construction and fifteen miles of deep, heavy sand. In many places the car ploughed hub deep and flung clouds of sand far over the top.

"It was sure tough going in the sandy spot," said Mr. Brady, "but we made it up on the pavement."

WINTER VISITOR IS KILLED BY TRAIN.

WEALTHY BOSTON WOMAN MEETS ACCIDENTAL DEATH AT SANTA BARBARA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 16.—Mrs. Arthur Broadrick of Ottawa, Can., was killed at Miramar this afternoon when she stepped from one of the Miramar cottages which she and her husband have been occupying since last November, directly upon the railroad track in front of passenger train No. 32, which left Santa Barbara at 2:30 this afternoon for Los Angeles. The body was carried along under the wheels of the train a distance of over 350 feet before being rolled a mangled mass to the side of the track.

The Broadricks are wealthy society people of Boston. Broadrick, who was seated on the porch of his bungalow when the train went by, was attracted later by the crowd gathered down the track by the body. He walked to the spot, looked at the remains, then utterly unrecognizable and making a passing comment of "Poor thing, who can she be," continued on his unsual afternoon stroll and it was not until almost 7 o'clock tonight that he returned and identification was made complete.

The cottage the Broadricks occupied is along the railroad, separated from the track by a tall ledge of blossoming shrub, which concealed a view of the train.

SPORTS MOTORING FILMLAND & DRAMA

Features Sparring Duel.

Charles Jenkisson of the L.A.A.C.,

Who meets Sailor Freitas in the main event of the monthly Los Angeles Athletic Club boxing bouts tonight. Both boys pack deadly wallops and have the speed.

PEPPY FISTICUFFS TONIGHT.

L.A.A.C. is to Dish Up Excellent Card of Varied Boxing Events.

Tonight's sparring symposium at the Los Angeles Athletic Club holds promise of entertainment worthy of St. Patrick's Day. Some of the best scrappers of the Navy in local waters will hook up with the L.A.A.C. mitt swingers who have demonstrated their battling ability in many contests. All the sailors are speedy, hard punchers, and give in only when something bumps them so seriously that they go down.

The main event—Charles Jenkisson, the club's cyclonic welterweight, and big Sailor Freitas—at catchweights, is likely to prove nothing less than sensational. The latter excels considerably in the matter of avoirdupois and is swift and powerful as well, but the former wields a deadly wallop and moves like a flash. The fans anticipate great doings when these two mingle.

Ad Geyer, Pacific Coast amateur welterweight champion, will be seen in action with Sailor Lotth, a newcomer and regarded as something of a mystery. There may be lively going in this match. Geyer is class and there is reason to believe that Lotth, who knows what he is going up against, can take care of himself in any fistic contingency.

The complete card follows:

Al Leonard, 135 pounds, vs. Red Parkinson.

Benny Marks, 108 pounds, vs. Frank Arsena.

Tanni Stassi, 115 pounds, vs. Aug. Gotto.

Stanley Stone, 165 pounds, vs Sailor Connelly.

Frank Bianchetti, 130 pounds, vs. Sailor Davis.

Reggie Kerr, 130 pounds, vs. Sailor Waligorski.

Johnny DeRita, 125 pounds, vs. Sailor Brown.

Ad Geyer, 142 pounds, vs. Sailor Lotth.

Charles Jenkisson vs. Sailor Freitas, catchweights.

CUBS WIN OPENER.

The Chicago Cubs opened the baseball season at Pasadena yesterday afternoon by defeating the Merchants 7 to 5 in a hotly contested game. A pretty fair crowd of fans was on hand to witness the season's first. Hanson and Kenny heaved for the Cubs and O'Farrell caught. The Merchants used three pitchers.

Winter Garden
Los Angeles' Newest and Finest Cafe.
In spite of the fact that folks wait in line most every night to get in, we think that there are still some who have not yet visited this beautiful cafe, who have no idea of its "club-by" spirit of congenial good-fellowship, what a cozy, restful place it is, or who have not discovered that it is the finest place in town to dine and dance. These are the people we want to come—"to come, to see, to be conquered."

BALL SEASON OPENS TODAY.

Vernons and Chicago Cubs Hook Up at Maier Park.

Sailors to Add Athletic Stunts to Festivities.

Stubby Edington Harpoons Malicious Air Pocket.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

It surely must make the hearts of local ball fans shimmy joyfully to be brought face to face with the fact that the real, first, big game of the season, between the Vernon Tigers and Chicago Cubs, is scheduled to come off at Maier Park, Vernon, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock sharp.

A worthy cause brings the two clubs together. The money realized from the sale of tickets will be turned over to the fund of the American Quakers, and will be doled out by them in Ireland, along non-sectarian and nonpolitical lines.

STUNTS GALORE.

Besides the regular ball game, there will be athletic stunts, boxing matches and tugs of war, the sport of which will be furnished by a number of sailors from the Pacific Fleet.

Added to this, a contingent of 2000 jackies will be on hand to cheer their favorites in the various events. The day is to be a gala affair, and preparations have been made to accommodate a large crowd. Mayor Snyder will toss the first ball.

The line-ups of the clubs will be as follows:

BEST WORKOUT.

Essick's prospective gonfalon repeaters had the best workout of the season yesterday, when the houses of Long and High hooked up again in the yannigan series. Long this time copped the old avocados, thus evening matters once more, and the boys are right now just where they started.

Stumpy Edington, who, before the game, was run over by a glacier, sloshed up to Bill Essick in the seventh inning and slyly avowed he was not so bilious as he looked. He pleaded that Pete Schneider in right field had taken on an awful cargo of sleep and that Pete was about to use up a week's supply during the afternoon.

SLY STUMPY.

Stumpy is one of those that believe in improving chances, but not in taking any. His covert impeachment of Peter bore fruit, so Schneider was bekoned in from right and Eddy substituted. The squatty gardener enjoyed a static session in right, but he made up for it at the plate. In the very first time up he bammed a liner against the right-

RAINIERS TAKE ON CUBS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, March 16.—Baseball fans from all over the country will congregate here tomorrow afternoon for the first of the four games between the Seattle Rainiers and the Chicago Cubs. Extra bleachers will be provided to accommodate those who will wish to see the two famous clubs in action.

Between the two clubs there is an intense rivalry in spite of the fact that they are in different circuits. The Cubs have not forgotten the defeat which the Rainiers handed to them last year in Hanford, after a bitter battle which lasted ten innings. Manager Kenworthy was reluctant to give out any details of his line-up, but it is freely predicted that the following will be used: Billy Lane, right field; Tex Wisterzill, third base; Rod Murphy, first base; Brick Eldred, center field; Kenworthy, second base; Middleton or Cunningham, left field; Bill Stumpf or Carter Elliott, short stop; Spencer or Tobin, catcher; Gardner, pitcher.

Pomona—Kenworthy's Colts, 12; Tex's Tigers, 3. Which indicates that the Tigers were treated rather rough this noon. This is the result of the second of the games which the two sections of the Seattle squad are playing daily. Kenworthy and his crowd of hard-hitting players utterly ruined the hopes of the Tigers copping the second game of the series.

GOLF LITERATURE AND GOLF JOKES NEED SOMEBODY TO IMPROVE THEM.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

As a class, of course, golfers are very respectable, frequently most intelligent, and often quite influential. The most influential ones are rarely the best golfers, though, being handicapped with outside interests. The golf expert usually dedicates his life to it, the old siren is jealous of rivals.

Still, I insist upon a fairly high average of intelligence among golfers. They are not necessarily ponderous bores on any subject but golf. But apart from the score cards golf certainly does not seem to lend itself to fiction. Charlie Van Loan was about the only writer who ever made golf fiction interesting, and achieved a spark of original humor out of it. All the same, there is a vast literature of golf, mostly of the ponderously instructive genre, dealing with stances, follow-throughs, keeping one's eye on the ball, grips, and course architecture, and the royal and ancient book of St. Andrew, comprising the golf commandments, the golfers' Bible. It is strong on ethics and honorable department, etiquette and gentleman's agreements.

And in addition to all this weighty ponderosity, there are a very restricted number of golf jokes. Oh, painfully restricted. There is no such thing as a new and original golf joke. The mother-in-law and spinster jokes are positively young and kittenish by comparison. Golf jokes have become hoary and hallowed with the centuries and each generation learns them anew like the nursery rhymes and the national anthems. I rather suspect golf jokes of acquiring a new goat or monkey gland every few years.

Each generation of golf scribes rehashes them with shameless effrontery and presumably gets paid for 'em. Scotty Chisholm, for instance, has just perpetrated that hoary old gray-beard about the wonderful courses and perfect clubs, but no golf balls in Hades. King James I of England was the first recorded perpetrator of that one.

May Ridgeway has just got by with the one about the Scot who put off getting married to play a return match. As for the one about the chap whose ball was picked up by a wandering cow (sometimes it's a dog,) and whacked the animal over the head with a brassie to make him drop it, every whack being recorded as a stroke by his punctilious opponent, every golf magazine in every country has printed it a couple of dozen times at least. And any woman who has had a golfer for a dinner partner must have heard it a dozen times. We have a triste little smile that we keep specially for it.

There's the other about the minister who just had to swear when he played and so gave up the ministry. Every reverend player has told me that one, and most of their friends told it on them as well.

Then there is the cynical caddie joke with its hundred variations, and the "nineteenth hole joke," that still crops up in various guises, although we might reasonably have regarded that one as fatally passe. That dreary one about the novice who thought he had won the medal score with the highest figures enjoys a perpetual resurrection.

Oh, but everybody knows 'em all. The only difference is that every narrator hangs them on to a friend of his and brazenly claims he saw it happen. They have even annexed that moldy old joke about the Californian at the stranger's funeral, which took place in every small town in all of the forty-eight States.

LONG SHOT HAS EDGE ON FIELD.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LINCOLN (Eng.) March 16. The Lincolnshire handicap, at one mile, the event which annually marks the opening of the English flat racing season, was won here today by Soranus, owned by the noted English turfman, B. Joel.

Thirty horses made up the field of starters and the winner was quoted at 33 to 1 in the betting. Two other outside choices—Senhora, at 20 to 1, and Queen's Guild, at 100 to 1—finished second and third, respectively. The public favorite, Ugly Buckling, ran unplaced.

FIRST CHESS CONTEST RESULTS IN A DRAW.

LASKER AND CAPABLANCA UNABLE TO WIN GAME AFTER FIFTY MOVES.

HAVANA, March 16.—The first game for the chess championship of the world between Jose R. Capablanca of Cuba and Dr. Emanuel Lasker of Germany resulted in a draw tonight after fifty moves.

HAVANA, March 16.—Jose R. Capablanca of Cuba and Dr. Emanuel Lasker of Berlin, who last night began a chess tournament here, which will probably decide the championship of the world, adjourned their first game after the thirty-second move. Neither had succeeded in gaining a decisive advantage during the four hours they sat before the board, but it seemed that during the last few moves Dr. Lasker was carrying the attack to his opponent.

The two will play four hours each night until twenty-four games are played, or until one wins eight victories.

WHITE SOX START HARD WORK FRIDAY.

CHICAGO, March 16.—The first real workout of the Chicago White Sox squad comes Friday, according to reports from their training camp at Waxahachie, Tex., today, when the New York Giants' second team arrives. A hot contest has developed over the third-base position between Eddie Mulligan and Hervey McClellan, both performing brilliantly the past few days.

BEES VS. STANFORD.

DRAWINGS FOR THE DAVIS CUP.

First Move Made Towards the Eliminations.

Majority of Matches Certain to be Played Here.

Australasia and France Seem Choice for Victors.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 16.—The draw for the Davis cup, which was made today at the United States Lawn Tennis Association headquarters, read as follows:

The first round, Spain vs. British Isles; Canada vs. Australasia; Japan vs. Philippines; Czecho-Slovakia vs. Belgium.

The four nations which drew byes will meet in the second round as follows:

Argentine vs. Denmark in the upper bracket and All-India vs. France in the lower bracket.

The blind draw, which was made in the presence of a large gathering, is considered an exceptionally well balanced one. Under the present alignment it is expected that at least five or six of the preliminary matches will be played in this country.

Tennis authorities almost unanimously agreed that Australasia and France were the logical nations to meet in the final round, the winner to face the cup holding Americans at Forest Hills, N. Y., on September 3.

In the first round, upper half, Spain and the British Isles will undoubtedly meet in Europe, while Australasia probably will come to America to meet Canada. In the lower half, Japan and Philippines will meet in the Far East if Japan uses players now in Japan. If Kumagae and Kashio form the team, the match probably will be played here as both of these players are residing in the United States.

In the second round Argentine and Denmark, drawing byes, probably will meet in this country unless they default. The major portion of the second and third rounds and all of the semifinal and final rounds appear certain to be features of the American tennis season.

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 16.—President W. H. Klepper of the Sattle Pacific Coast League baseball club announced today he had notified Garry Herrmann of the Cincinnati Nationals that he had been unable to sign Shortstop Jimmy Smith and had turned the infielder back to the Reds.

Smith played with the Indianapolis club of the American Association last year. He was turned over to Seattle by Cincinnati recently.

PITTSBURG SQUAD GETTING INTO SHAPE.

PITTSBURG (Pa.) March 16.—The first practice game of the Pittsburg National League baseball team will be staged today, according to word from the spring training camp at Hot Springs, Ark.

Ray Rohwer, the University of California outfielder, created a sensation in camp yesterday when he took his turn at bat. Rohwer slugged the ball to all parts of the lot, and Gibson remarked that he was a natural hitter and would bear watching.

RUSH TO THE FOLD.

BOSTON, March 16. — The Red Sox holdouts began to run to cover of contracts today when Elmer Myers, the pitcher who was obtained from Cleveland last year, reported at Hot Springs headquarters, dispatches said.

FAIRLY HIGH MAN.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 16.—S. Fairly of Toronto was high man in today's scoring of the American Bowling Congress. Total of 629, however, was not good enough to put him among the first ten in the tournament standing.

MRS. MALLORY WINNER AGAIN.

BOSTON, March 16.—Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory of New York nearly met her match today in the women's national indoor tennis championship when she met Miss Edith Sigourney of this city.

Mrs. Mallory won, but her opponent took the first set and was leading in the third, 3 to 1, when she seemed to tire, as a result of which the former champion took five straight games and the match.

HYDE PLACED FIRST IN TENNIS LINE-UP.

NEW YORK, March 16.—F. Van S. Hyde of the Harvard club was placed first in the national squash tennis ranking as announced tonight by the National Squash Tennis Association. The committee reported that the game has developed in the West to such an extent that a western association probably would be organized and an eastern-western series arranged next year.

The next four are: Jay Gould, Columbia club; A. J. Cordier, Yale club; Anderson Dana, Harvard club, and H. R. Mixsell, Princeton. Sixty players were ranked.

CHARLES COMISKEY TURNS THEM LOOSE.

CHICAGO, March 16. — Charles Comiskey, president of the Chicago American League Baseball Club, today severed all relations with seven White Sox players connected with the 1919 world series scandal. In a communication addressed to the players, Comiskey notified them that as a result of the gambling probe, all contracts between them and the club are to be considered null and void.

Angels' Prayers for Hot Weather All Answered.

Baseball of High Caliber on Deck at Elsinore Today.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ELSINORE, March 16.—The baseball athletes who have been praying for hot weather were answered with blisters on the heel.

It was the warmest day which the players had experienced, and the suddenness of it caused a feeling of lassitude. A majority of the players cut out the noon hike, substituting for it a siesta on the hotel veranda, where they lolled around in the lap of luxury. The chief and important difference between a hike and a siesta is that it takes a load off the feet.

SERVES THEM RIGHT.

Rollie Zeider and Jimmy McAuley, who are old enough to know better, insisted on taking the noonday hike, and returned with a pink blister on each heel. Nothing more beautiful than these blisters has been seen here since the last orchid was picked.

This new development has made Zeider by some odds the leading attraction of this famous health resort. Prior to the heel blisters, Rollie had the country's largest private collection of bunions on his toes, a pair of spreading legs, which leave space for an umbrella tree between his knees and a nose which compares favorably with these rockribbad hills for rugged grandeur. People no longer watch the gorgeous sunsets here. Instead, they assemble on the bluff and watch Mr. Zeider's nose gather a twilight blow in the rays of the descending sun. The effect is doubly grand when Mr. Zeider stands so that his nose is mirrored in the still and silent lake. Last evening he blew his nose when standing thus and the reflection of the nose in the lake caused a tempest, and almost blew all the water out of the lake.

HOMELESS PELICAN.

Pelicans, who fly in from the ocean every night to roost here, have adopted Mr. Zeider as one of their own. One look at his profile convinced them that he is young and homeless pelican, who met with

COACHES SKIP BOAST STUFF.

Chiefs of Lincoln and L. A. High Are Pessimistic.

Rival College Teams Are to Clash Tomorrow.

Pomona Looks Good for the Conference Meeting.

Both coaches having come right out and admitted that their teams haven't a chance to win, the track meet between Lincoln and L. A. High, scheduled for tomorrow at Occidental College, becomes more interesting. Any old time both coaches come out and make a clean breast of the fact that the other team is sure to win you can bet a couple of prescriptions that there's going to be a battle.

Billiken Whittle of L. A. High says that it takes 57 points to win a dual meet, and his team can't possibly get more than 52, therefore Lincoln is bound to win. Tommy Davis of Lincoln mournfully shakes his head and says that he'd certainly like to see his boys clean up on the Pioneers, but fears that they'll be about 15 points shy when the whole show is over.

Old Man Algebra, after looking over the dopesheet, remarks that he'll bet a left-handed fraction on the Railsplitters, while Uncle Hunch is willing to gamble scads of money on the Pioneers, regardless of the facts and figures. If two or three budding young records aren't launched on the field Friday a lot of folks will be sadly surprised. The track is in perfect shape, and both teams have had plenty of time to prepare.

Pomona's chances of winning the conference track and field meet at Paddock Field, Pasadena, Saturday, are exceptionally good, and would be regarded in select circles as something of a cinch. The only drawback to a great Sagehen victory is found in the Pomona-Stanford track meet, which comes on the following Tuesday, and for which the Pomona athletes will be saving themselves as far as possible.

The clash between Wild Willyum Yount of Redlands and Charley Daggs of Pomona in the hurdles will be worth going miles to see. Kibby will be forced to hustle in the quarter by Payne and Wire of Pomona, Clough of Tek and Martin of Occidental. Sloan of Occidental, Knight of Redlands and Keech of S.B.U.C. will do their best to make the Sagehen distance men unhappy during the course of the afternoon. Pomona's superiority in the weight events will undoubtedly give her the edge.

Coach Dean Cromwell's U.S.C. track outfit is preparing for the Stanford invasion, which comes Saturday. If nobody came down from Palo Alto but Morris Kirksey, a good crowd would go out just to see him tangle with Charley Paddock in the sprints. In addition, however, Coach Templeton is bringing a grand aggregation of athletes, guaranteed to do the work.

A young man named Wright, a sophomore, has run the quarter in better than 52s this year, and the Cardinals will have the same superiority in the field events and distances that the Bears had against the Trojans on Monday. Green of Stanford has cleared six feet and Wilcox has floated over the twelve-foot mark. Capable weight men likewise will be brought. Jess Wells will have little to excite him in the hurdles.

BABE RUTH IN HIS DAILY GRIND.

LAKE CHARLES (La.) March 16.—Babe Ruth headed a squad of four who knocked home runs here today in an exhibition game between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cardinals were defeated, 14 to 8.

BALL SEASON OPENS TODAY.

field fence that sounded like a score of men pounding with their fists against a mail car service door.

Owner Maier was an interested spectator, and in an ill-guarded moment voiced his enthusiasm a little louder than usual. Edington glimpsed the situation, and heard the knock of opportunity at the door. As soon as the game was over, he flashed Maier the high sign, and the two went into a star chamber session of the al fresco order.

HARPOONS POCKET.

Stubby confided to Maier that up to last week he had been laboring under a difficulty since last year, but that said difficulty had been removed by an airplane visitation to the right-field air alleys of Washington Park, that once upon a time made Edington's life as black as Vulcan's smithy. Eddy had his aerial chauffeur fly close to the bleachers, and then when the piano-legged gardener spied that malicious air pocket that put a number of flies to him on the bum last season, he reached far out, shot a harpoon into it and had it dragged to a hangar near Hollywood.

With this air pocket in durance vile, Stubby thinks he will field 1000 in the right garden this year. The following was yesterday's score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9

an accident to his legs, and never learned to fly. Roille rebelled when a large, matronly pelican tried to drop a cold, moist fish down his throat, thinking that he hadn't been fed.

Tomorrow is the day the athletes wear a green olive in their button hole, and play a benefit for the starving Irish during the present potato shortage.

One team will be known as the Killefer's and the other as Tom Casey's lowdown Irish. We objected to using the lowdown part, but Casey insisted on it because there isn't a highbrow on his team. Killefer gave Casey the first pick of the players, and being mainly Irish himself was selected by Casey. So Red, while manager of one team, will be playing on the other. This puts him in the compromising position of playing against himself.

THE LINE-UPS.

Line-ups for this benefit, which was arranged by Father Toner, the local padre, are as follows:

Killefer got his first good look at Dixie Carroll in action today and appeared highly satisfied with his latest acquisition. The newcomer hits from the port side of the plate, takes a good cut at the ball and has an easy stride getting down to first base. He runs bases as much with his head as his feet, and this explains why in the absence of anything like phenomenal speed, he was able to amass such an imposing array of pilfered bases in the Southern League last season. Carroll, unless early impressions are misleading, seems almost certain of a regular job in the outfield. Among the new men, he and Lindimore look like fixtures from the start. Pitchers necessarily must be put to the test of actual competition before they can be regarded as certainties. Pitching berths are seldom won in the spring.

RUBE SHOWS UP.

Things have seemed more natural here since the arrival of Rube Ellis. Rube has just passed through a period of mental travail. Sometime since, while sitting in the outer office of the Los Angeles baseball club, waiting to confer with President Powers relative to his contract, he read a newspaper article in which it was stated that neither Powers nor Killefer had the heart to can him. Not that they had any intention of doing this, as he was to have an equal chance with all the others this spring. But Rube was stung to the quick, wherever that is located, and bolting out of the door without seeing Powers, went out to his Rivera ranch intending to die of a broken heart. But two weeks' time served to vulcanize that vital organ, and Rube decided to live on and on and play ball.

And he may fool a lot of people at that. As far back as 1916, Los Angeles thought he was through and gave him away to San Francisco. But the Angels were glad to get him back the following season. The fans took it for granted that Mr. Ellis was dying on his legs and that 1917 would be his last season. So they gave an "Ellis Day" at the ball yard, and presented Rube with a suit case, symbolical of a long trip away from Washington Park. But Mr. Ellis is still sticking around, and he is going to give the field a fine run for its money. In short, it will take a really capable ball player to send Rube back to the ranch.

PLANS UNKNOWN.

It had been planned for the team to break camp here Friday and return to Los Angeles the following morning. However, there was a vague rumor today that the team might remain another week. In the absence of President Powers and his inability to get in communication with him, Killefer cannot vouch for the future plans of the club. The Angels have games scheduled at Vernon with the Cubs on Saturday and Sunday. Killefer plans to use Dumovich, Wallace and Douglas against the Chicago outfit on Saturday, with Doc Crandall and Lefty Thomas showing them some experienced pitching on Sunday. Otherwise, the line-up against the Cubs will be substantially the same as will be used by the Killefer club against the Irish tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow night the athletes will shake a large, but agile hoof at a dance to be given in their honor by Mrs. Mary Gardner.

Otto Zeigler is Favorite for Sunday's Spin.

Greater fame has overtaken the bike stadium. With the famous bone and muscle plant used as the locale of a two-reel thriller by Hal Roach in filming a bike comedy, members of the Splinter and Bandage Club feel that there is little more to be desired in this life.

Roach saw his first bike race at the stadium a couple of weeks ago. There was so much action in the scene that his imaginative eye pictured the opportunity to show a lot of characters doing stunts on the steeply banked board track.

The screening of the film may show a lot of funny stuff, but most of the comedy falls were much too real to suit the birds who floundered. The consensus of opinion among the regulars and extras was that "Fatty" Arbuckle did well to leave the bike stuff to his brother, and that Fairbanks, Chaplin, Lyons and Moran and Charles Ray can well afford to buy nickel-plated bikes and silk suits for riders to represent them in races, instead of taking up the sport in person.

Two reels of the picture were filmed on the track and around the stadium yesterday.

Otto Zeigler, who rides for Chaplin next Sunday, rules favorite in the Australian style pursuit race, which will decide the studio championship. "Terrible Swede" Hackanson, Joe Palmer and George Vigliani, the other riders in the feature event, are outsprinting Zeigler in practice, but the rail birds are picking them all to fall before Zeigler's bulldog plugging.

GIANTS CONFIDENT.

With three crack pitchers to rely on in Johnny Baugh, Foote and Mackey, the Alexander Giants feel confident of copping a brace of games this week-end, when the club takes on the Submarine Base Saturday and the A. Diamond Taylors on Sunday. Both games are billed for the Giants' field at Thirty-second street and Long Beach avenue.

ROSEVALE NINE TO BE GIVEN TROPHY.

The Gene Murphy trophy, up for the winning club in class B of the Managers' Association and won by the Rosevale Athletic Club nine, will be formerly presented tonight to the winning club's manager during the speechmaking at the Chicago Cubs' banquet.

A great brand of ball was played throughout the season by Rosevale, the team losing but one or two games. In the semifinal of the playoff, the club walloped the class A winners and lost to Pacific Ready-Cuts in the final for the association championship.

FOOTHILLERS HANG IT ON PASADENAS.

Coach Fred Johnson's collection of track demons from Hollywood High School plastered Pasadena all over the landscape yesterday by the powerful score of 71 to 42. Aside from a superiority in the sprints and pole vault, the millionaires were outclassed. Hollywood uncorked several unheard-of young men who did nobly while the Foothill distance men were quite as pestiferous as usual. The summary:

Pole vault—Won by Dillman (F.) Harper (H.) second, Bidwell (F.) third. Height 9ft. 9in.
Discus throw—Won by Dorsey (H.) Harrell (F.) second, Douglas (H.) third. Distance 101ft. 6in.
880-yard run—Won by Holland (H.) Measeles (H.) second, Mapes (F.) third. Time 2m. 4 2-5s.

CRICKET EXPERTS GETTING IN TRIM.

The Los Angeles Cricket Club will start its annual cricket tournament Easter Sunday, in the sunken gardens at Exposition Park. The team was very successful last season, winning the championship and losing only one battle to the Overseas squad. While the club will lose its captain, Mr. Mellor, one of the best cricketers in Southern California, it still expects to put up a strenuous battle for first honors. Wickets will be pitched at 1:30 p.m.

MRS. MANN ON THE LOSING END.

Quite an interesting four-ball amateur-professional match was played at Pasadena yesterday, when Leo Diegel and A. M. Andrews, president of the Pasadena club, teed off against R. M. Modisette and veteran Frank Peebles of Annandale.

Andrews and Diegel started their opponents 2 points up, Andrews playing Modisette's ball and Diegel playing Peebles's. Modisette and Peebles needed the handicap, for they finished 1 up with its aid.

The veterans ended their first round of match play in the Pacific Coast senior meet, just as the bullfrogs were beginning to croak in the big pond below the Midwick Club last night. The feature match was that in which H. W. Stoer of Cleveland defeated J. A. Rankin of Chicago, 1 up, after a battle that went twenty-two holes. The complete results follow:

Leo Diegel and Eddie Loos, conquerors of Harry Vardon and Ted Ray and many lesser lights, will wage a thirty-six-hole battle with Frank Peebles and Tom Stevens of Annandale over the home links of the latter today.

It will be the last chance of the south's golfing populace to see Diegel in action for another year. The clashy Pasadena Club youngster leaves tomorrow for North Carolina, where he will play in the annual North-South championship. From there he goes to the Lochmoor Club, Detroit, where he will be the head professional this summer.

A large rotund person, answering to the name of D. "Shot" Chisholm, made the sixth hole at Pasadena yesterday in 2, holing out a 150-yard mashie shot for an eagle. He is still being importuned to buy the drinks for the crowd.

MANUAL ARTS LOSE.

The baseball team of the Southern Branch of the University of California yesterday ruined the Manual Arts diamond adornments on the S.B.U.C. field by the score of 8 to 3. Keeri, Bais and Olmstead formed the Cub battery and held the Toilers to five hits while Hansen, Dudley and Field did the honors for the losers.

GOLF JOKES AND WRITINGS.

when the minister asked if anyone would like to say a few words about the deceased, and after a long silence, the Californian arose. "Well, if no one else wants to say anything, I'd like to say a few words about our California golf courses." That's the plagiarized version, and an otherwise reputable Pasadena banker got it off at the new Pasadena Golf Club, only last week.

It is perfectly outrageous how many times I have been called upon to cackle fatuously at these moth-eaten old chestnuts. And it speaks well for my self-control that I have never yet failed an ebullient narrator.

But golf fiction is even more preposterous. There are only two plots in golf fiction stories and they have been going strong through the centuries. One involves the gentleman who once held the game in contempt but was finally persuaded to his first game and thereafter became a chronic and ferocious devotee. The other is that in which the hero wins the girl and the championship with the same last masterly putt. The opponent is always the vanquished villain of the story and "no gentleman." And the heroine always holds that nothing but golf eclat could ever make the misunderstood hero acceptable as a husband.

Every golf magazine is busy printing these two stories with different settings and different names all the time. These, with a few of the above jokes as fillers and a ponderously instructive article on "form," together with some tournament results, make up the modern golf literature which is presumably read with avidity by golfers, whom I insist otherwise enjoy average intelligence.

Isn't it pitiful? Isn't it deadly? What is the matter with the very human and respectable game that it cannot inspire something a bit more sparkling and original than this sort of thing? But the only times the golf scribes ever get away from those two fatuous plots, from those hoary old jokes, from the deadly instructive articles, they break into allegory, bask in a specious profundity trying to prove that golf is symbolical of life a la the Pilgrim's Progress sort of thing, and then indeed, are they the mournfullest bores of all.

Even the newspaper reports of the tournaments show evidence that the wretched reporters have writhed in anguish trying to find something bright to say, some breezy way of telling the dullest story on earth. One feels the awful straining after a flippancy that they can never justify. Yet here is a game whose devotees are invariably rather above the average in social standing, intellectually, financially, influentially, and morally, they cannot be said to be so good that they are uninteresting. They average up pretty well both ways in that. Yet baseball, which is made up of professional players, or boxing, chiefly encompassing youthful roughnecks, or football played by college boys, all have a literature that is infinitely more worth reading and jokes that at least bear a hint of originality.

Is it the fault of the scribes or the golfers? Somebody ought to be saddled with the responsibility for these literary crimes. There are other crime waves besides that the crooks furnish, and one of them is golf literature. Charlie Van Loan tried to rescue it. Oh, for another Charlie Van Loan.

The City of Your Dreams

Picture in your mind the ideal city for your ideal home.

Then test San Diego, Southern California's seaside wonder-city by your own standards.

You will almost surely demand lots of sunshine, and in San Diego the sun shines nearly all the time, the year-round, the days are never hot or cold, the nights are always cool, and for years at a time there's never a storm. Here the United States Government has established one of the foremost naval rendezvous in the country, and is building large permanent bases for the training of marines, sailors, and aviators. The naval hospital alone, now under construction, will cost more than a million dollars, and this great naval establishment is located at San Diego because government records prove San Diego's climate the most nearly perfect in America for year-round out-of-door enjoyment.

With its modern facilities and all the interests that center in a city of 90,000 permanent residents, with an unexcelled harbor, a fast developing commerce and industry, and the fascinating beauty of miles of attractive streets and homes built around the third largest park in America, San Diego confidently extends to you its invitation and welcome. The San Diego-California Club at Second and Broadway will tell you where to go and what to see. Hotel accommodations are ample and modern, and at reasonable rates.

Just a brief afternoon through orange groves and by the sea, by rail or over good roads, will bring you to the City of Your Dreams.

San Diego California

You can return East over the NEW San Diego and Arizona Railway, which operates through Pullman service to Kansas City. From Chicago it is connecting with the Rock Island and Southern Pacific "Golden State Limited." A delightful, mild climate trip with moderate altitudes. Magnificent Carrizo Gorge is one of many scenic wonders en route.

Second Offering Preferred Stock
Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation
A Very Attractive Investment

The popularity of the first offering of the Preferred stock of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation justifies the conclusion that this new issue will be promptly subscribed.

Investment opportunities of such attractive character are very rare.

The earning capacity of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is a matter of record. The existing tangible assets of the Corporation are readily determinable. Speculation and theory are eliminated. You know definitely in advance that the earnings of the Corporation are in excess of the needs to pay you your guaranteed dividends every three months. You know that the net valuation of the Corporation's plant is so greatly in excess of the maximum amount of stock which can ever be issued that your investment is rendered absolutely secure. Dividends are cumulative. They must be paid before any earning can be paid on Common stock.

The stock has priority over Common. In other words the claims of the Preferred stockholder come first—both as to dividends and assets.

And yet with all these bulwarks of safety surrounding it this stock is offered at $85.00 per share—$15.00 under par. On the amount invested it will pay better than 7 per cent. It has the advantage also of being available in small units.

You can buy as little as one share for $85.00 or you can arrange to buy it on an easy payment plan. Its unusual desirability assures its quick convertibility into cash.

If you are interested in more details fill out the coupon and mail or bring it to

WILL ROGERS WEARS 'EM

TROTS OUT IN TIGHTS AND IS NOT BIT ASHAMED.

By Grace Kingsley.

For the first time in his history, and as bashful as a girl over the fact, Will Rogers has donned tights in "Doubling for Romeo," his current picture for Goldwyn, directed by Clarence Badger.

But at that Rogers has nothing to be ashamed of. In fact there was quite a quota of the feminine Goldwyn contingent gathered about the set, yesterday, with every fair one pronouncing Rogers' legs very good to look at. The set represented a castle, and lovely Sylvia Breamer was playing Juliet.

"'Course I got good-looking legs," admitted Rogers, "how else do you suppose I managed to stay in the Follies four years?

"But say, I never expected to be the sensation I am with the ladies! I never saw so much she-stock around my set looking on, in my life!"

Regarding his fancy Romeo costume, and that of the other players, Rogers declared these were of the "early Ince" period. He said that whatever costumes Tom Ince didn't take along with him when he left the studio the actors in his pictures were now being clad in.

"Doubling for Romeo" is a satire on a Fairbanks picture; and in it in one scene Rogers, suspended on a wire, dashes right up the side of the castle to Juliet's balcony. He plays the ukulele below her window. Then when she softly breathes his name, he pulls a regular Rogerism:

"Soft! She speaks!" he cried. "Like the politicians she talks but says nothing!"

Rogers is also learning to fence in order to fight a duel in the picture.

"Oh, yes," he exclaimed, "we actors neglect no learning that will promote our art. If it takes half a day to learn it, we'll do it anyhow."

That prince of make-up artists, Lon Chaney, made up Rogers for the part. Heretofore Rogers hasn't bothered about make-up.

James Kirkwood Departs.

It looks as though James Kirkwood might become a Lasky star. At least he is making a somewhat mysterious trip to New York on important business, and it is known that Lasky has long had an eye on him as starring material. On his return he is to play the principal role in "The Great Impersonation," by Oppenheim.

Having emerged from the heavy red ambush which he grew for the last George Melford production of Sir Gilbert Parker's "The Money Master," Kirkwood left yesterday for the eastern city. En route he will visit for a week at his old home in Grand Rapids, Mich.

RAOUL A. WALSH TO MAKE FEATURES.

R. A. Walsh arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from New York to start work immediately upon the first of a series of super-productions to be released through Associated First National.

Accompanying Mr. Walsh was the entire cast and technical staff, who will assist in the filming of an original story by a noted author whose name will be announced later. Featured in the cast will be Miriam Cooper, wife of R. A. Walsh, and George Walsh.

Walsh's second production will be a picturization of Peter B. Kyne's widely read novel, "Kindred of the Dust."

It has been two years since Walsh made a production on the West Coast, and he expressed himself as delighted to be back.

Seena Owen Turns Nurse.

Turning into a nurse is what Seena Owen is doing these days. She is caring for her own little one, and for her sister's daughter, both of whom have the measles.

CONRAD NAGLE WILL PLAY DE MILLE LEAD.

It's always a matter of breathless suspense to both players and fans as to who is going to appear in the next Cecil B. De Mille special production. Now it's settled that Mildred Harris and Dorothy Dalton are the two women stars in the all-star cast, the burning question is, who will be the men who will make professional love to them?

The matter was settled yesterday as to one of the actors elected for that delectable job. He is Conrad Nagle, the juvenile, who has been creating such a favorable impression in Lasky pictures.

Mr. Nagle was formerly an actor of the spoken drama in New York. He married a beautiful young woman, two years ago, and decided to come west. His wife, Ruth Nagle, appeared in one or two Lasky pictures, but withdrew to private life a few months ago when little Ruth Margaret was born, since which time she has been content to neglect the Klieg light for the firelight. Mr. Nagle recently purchased a beautiful home on Highland avenue, in Hollywood.

While Mr. De Mille maintains his usual secrecy regarding the story of his forthcoming production, it is known that it is a modern society story, but without the emphasis on the sex angle, which sometimes characterises the De Mille productions. Work is to be commenced in a short time.

VANITY :: HATH :: ITS :: CHARM:

As Depicted by Universal Star.

Eva Novak,

Who will be seen in photoplay, "Society's Secrets," next week at Superba.

EILEEN PERCY HURT IN DOING STUNT.

Having sprained her ankle and torn the ligaments of her leg on attempting to do a stunt scene in her current picture, Eileen Percy, Fox star, will probably be laid up for at least a fortnight.

The accident happened Tuesday at the studio, when Miss Percy attempted the courageous feat of leaping from the top of a stairway. A net was supposed to catch her, but by some mischance she miscalculated the distance, and fell to one side.

In private life Miss Percy is Mrs. Hugh Busch, wife of a member of the millionaire Busch family of Pasadena. She was taken at once to her home on Western avenue, and was reported last night as resting as comfortably as could be expected considering the painful condition of the torn ligaments.

Maryon Aye to Head Fashions.

While beauty unadorned is all right, still Maryon Aye, picture star, likes to step out in the gleeful garments once in a while. So she has consented to head the fashion parade at the California next Sunday afternoon, and which will be held over for at least a week.

The players will appear not only in clothes, but as doubles for various California stars. Miss Aye is to represent Alla Nazimova, and will wear a gorgeous specially designed gown made from rare pieces of batik.

Many other interesting bits of fashion will be shown by Miss Aye, but we cannot spoil the party by telling all her secrets.

Rex Ingram Returning.

It is expected that Rex Ingram, director of "The Four Horsemen," showing at the Mission Theater, will return to Los Angeles today. He will be accompanied by June Mathis, whose trusty typewriter has whanged out so many blue ribbon scenarios for Metro, including the Ibanez film version.

Rex Ingram is to make a series of productions, and will begin work as soon as he reaches town.

Hughes Will Tell It.

If there's one thing that's suffering to be recorded in literature it is the real story of picture people and their work, thinks Rupert Hughes, and therefore this king-pin author of clever stories is to write such a story.

The tale will be printed serially in the Red Book, and will concern Los Angeles in general; its hero and heroine will be picture players. Later it may be made into a picture, though Mr. Hughes says he is not considering this phase at the present time.

Earle Williams Wouldn't.

Earle Williams encountered an embarrassing state of affairs last week, with what one might call almost a delicate situation developing.

No less than twenty different manufacturers of automobiles offered to furnish a car for Williams's next production, "The Secret of the Silver Car," and to decorate it to correspond to anything required in the story.

However, all offers were politely declined. To solve the problem without favoring any particular make of car, Vitagraph finally decided to construct a special custom-built car carrying no maker's trademark.

If it Excites You to Know It.

Von Stroheim will, today, shoot the first scenes ever made on his Monte Carlo set at Universal City, though the set was erected some time ago.

William Henry Wright, who, for the last fifteen months has been editing and titling Outing Chester travel pictures, has resigned his position in order to give his entire time to the completion of a series of magazine articles for which he has assignments.

Jackie Coogan pays an income tax on $1000 per week.

Just to prevent any feeling of homesickness for the Claridge Hotel, which was his home while in New York, Jerome Storm has constructed a replica of the Claridge dining-room as a setting for the Katherine MacDonald picture which he is now directing.

Don, the Vokes drunk dog at the Orpheum this week, is the same canine that appeared with Mary Pickford in "Daddy Long Legs" on the screen.

Brother George Too.

He's coming right along is George Stewart, brother of the lovely Anita. The young man has just been engaged by Metro to support Alice Lake in her new starring picture upon which production will start in a few days. The story is by Arthur Somers Roche.

Maryon Aye,

Who plays a prominent role in the Fashion Revue next week at the California Theater.

RADIOS.

VEILLER AS DIRECTOR.

NEW UNIT SYSTEM IN VOGUE AT METRO STUDIOS.

By Edwin Schallert.

That Bayard Veiller, the playwright and author, who is head of the Metro Pictures Corporation scenario department, will have his own special producing unit at the studios, is indicated in the success he has attained in the direction of the special, "The Woman Next Door." This is the initial picture in which Mr. Veiller acted as director. May Allison was the star, and the cast of principals included Albert Roscoe, Frank Elliott, Irene Hunt, Stanley Goethals, Dane Todd and Wilton Taylor.

Mr. Veiller had practically completed the picture before an announcement was made of his directorship.

The unit system is being placed in operation at the Metro studios, and a new impetus will be given to activity, for it is probable that the number of units in operation will range from six to ten.

The virtue of the unit system is that each director has his own organization and a perfect co-ordination is thereby secured between the business details and the artistic accomplishment, it is stated. Delays are avoided and a director has greater jurisdiction over the material factors which go into picture making.

Henrietta Crossman in Play.

Henrietta Crossman is to be featured in the presentation at the Hollywood Community Theater. She will appear in the title role of "Belinda," a comedy by A. A. Milne, which is to open the 28th inst. This is the last set of performances this season at the playhouse.

Miss Crossman came to Hollywood to rest; in fact, had not the slightest intention of doing any professional work, but her assistance was readily enlisted in the community enterprise.

William Worthington, the director now at Universal, is to play a prominent role in the production, as are Philip Hubbard, Helenita Lieberg, Clark Marshall and Joyce Percey.

Betty Blythe Featured.

Betty Blythe has a prominent role in the premier offering of the Rockett Brothers, a film version of Albert Payson Terhune's story, "The Truant Husband," which will probably be shown here some time this month.

Shamrock Programs.

Many Irish novelties are to be introduced on the musical and stage programs of Grauman's and the Rialto theaters at the performances in honor of St. Patrick's Day.

The press agent of the theater is also authority for the statement that Sid Grauman is planning to celebrate his thirty-second birthday.

"Prisoner of Zenda."

Anthony Hope's story "The Prisoner of Zenda" has been purchased by the Metro Pictures Corporation. It will shortly be filmed.

New Stock Company.

"Mrs. Dane's Defense," the Henry Arthur Jones drama, is scheduled for presentation here under the direction of Lawrence Grant, April 11. Florence Stone heads the company, which will be known as the Caravan Players. Plans include putting on productions of high merit.

Others in the company are Mrs. Lawrence Grant, Zelie Tilbury, Alec B. Francis, Robert Boulder, Vesey O'Devern and Bernard Twedale.

"Four Horsemen" Appeals.

The highly favorable reception accorded the "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is evidenced right along in the large attendances at the Mission Theater. The second week of the engagement starts today. Some of those who attended the picture last week were so impressed, it is said, that they have already returned for another view of the Ingram-Mathis filmization of Ibanez's story. Indications are for an extended run.

Margie to Stay Longer.

"The Sign on the Door," featuring Marjorie Rambeau, will be held over for a second week at the Mason. The play is already a popular hit.

Los Angeles Girl Present.

One of the most distinctive presentations on the Greenwich Village Follies program, is said to be the exotic dances of Verna Gordon. Miss Gordon, who was formerly a Los Angeles girl, having studied dancing with Ernest Belcher, has been featured among the principal entertainers of the Gee Vee Follies.

"Passion" Again Pleases.

"Passion," the European photo-drama, continues to attract large attendance on the third local showing at the Alhambra Theater. The picture originally opened at the Ambassador, and then was transferred to the Kinema, for a run. It now promises to have an extended engagement at the Hill-street theater.

Seeks Ozark Colony.

Rollin Sturgeon, Universal director, is off on a motor tour through California, in an effort to discover a location that can be used for scenes in Missouri's Ozark Mountains, in his forthcoming special production, "Human Hearts." Sturgeon, who spent much of his early years in the Ozarks, claims that those hills have a certain color and outline, and the dirt roads possess certain characteristics which are totally distinctive.

He has made pictures of a hundred different mountain locations in California, but he has never seen any hills here that duplicate the Ozarks. He intends to spend a week or ten days along unfrequented trails and feels sure that the State will not disappoint him.

Glee Club Returns.

The Glee Club of Stanford University, which appeared in Los Angeles with success last year, will give a concert in this city in Trinity Auditorium Saturday evening. The glee club is composed of some thirty-five young men and it is said that under the direction of their present conductor, W. D. Allen, the organist of the Stanford Memorial Church, they have achieved standards superior to the average college glee club.

Stanford is following the lead of Harvard University, it is declared, in the policy that the best music is none too good for college singers and that a glee club can do something better than imitate a vaudeville program.

OPERA SUCCESS CONTINUES.

The Chicago Opera Company, which is to be heard locally the week of April 4, is gathering triumphs en route westward. In every city where they have appeared they have been praised in the warmest terms by the critics and local managements and enjoyed capacity business in the largest auditoriums. L. E. Behymer has just received the following wire from Adelia Prentiss Hughes, the Cleveland manager: "The Chicago Grand Opera Company gave us another great performance last night of 'Lohengrin,' with a wonderful cast—Raisa, Van Gordon, Johnson, Baklanoff and others. Raisa, as always, was superb; Van Gordon, Johnson and Baklanoff splendid."

LADA RECITAL TONIGHT.

The newest American dancer who has been making a distinct success throughout the East on her tour, namely Lada, will be seen at the Philharmonic Auditorium tonight. She has programed "The Beautiful Blue Danube," Brahms's waltzes and Hungarian dance, two Chopin waltzes, two dances by American composers, "In the Time of Lilacs" by Hathaway and "Will o' the Wisp" by Sprose. In addition to the Pawling Trio of instrumentalists, she will have Maurine Dyer, soprano.

STREET SMASHES FATAL TO THREE

Screen Actor Crushed Under Overturned Machine.

Aged Man Bowled Over When Woman Backs Her Car.

Carpenter Run Down; Dies of Fracture to Skull.

Three men were killed in three automobile accidents yesterday. No arrests were made in any of the cases.

Lloyd P. Loyes, 34 years of age, motion picture actor of Venice, was killed when the automobile victims...was pinned beneath a machine that overturned in the intersection of Washington Boulevard and Lincoln avenue. He was instantly killed. According to witnesses, the automobile was being driven at high speed when it crashed into the curbing and turned turtle as the brakes were applied to avoid a collision.

Mr. Loyes, who was an actor at Culver City, leaves a widow, father and mother, who live at 231 Rose Boulevard. The body is at the Rowe undertaking establishment, where an inquest will be held tomorrow by Coroner.

BACKED INTO VICTIM.

A man believed by the police to be J. Gelks, 60 years of age, of San Pedro, was run down by an automobile driven by Mrs. Elizabeth Willard of 2345 West Washington street. The aged man, according to witnesses, was struck by Mrs. Willis's automobile while she was backing her machine from a driveway at Hoover Boulevard and West Washington street.

Police who investigated the accident declared that Mrs. Willis failed to sound her automobile horn before she began to back the machine from the driveway and did everything in her power to stop the car following the accident. The officers stated that Mr. Gelks must have become confused and stepped into the path of the automobile. A bank book found in the dead man's clothing furnished the identification.

A car crossing North Broadway at Temple Boulevard last night struck E. Davidson, a carpenter, of 1251 North Hill street, aged 55. Mr. Davidson was injured when he was run over by an automobile driven by W. D. Valentine, Jr., of 2900 Thirteenth avenue, Altadena. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he died from a fractured skull an hour after the accident.

Detectives Louis Rico and Tom Ivy are investigating the accident.

CROWD WOMAN INJURED.

A woman about 60 years of age, who was identified by the police by a report in her purse as Mrs. Ida Van Aukin, employed as a cook by Mrs. L. E. Gardner, wife of 447 South Occidental boulevard, was probably fatally injured last night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Williams of 743 West Pomeroy street. The accident happened at West Fifth street and Vermont avenue.

Mrs. Van Aukin was taken to the

Followed a Neighbor's Advice and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bowie, Tex.—"For three years I suffered agony each month with pains in my sides. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband sent an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results and advised me to try it. I was then in bed most of the time and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but I decided to try the Vegetable Compound and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work and do my housework also. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. STEPHENS, 113 E. Commerce St., Vernon, Tex.

Remember when overworked are prone to such ailments and should profit by Mrs. Stephens' experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

FEDERAL FUNDS USED ON ROADS.

Improvement of Highways in Southern California is Provided For.

With the announcement last night that $16,000,000 will be available for California this year through the public roads bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, it became known that about $150,000 worth of work is already being done in Southern California and being paid for out of the fund.

Chairman Dodge of the Board of Supervisors said last night that the fund, which is for road and bridge construction and maintenance, is being handled by the State Highway Commission and that this county has already received $126,000 for work on the San Gabriel Canyon road and about $25,000 for work on the Arroyo Seco road.

The bureau of public roads has been organized several years, but the war prevented it from making a distribution of public funds by States until this year.

Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Beggs found that she had a fractured skull in addition to a broken right leg and other injuries. Little hope was held out for her recovery.

According to the report of Detective Hamilton and G. E. Smith, who investigated, she stepped from the path of one northbound automobile directly in the path of Mr. Williams's machine, which was abreast of the first car. The accident was reported to have been unavoidable.

STATEMENT BY CHANCELLOR AND RECTOR.

Desire Popular Misapprehension on Du Pont Marriage and Sequel Corrected.

The Times is in receipt of the following statement signed by Rev. Baker P. Lee and Frederick Valentine, chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles.

March 16, 1921.

To the Los Angeles Times:

In a recent article published by The Times, and copied by the Associated Press, an erroneous impression has been created in the minds of many people as to the action of the Rev. Baker P. Lee.

The marriage of Mr. Du Pont and Miss Ball by Mr. Lee was legal, and from evidence submitted to him, he felt canonically justified in performing the ceremony. An explanation was courteously given by him to the bishop, courteously received, the bishop was satisfied and the matter satisfactorily closed without a trial.

We, therefore, request that The Times and the Associated Press will correct the erroneous impression above referred to that has been created.

[Signed]
BAKER P. LEE.
FREDERICK C. VALENTINE, Chancellor

ACCIDENTAL MEETING WRECK TO HAPPINESS.

WIFE AND "OTHER WOMAN" EXCHANGE CONFIDENCES; DIVORCE FOLLOWS.

How Mrs. Irene Perry met accidentally in Montreal a girl to whom her husband had been paying attention was told in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday. Mrs. Perry testified that after her husband had made a visit in Canada, she took a trip there to see her parents. At a party she met a girl named Madeline. After hearing Mrs. Perry's name, the girl stated she knew a man by that name living in Los Angeles.

This led to other conversation and fixing the identity of the man. The girl turned over to Mrs. Perry the letters she had received from Mr. Perry, and these were offered in evidence at the trial of her divorce suit yesterday. The court gave her a decree.

One letter read:

"Dear Madeline: I long to have you in my arms to hug you."

RED CROSS HAS HELPED.

Legion Employment Bureau Chairman Lists Aid for Veterans.

Statements made before several women's clubs by a speaker on relief work among ex-service men, declaring that "not a hand has been lifted for the returned disabled veterans of the World War," are unjust to the Red Cross, George S. Doe, chairman of the interpost employment committee of the American Legion, asserts in a statement made yesterday.

"The Red Cross furnished the employment committee with 250 pairs of blankets for the cots it set up for homeless ex-service men," he declared. "It maintained the employment service until the American Legion took it over in mid-February and paid one man's wages from then until April 1.

"It co-operates with the bureau in every way and is of invaluable assistance to us."

WHY HE'S CALLED PAT.

Today is Thirty-second Birthday of Sid Grauman.

Congratulations from all over America, and particularly from his many friends in Los Angeles, are being received today—St. Patrick's Day — by Sid Grauman, whose third-sectnd birthday anniversary is today.

Those who have wondered why Sid Grauman is sometimes called "Pat" by his closest friends are relieved of the strain of wondering why in knowing that he was born on St. Patrick's Day.

Mr. Grauman has just written a song entitled, "Dear Old Dad," which he has dedicated to his father.

CAN YOU AFFORD A FIRE?

A "Safe First" Story

Roades had made good headway and was accredited with something more than the average business acumen. He was cautious, moreover, and—as he thought—had fully protected the business with ample fire insurance.

But like many careful business men, he had overlooked the most important thing of all. No insurance written could ever make up for the loss of certain of his business records and data. Many of them were absolutely irreplaceable.

And yet, down in the wooden filing case of H. B. Roades & Company, there lay exposed the vital records of their hard earned development, the most important documents the firm possessed.

One night Roades received this message over the wire from his partner:

"The offices are on fire. Hurry!"

Of course he was too late, then. The documents were destroyed.

The past two years have gone hard with Roades. In addition to costly and extended litigation, he has had to bear the expense of gathering an entirely new set of records—all because his office had lacked a good steel safe.

Finally established in another office, he approached H. S. Crocker Company to make sure that his records would be given every protection in the future. Now, he wanted a good "catastrophe proof" safe.

The burglar and fire-proof specifications of the Art Metal Lightweight Safe, the Underwriters' Label guarantee—combined with Roades' own painful experience obviated the need of any salesman's persuasion. All that was required of us was to point out the particular size and type best suited to his particular business.

Roades protected his business after he had let himself be cleaned out—but like you, he could have forestalled all this.

You cannot afford a fire. A relatively small investment will bring you a safe first. Why not consult Crocker today by phone or call?

Councilmen Hit Attempt to Dictate City Policy.

To Fix Bullock's Rent Rate, Let Voters Decide?

Criswell Scores Yellow Press; Workman Flings Lie.

Voters at the May 3 city primaries may be called upon to decide the controversy over the use by Bullock's of the space over St. Vincent's Place, according to a plan outlined at yesterday's session of the City Council by Councilman Criswell. If an agreement can be reached between the Councilmen and Bullock's as to the amount of compensation to be paid to the city by the store, the proposition of accepting or rejecting the offer will, according to present plans, be placed on the ballot at the coming primary election.

"The Los Angeles Examiner's proposed ordinances revoking the permits for Bullock's for the use of the space over St. Vincent's Place will be on the ballot," said Councilman Criswell, "so I believe we should also put Mr. Bullock's offer there also, and let the voters decide the entire matter. If the Examiner wants the people to revoke ordinances so that Hearst can sell more papers or punish merchants who do not give Hearst advertising, then I see no reason why the voters should not have an opportunity to vote on the other side of the question. I have throughout this entire matter followed the advice of the City Attorney, and I am not paying any attention to the clamor of any yellow newspapers.

"The City Attorney in previous opinions has told us that the city could not collect for the use of the space over St. Vincent's Place. Now he tells we can enter into a practical agreement with Bullock's to receive compensation. If we should agree in the Council on an amount and it was not satisfactory to Hearst, then the Hearst newspapers would attack me, saying I had sold something I had no right to sell. So I say, let the people settle the entire matter."

IS FALSEHOOD.

President Workman followed Mr. Criswell with a statement refuting a charge made against him by Hearst's Examiner.

"In today's Los Angeles Examiner," said Mr. Workman, "it was stated that I have been converted by a city official to agreeing to accept compensation from Bullock's. This is an absolute falsehood. Since 1919, when this matter first came up, I have followed the rulings of the City Attorney. I have been at all times willing for the city to accept compensation from Bullock's if a way can be found of accepting their offer to pay the city for the privilege of building over St. Vincent's Place."

TO WELFARE COMMITTEE.

Attorney S. F. Macfarlane, representing Bullock's, is expected to appear at this afternoon's meeting of the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council to discuss the proposal of placing the matter before the voters. Mr. Macfarlane attended yesterday morning's meeting of the Board of Public Works and stated that as the matter of a proposed agreement between the city and Bullock's was before the City Council he believed it best to conclude his negotiations there before entering on new discussions with the commissioners.

The City Council yesterday, with Councilman Mallard dissenting, voted to ask the Legislature to pass an act authorizing cities to accept compensation for structures built over alleys. Mr. Mallard declared that he believed the proposed measure unconstitutional, and Assistant City Attorney Whitehead said that he had strong doubts of the constitutionality of the proposed law.

CORONER JOB POPULAR.

Forty-five Take Civil Service Test for Los Angeles Office.

The Civil Service Commission opened the door yesterday to candidates for the office of Coroner. Forty-five persons took the test. At a previous examination less than a half dozen candidates appeared. Because so few responded, the examination was postponed until today.

Acting Coroner Williams is temporarily filling the position which was made vacant by the death of Calvin Hartwell. The salary is $275 a month and after two years of service it will be advanced to $325.

The examiners call for a man of "judicial temperament and executive ability." A requirement is a knowledge of the duties and laws relating to the office.

An oral as well as a written examination is insisted upon. The special examiners include Judge Myers, R. B. Hardacre and Charles Ducommon.

FIVE-YEAR FIGHT ENDS.

Husband Wins Divorce After Long Struggle in Many Courts.

After a five-year series of court battles which at one time went to the State Supreme Court, Walter Jones was yesterday awarded a divorce from Ruby L. Jones by Judge Walton J. Wood. Mrs. Jones first brought suit in 1916, charging her husband with undue friendliness with other women. Mr. Jones denied these charges and won his contest. Later he brought suit on the ground that the assertions made by his wife in her divorce action constituted extreme cruelty and it was upon his showing on this count that he was freed yesterday.

FAILS TO GET DECREE.

Unrequited Love Charge Made by Octogenarian is Futile.

Andrew J. Massengill, who married Ann J. Massengill in 1920 when he was 80 years of age, complained in Judge Wood's court yesterday that his wife did not return his love and refused to live with him.

Judge Wood held that the only cause of action, if any, was desertion. He denied Mr. Massengill a divorce.

Although Mrs. Massengill remained in the house of her husband four months and four days, the aged husband declared she never lived with him as his wife.

Broadway entrance of the Hall of Records and from there to the police station.

After calling the attention of newspaper men and spectators waiting outside the entrance to Judge Chesebro's courtroom to the fact that he was unaccompanied, Mr. Woolwine asked to be directed to the courtroom.

Judge Chesebro was in chambers when the District Attorney arrived but soon took his place on the bench. Only a few persons were in the room when Mr. Woolwine appeared but a crowd soon assembled.

Standing before the bar of justice, Mr. Woolwine leaned his elbows on the judge's bench and told the court he had heard the complaint and would act as his own attorney. When asked whether he was ready to enter a plea, Mr. Woolwine countered with: "If I enter a plea of not guilty at this time, Your Honor, will I be permitted to change it later, if I so wish, to a plea of guilty?"

When advised by Judge Chesebro that he could do this, Mr. Woolwine formally entered a plea of not guilty. The judge then asked if Saturday morning at 10 o'clock would be satisfactory as the time when the case will be set for trial. Mr. Woolwine inquired whether it would be necessary for him to appear then, stating he presumed he would be in court and that he was "pretty busy in the midst of a case at present."

The arraignment seemed to be over. There was a perceptible pause and then Mr. Woolwine asked: "I suppose I may be permitted to go on my own recognizance?"

"Yes," replied the judge, and thus ended the first legal round of the Schenck-Woolwine tilt.

Immediately after Mr. Woolwine was arraigned in Judge Chesebro's court, Mr. Schenck, Hubert Kittle, Officers Ferguson and a member of Mr. Schenck's office force, went to the office of City Prosecutor Widney, and asked for another complaint against the District Attorney. Mr. Schenck related to Mr. Widney the incident after adjournment in Judge Willis's court in the afternoon and demanded that a complaint charging disturbance of the peace be issued.

After hearing Mr. Schenck's story, and the corroborating stories of Officer Ferguson and Hubert Kittle, Mr. Widney called Deputy Prosecutor McConnell and instructed him to issue a complaint.

FOR PEACE DISTURBANCE.

In this complaint Mr. Woolwine is charged with "maliciously" disturbing "the peace and quiet of the neighborhood of the Hall of Justice, on Buena Vista street in the city of Los Angeles," by then and there "making loud and unusual noise, by tumultuous and offensive conduct and by using profane and indecent language in the hearing of women and children."

Armed with the second complaint Mr. Schenck and his party proceeded to the Police Station, where they met Judge Chesebro as he was leaving the building. Mr. Schenck swore to the complaint and Judge Chesebro issued the second warrant. Bail of $100 was fixed, and Patrolman Ferguson was given the warrant, with instructions not to serve it after sundown. It was then 4:35 o'clock. Ferguson immediately went to the Hall of Records and into Mr. Woolwine's private office, where a number of newspaper men were interviewing the District Attorney. The warrant was given to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Doran, and by him served on Mr. Woolwine.

A few minutes afterward Judge Chesebro was reached by telephone and arranged to have Mr. Woolwine appear for arraignment on the second complaint at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The afternoon session of the "Big Hutch" trial was enlivened by another verbal clash between Mr. Woolwine and Attorney Schenck, following the citation of Mr. Woolwine for contempt of court and his arrest on a battery charge. During this encounter the men again were prevented from getting together by spectators, but there was no restraint on their voices as Mr. Woolwine shouted, "You are a low-down crooked son of a ———, and I'm not through with you yet." Mr. Schenck retaliated with, "You dirty coward, I would be afraid to turn my back to you; you would get a man from the back. I'll make you eat that before I get through."

This came as a sequel to an affidavit by Mr. Schenck, in which he set out to the court what had happened in the morning session when the first encounter and the exchange of blows had taken place. He asked that a mistrial be declared and that Mr. Woolwine be punished for contempt of court. Judge Willis denied the motion for a mistrial, but cited Mr. Woolwine to appear Friday at 2 p.m., to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt.

The affidavit sets forth that Mr. Schenck asked J. B. Norris, the complaining witness in the "Big Hutch" trial, if it was not a fact that on Monday during the noon hour Mr. Woolwine had told him if he (Norris) would testify, Mr. Woolwine would see to it that Norris recovered the money he says he lost in the reputed fake stock deal. At this Mr. Woolwine called Mr. Schenck a "creature" and followed it up by calling him a "son of a——— of a scoundrel," the affidavit reads. "In the presence of the said jury," Mr. Schenck's affidavit says, "and while the affiant was seated at the table wearing his glasses, his legs crossed, and making no demonstrations whatsoever, said Thomas Lee Woolwine struck affiant between the eyes with his fist, and backing away shouted loudly that the affiant was "a dirty son of a ——— and a crook."

EVIDENCE OF BAD BLOOD.

Further evidence of the bad blood between the attorneys cropped out when Mr. Schenck asked for a recess of the court until this morning. "I am in no condition to proceed this afternoon," he declared.

"If Your Honor please," responded Mr. Woolwine, "I am in thoroughly good condition to go ahead with the trial—"

"Because somebody stopped me, however," flashed back Mr. Schenck.

"Never mind, Mr. Schenck," admonished Judge Willis.

"Mr. Schenck talks very loud," Mr. Woolwine said, "and he beat it when court was adjourned and I couldn't get hold of him."

"I will go with you now," replied Mr. Schenck.

Judge Willis stopped the exchange of remarks by reading the affidavit and citing Mr. Woolwine for contempt of court. It was then decided to proceed with the trial long enough for the examination of two State's witnesses who were eager to leave the city, according to Mr. Woolwine.

Stephen A. Connell, Federal secret service agent, was called, identified a picture exhibited as evidence as that of Hugh Trainor, jointly accused with Hutchings.

E. E. Williams, room clerk at the U. S. Grant Hotel in San Diego, identified an entry made in the hotel register showing that "E. Hutchings and wife" registered on March 6, 1919. He was unable to identify the defendant as the Hutchings referred to.

Regarding the affray of the morning, Judge Willis made the following statement:

"If this had happened in my presence it would have been settled and over by this time. Otherwise it has to come up on affidavit."

GETS GUN PERMIT.

Following the afternoon verbal tilt, Attorney Schenck went to the police station and obtained a permit to carry a revolver. He was accompanied by Hubert Kittle, formerly a police officer and once an investigator for Mr. Woolwine. Kittle took part in the afternoon demonstration by rushing at Mr. Woolwine and exclaiming, "You leave Paul Schenck alone. Do you understand me? Leave him alone."

The predictions of recall and other reprisals against Mr. Woolwine were made by Mr. Schenck after he had obtained his second misdemeanor complaint, and dispatched an officer to serve the warrant. He said: "I am going to file suit tomorrow or the next day, asking damages for slander, will take this matter up with the Bar Association and demand that Mr. Woolwine be disbarred for his actions in court, and will take steps when the necessary six months have elapsed since the election, toward starting recall proceedings against him on the ground that his action in court today shows he is not the kind of a man we want for a District Attorney. In addition, I expect to see that he is prosecuted to the full extent of the law for striking me and for using the profane language in which his remarks were made on two separate occasions in the crowded courtroom."

Mr. Schenck told officials who were present when he made this statement that he was informed Mr. Woolwine carried a gun.

WOOLWINE'S REPLY.

Mr. Woolwine's reply to Mr. Schenck's statement was as follows:

"We are in the midst of this very important trial, and it would not, therefore, be advisable for me to make any statement or comment upon the incidents which occurred in court this day except to say that there are some things to which a man cannot submit, and among them is an aspersion upon his integrity. As for the process of the courts issued against me, I would say that these things should not divert the public mind from the extreme importance to this community of the case against Hutchings, now on trial, in which he is charged with having bunconed J. B. Norris out of $51,000 upon a confidence game or fake stock deal. I do not think that the people of this county want a District Attorney who will submit to every insult and indignity that is offered him."

He made no comment on the statement that he is in the habit of carrying a gun. His associates, however, denied it.

"OTHER WOMAN" IN NEILAN CASE.

Divorce Tangle Brings Out Name of Blanche Sweet.

Director Infatuated with the Actress, Court is Told.

Property Settlement for Wife, also a Decree.

The name of another woman crept unwillingly into the Neilan divorce trial yesterday. It was whispered by Mrs. Mary Bambrick, mother of Mrs. Gertrude Bambrick Neilan, when Judge Summerfield delved into the apparent mysterious reason why Marshall A. Neilan, cinema producer and director, left his wife and son, Marshall A. Neilan, Jr., in New York in 1915, and refused to take his wife back to his home and heart.

Mrs. Neilan charged her husband with desertion, and the decree of divorce was given on that ground, but when Mrs. Bambrick stated that her son-in-law was "infatuated with another woman," the court pried out the name. Mrs. Bambrick said the woman is Blanche Sweet.

REFUSED AS WIFE.

Mrs. Neilan came to Los Angeles on two occasions at the invitation of her husband, she said, but at each trip she was not accepted as a wife. Mr. Neilan provided quarters for her. The first separation of the couple occurred March 18, 1915. There was a reconciliation, and from May to October of that year, Mr. and Mrs. Neilan lived together. Then Mr. Neilan left New York and came to Los Angeles.

"He did not ask me to go out and live with him," testified Mrs. Neilan. On the two occasions Mrs. Neilan came to Los Angeles at her husband's invitation she said she stayed more than a year.

"We have not lived together as husband and wife," she told the court, "since 1915. He provided a place for me and the boy."

PROPERTY SETTLEMENT.

Mrs. Gertrude Kirkwood, godmother of Marshall A. Neilan, Jr., corroborated Mrs. Neilan's statement that Mr. Neilan had not lived with her in this city. Miss Elsie Bambrick, Mrs. Neilan's sister, was also a witness.

Attorney Bradner W. Lee, Jr., offered in evidence a property settlement dated June 3, 1920, which provided that Mrs. Neilan should receive $200 a week, a new limousine, and $50 a week in trust for the education and care of their son until he reaches 21. It is understood that the approximate amount of the settlement is $50,000.

Mrs. Neilan was awarded the custody of her boy. Mr. Neilan made no defense to the action.

Ad Expert for "Sunkist" Makes New Connection.

Don Francisco, for six years advertising manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, resigned yesterday to become comanager on the Pacific Coast for Lord & Thomas, a national advertising agency. The announcement was made at an executive session of the board of directors at the exchange yesterday afternoon. The resignation was accepted and Mr. Francisco will assume his new duties about May 1.

With announcement of the resignation, comes the statement from A. D. Lasker, president of Lord & Thomas, who is wintering in Pasadena, that in future the firm will specialize in co-operating advertising campaigns for agricultural products of the Pacific Coast.

With the rise of Mr. Francisco from fruit inspector in Chicago, seven years ago, to one of the highest positions in the organization of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, is woven the story of "Sunkist" advertising. Through his efforts, the trademark "Sunkist" has become a household word in the United States and Canada, and California oranges and lemons have risen from a seasonable product in the luxury class to a year-round staple food commodity.

Mr. Francisco is president of the Los Angeles Advertising Club and a director in the Association of National Advertisers.

St. Patrick's Day Celebration is to Close Carnival.

"Uncle Mose" Loewenstein, the friend of Los Angeles poor children, is going to close his carnival at Prager Park with a St. Patrick's Day celebration. The carnival will conclude its visit at midnight tonight.

For the special occasion, "Uncle Mose" expects to have on hand Tom Mix and Charlie Chaplin, the cinema stars. They will in some way do their bit to help the cause of giving 50,000 poor children a May Day outing.

The carnival, which opened here on the 1st inst., had an unprecedented run, the only off nights being Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the nights of the heavy rains.

Painters' Union Official Jailed; Say Funds Short

George A. Twitchell, secretary of Painters' Union, No. 511, was arrested last night on an embezzlement complaint, charging him with failure to turn into the union's treasury dues amounting to $2100. Twitchell was taken in custody at his home by Constable Stenzland.

According to the charge, he collected dues from members of the union and later reported that they had failed to pay their monthly fees. He was placed in the County Jail.

IRISH TO CELEBRATE AT TRINITY TONIGHT.

TO GIVE SONGS AND DANCES BETWEEN SERIOUS TALKS ON EMERALD ISLE.

Bits of blarney redolent of the "auld sod," songs and dances of the Ireland of today and yesterday, and serious addresses on the realities of the land across the sea, will make up the program at the St. Patrick's Day celebration to be given in Trinity Auditorium tonight at 8:15 under the auspices of the National Association of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

The principal addresses will be made by Rev. George Donahoe, C. F. Horan, president, division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians; W. J. Ford, State vice-president of the American Society for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, and Mrs. Mary F. McWhorter, who has just returned from a trip to Ireland. The subject of Mrs. McWhorter's address will be "The Day We Celebrate." P. P. O'Brien, will preside. Several stars from the Pantages Circuit will specialize in Irish ballads and dancing between the speeches.

PROFIT FOR HOME.

Attendance at Florence Crittenton Reception Breaks Record.

With a record - breaking attendance at the Easter sale and semiannual reception at the Florence Crittenton Home, 234 East Avenue 33, yesterday the officers believe its finances have been enriched several hundred dollars. The exact amount of the profits had not been arrived at last night, but those in charge believe the amount received will outstrip any of the former affairs.

In addition to the financial side of the reception, the entertainment was a success from a musical point. Some of the most prominent singers in the city assisted in making it a success. Those who were on the musical program included the The Nightingale Trio, composed of Mrs. Ruth Fletcher, Mildred Lersy and Myrtle Bush. Jack Protas, Mrs. Bertram Lacky and Mrs. Gertrude Van Dyke also appeared.

THE CABINET IN ROTOGRAVURE

Full - Page Presentation of President Harding and His Able Advisers.

Next Sunday The Times Rotogravure section will present to its readers President Harding and his Cabinet.

Every good American is interested in the personality of the men who will co-operate with President Harding in conducting the affairs of the nation through the troubled political seas in this present area of world unrest.

This striking pictorial presentation is in such form as to make it possible to frame. It will make not only a useful page for future reference, but is a work of rare beauty, being in fact a masterpiece of the art of rotogravure.

In addition to this striking feature there will be seven other pages presenting the news of the world in pictorial form.

YUMA TO HOLD OIL BARBECUE.

Business Houses to Close in Celebration of First Drilling.

In celebration of the first step in quest of oil, Yuma, Ariz., will close up her business houses tomorrow and hold a big barbecue while thousands of citizens and ranchers watch the Yuma Oil Company start its drill.

The first oil derrick in Yuma has been raised on the mesa at the head of Fourteenth street, inside the city limits. An outfit from Bakersfield is doing the pioneering, taking an interest in 5000 acres of leases for its trouble.

For many years gas pockets along the Colorado River, near the mesa where the first derrick has been raised, have given off so much natural gas it has been possible to ignite it with a match. This has long been a favorite pastime of the Yuma Indians.

HUMANE WEEK NAMED.

Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Announces Dates.

As another preventive measure the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has announced that the week of April 11 to 16, will be observed as "Be Kind to Animals Week."

Communications have been sent out by the society to all humane organizations throughout the State requesting that programs suitable to the occasion be prepared, and that slides showing work among animals be thrown on the screen at all the theaters.

Appeals have been made to the headquarters of the various churches to have Sunday, April 17, regarded as "Humane Sunday" and to have the ministers preach on the work on behalf of dumb animals.

TWO THOUSAND AT CHARITY CARD PARTY.

To raise funds for charity, 2000 women yesterday attended a card party and bazaar, given by the Ebell Club at the Ambassador. Several hundred prizes were given to the winners at the card tables. Candy, pastry and fancywork were sold. Following the card party the dining-room was thrown open for afternoon tea.

STRAIGHT-AHEAD DRIVE LAUDED.

Hundreds of Commercial Bodies Indorse Plan.

Million Stamps for Mail Use Issued in Campaign.

Letters of Commendation Pour in to "The Times."

Indorsements from 400 business concerns, chambers of commerce and civic organizations were added yesterday to the "Greater Southern California, Straight Ahead" campaign, instituted by The Times a week ago. These indorsements have been received in the daily flood of mail, which, with a big volume of requests for campaign equipment, has been pouring into the drive headquarters.

First to be exhausted in the demand for campaign material was the supply of 1,000,000 stamps, which were printed for use on correspondence. Illustrative of the eagerness of business organizations to add impetus to the "Greater Southern California, Straight Ahead" campaign, is the following request for campaign stamps, which was received yesterday from the Brunswig Drug Company:

"We congratulate you upon your magnificent campaign and we should be pleased to have 25,000 stickers for envelopes."

Letters of commendation are also being received in large numbers. Registrar of Voters Lyons has the following to say:

"During over sixteen years of my residence in Los Angeles few if any publicity campaigns have been involved to advance the interests of Southern California that have equaled in potential possibilities "Greater Southern California, Straight Ahead." It constitutes in five words a splendid and practical demonstration in applied psychology."

T. N. Maulsby, secretary of the Southern California Fuel and Feed Dealers' Association, says:

"The board of directors, Friday, March 11, passed a resolution indorsing to the fullest extent your 'Greater Southern California, Straight Ahead' campaign. Let us hope other industrial organizations realize their responsibilities in making a greater Southern California."

DRAMATIC REVIEW.

Mrs. Dorothea Moore will give dramatic reviews at the afternoon program today of the Woman's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church. Mrs. Emma K. Lemley will speak on "Through the Orient to Palestine," and Mrs. Mina Tupper Maynard will read an Easter poem.

Stability

True Stability is never accidental—
Before a great ocean liner is launched—
Before even a rivet is driven in its construction, its Stability is certain.

Hundreds of lives and millions of dollars are at stake—nothing can be left to chance—it must sail true and strong in fair weather and foul. Its Stability is a matter of design, of exact knowledge and calculation, of conformity to known law.

IT IS this rigid conformity to the laws of sound business, this guiding principle of exactness, leaving nothing to chance, which maintains the unyielding stability of the HELLMAN COMMERCIAL TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, and insures its lasting firmness no matter how rapid its growth, or perilous the times.

The name "Hellman" in the financial fields is a synonym for strength, honesty and stability.
